Franco's Court Sentences Eduardo Barriobero, Who as Judge Imposed Death Penalty on Many Insurgent Sympathizers.

6 OTHER PERSONS PLACED ON TRIAL

They Are Charged With Committing High Revolutionary Crimes Before Government Forces Lost
Catalonian City.

By the Associated Press.

BARCELONA, Feb. 15.—Six Spanish Government leaders went on trial for their lives today while only military formalities stood between Eduardo Barriobero, first president of the Madrid-Barcelona people's tribunals, and an insurgent firing squad.

Barriobero, 61-year-old anarchist lawyer, was sentenced to death last night by an insurgent military tribunal in the same room of the Palace of Justice where he himself once pronounced death sentences on insurgent sympathizers.

He will be executed as soon as the Captain-General of the military district formally approves the sentence.

Barriobero, who told the military court he could have escaped before Barcelona fell on Jan. 26 but preferred to remain, was the first to get the death sentence from Gen.
Francisco Franco's conquerors of this Catalonian metropolis.

Names of six on trial today were charged with high revolutionary crimes. They are:
Emilio Ventura, a president of the Government People's Court who is accused of signing many death warrants.

Manuel Garrido, president of the first revolutionary committee organized in the assembly plant of General Motors in Barcelona after collectivized workers took control of that establishment. He is charged with embezzlement of 800-000 pesetas. (No rate for the peseta is quoted in American markets.)

Morales, president of a revolutionary syndicate in the automobile industry.

Guillermo Bodo, said to be a Jew expelled from Germany and accused of being an assassin and gunman.

Pablo Verdaz, chief of one of Barcelona's patrols exercising its own police authority.

Francisco Piquer, anarchist accused of murdering five priests in the Convent of the Sacred Family of Barcelona.

All the trials are being conducted by councils of war.

ARMY MAN KILLED IN PLANE CRASH AT BLOOMSDALE, MO.

Private Loses Life After Ship's Motor Fails—Pilot, a Lieutenant, Suffers Skull Injury.

An army combat plane crashed
two miles north of Bloomsdale, Mo., St. Genevieve County, killing Private F. F. George of Brooks Field, Tex., shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The pilot, Lieut. Isadore Paredes, suffered a skull injury. Before he was placed in an ambulance to be taken to the Post Hospital at Jefferson Barracks, he told a correspondent of the Post-Dispatch the crash was caused by motor failure.

Lieut. Paredes said he was flying to Scott Field near Belleville, when the motor began to sputter near Bloomsdale, 45 miles south of St.
Louis.

"I told Private George to jump,
but he replied, 'I'll stick with you.'
The plane lost altitude and struck some trees," Lieut. Paredes said.

The plane crashed on the farm of Jeff Carron. Lieut. Paredes shut off the ignition before the crash, preventing fire. Three men working on a road near the scene dragged Lieut. Paredes and George from the wreckage. George was pronounced dead by Dr. A. E. Sexauer of St. Genevieve.

AUTO OWNERS IN LAST-DAY
RUSH TO BUY STATE TAGS

Arrests for Using 1938 Plates to Begin at Midnight in County, Tomorrow in City.

Long lines of automobile owners formed today at the State Automobile License Bureau offices at 1701 Chestnut street and 7816 Forsythe boulevard, in the annual last-minute rush to buy new tags.

Arrest of drivers without 1939
State tags is to begin at 7 a. m. tomorrow in the city and at midnight in St. Louis County. The campaign in the county will be conducted by the Missouri State Highway Patrol and Constables.

More than 15,000 tags were sold at the Chestnut street office yesterday, and a line two blocks long had formed when the office opened this morning. About 3500 tags were sold at the county office yesterday.
The line there was a block and half long at one time.

Lieutenant on Belgian Steamer Accused of Having Found of Precious Stones.

ANTWERP, Feb. 15.—An officer of the Belgian steamer Elisabeth-ville, identified by authorities only as "Lieutenant L.," was arrested today in connection with theft of $500,000 in uncut diamonds and gold from the safe of the vessel.

A special police commissioner said he found a pound of diamonds hidden in the lieutenant's bedding.
The commissioner continued his search for the missing gold nuggets. The theft was discovered at Flushing when the Elisabethville arrived Dec. 21 from Belgium's African Congo colonies.

The bill makes no other change in the existing law on divorce proceedings.

METROPOLITAN CO. BANKER CRABB
REVISED RULE FOR
SAMUEL FORDYCE

Let St. Louisan Serve Both
at Attorney and Director
—Chicagoan Then Got
Same Privilege.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Feb. 15.—Fuehrer Hitler acted today to give the Reich a canal from the Baltic to the North Sea wider than Panama or Suez by the time the Reich's large-est battleship, the Bismarck, is commissioned two years hence.

His decision to have the historic Kiel Canal widened to "make possible the parallel traffic of the largest types of ships" brought a sweeping decree from Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, director of the four-year plan, whereby every German can be commandeered for any job deemed necessary for the State.

The decree empowered the Federal Labor Office and its sub-departments throughout Germany to draft any worker who might be needed for tasks of importance to the country's welfare.

The authoritative news service Dienst aus Deutschland said the widening of the canal was one of the projects which under the four-year plan were given preference.
Thus it was considered evident that Goering's decree would be invoked to supply necessary labor power for finishing the canal in record time.

Plans for enlargement of the canal were announced today—one day after the launching of the Bismarck. It was interpreted in diplomatic quarters to mean that the Nazis Government meant to lose no time in making certain that Germany's capital ships could pass through the vital waterway.

It took seven years, from 1907 to 1914, to reconstruct the canal in its present form. (It first was dug in 1855.)

The issuance of the Goering decree, however, apparently was prompted by two other considerations besides that of ensuring labor power for tasks deemed essential.

One was that of no longer saying to a person drafted for a job as under a previous, milder decree
—the wages he drew in the job from which he was taken. The previous decree was invoked June 23, last year, for obtaining the necessary man power to build Germany's chain of fortifications along the French frontier.

Another was that workers may not be tied to necessary jobs. This prevents their quitting one firm for another when the inducement of higher pay is offered. The general scarcity of labor in Germany has led to counter-bidding by competing firms which, in turn, resulted in a gradual raising of wages.

Under his decree, every inhabitant of Germany, for instance, except those retained for the State, may be drafted for whatever form of labor Goering, as dictator of the four-year plan for economic self-sufficiency, deems necessary.

Men or women holding jobs must be given leave of absence immediately if their employers when drafted.
Labor Office to Decide.

If a task prescribed by the Labor Office, acting under Goering's instructions, is of indefinite duration, the person drafted is regarded as having resigned from his former position; but if he is drafted only for a stated period, the employer must keep his job open for him and take him back whenever the Labor Office's special requirement is filled.

The employer is not compelled to pay the wages for the absent period, but the drafted person's wage scale for his new job may not necessarily be the same.

After a man is drafted he may quit his assigned place only with the approval of the labor office.
The decree further provides that drafted persons may if it be put through a course of training.

How Decree Will Work.
For instance, if there should be a shortage of laborers to lay streetcar tracks, the labor office might decide it needed 10 men from a photographer's studio. These men must leave their jobs immediately, but they may be put through a brief engineering course before being assigned to track laying.

Another important provision is that the drafted person who owns tools may be ordered to place them at the disposal of the state for the task to which he is assigned.
The labor office also is empowered to require employers to obtain its permission before engaging additional or substitute help.

METROPOLITAN CO. BANKER CRABB
REVISED RULE FOR
SAMUEL FORDYCE

Let St. Louisan Serve Both
at Attorney and Director
—Chicagoan Then Got
Same Privilege.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—When Samuel W. Fordyce, St. Louis attorney, became a director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., in 1932 and proceeded to retain his position as one of the company's attorneys, Mitchell D. Follansbee, a Chicago lawyer and a Metropolitan director since 1915, insisted that he also should share in the company's legal business. This was Follansbee's testimony today before the Temporary National Economic Committee.

Since 1932, the witness stated, his firm, Follansbee, Shorey and Schupp, was paid about $325,000 in fees by the Metropolitan, covering 1382 foreclosures on $200,000,000 of Chicago property, and numerous loan, sales and miscellaneous transactions.

Follansbee was elected to the board, he testified, to replace an other attorney, who had failed to observe a company rule then in force forbidding any director to represent the company as counsel.

The witness declared that he himself faithfully obeyed this rule for 17 years, but that with the election of Fordyce he discovered the regulation had "become obsolete."

Thereupon, under date of May 7, 1932, he wrote a letter to Leroy A.
Lincoln, then vice-president of the Metropolitan, telling him the opening paragraphs of which were as follows:

"When I came on the board a great many years ago, when the company was first mutualized, I, or someone else elected at the same time, took the place of Mr. Butcher, Metropolitan, who had held those days that the policy of the company forbade any director to represent, as counsel, the company in any way. That policy was changed, as I understand, and the evidence of the change was that my friend, Sam Fordyce, retained his legal representation for the company after he became a director."

"The company is apt to have a lot of important real estate foreclosures in this vicinity, and I write to you as general counsel asking you to give us both knowledge and facility in such matters, consideration."

Evangelism Before 1887.
As evidence that his request "to be counted in is very reasonable," Follansbee went on in his letter to recount that his father had been an attorney for the Metropolitan, and that "my memory goes back before 1887, when Mr. Hegeman was a young man and used to use Evangelism on the agents in the auditorium of the Temple Building, which was torn down to erect the offices where we now have our offices."

"In those days," the letter continued on Page 8, Column 4.

REVISED RULE FOR

Same Privilege.

By the Associated Press.
PEORIA, Ill., Feb. 15.—Willis W.
Crabb, ousted president of the Tazewell County National Bank at Delavan, was sentenced today to two concurrent prison terms of four years each on charges of forgery and mishandling of bank funds amounting to $75,000.

He pleaded nolo contendere in United States District Court to an indictment returned Saturday in Springfield.

James G. Bailey, a Delavan stock holder and relative of the Crabb family, who was indicted with Crabb, entered a similar plea. Judge
J. Leroy Adair announced Bailey would be permitted to apply for probation.

Crabb sat calmly in the front of the courtroom as attorneys stated the case to the Judge. His second wife, Catherine, did not appear with him but watched the proceedings through a window.

Absent were his son James, whose appeal from a conviction of perjury growing out of the shooting of his wife is pending; and the first Mrs.
Willis Crabb, of Bloomington, who posted the $10,000 bond that gave Crabb his freedom pending today's appearance.

"King of Little Empire." Howard Doyle, United States Attorney, told Judge Adair investigation disclosed $400 or more was misapplied by Crabb through fictitious chattel mortgages and that the banker also had forged three notes, one for $7500 and two others totaling $10,050. The illegal practices started four years ago, Doyle asserted, and involved more than $75,000.

"He was a king of a little empire, and the king could do no wrong, because he ran a one-man bank," Doyle said.

The money was used, Doyle continued, for speculative purposes and for cattle feeding. In an arrangement with Bailey, twenty thousand dollars was lost in 1936 or 1937, the prosecutor said.

E. E. Horton of Peoria, counsel for Crabb, told Judge Adair the defendant had been jailed for four years, and was entitled to consideration on that ground and because he sought to make restitution and "redress the wrongs charged."

"His acts were those of a desperate man seeking to protect a son who needed help," Horton said in asking for leniency.

Doyle interposed to state the defense of James Crabb in his trials on charges of manslaughter and perjury cost about $6000, whereas 12 times that amount was involved in the case against the father, whose misdeeds, he said, began years before the son became entangled with the law.

Statement for Bailey.
A brief statement was entered for Bailey by his attorney, Shelton McGrath of Peoria, who said the cattle man admitted his errors, was guilty and was sorry.

Crabb's lawyer asked that consideration be given his client's weakened physical condition during his imprisonment. The defendant was taken into custody immediately by United States Marshal Paul E.
Ruppel of Springfield. He will be transferred tomorrow to a Federal prison, probably Lewisburg, Pa.

Crabb, ill in a Peoria hospital for several days with a leg ailment, and returned to Peoria for today's assignment.

Except for $5000 set aside in lieu of dower rights to his present wife, he recently assigned his estate, which he valued at $75,000, to the bank under a trustee arrangement to pay to his wife, the institution against loss.

Crabb's daughter-in-law, Betty Collison Crabb, was fatally shot at the Crabb home March 1 and James Crabb subsequently was tried for manslaughter. The jury disagreed but later young Crabb was convicted of perjury. An appeal will be argued before the Supreme Court Friday.

Crabb was the third generation of his family to have connections with the bank.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The House overwhelmingly indorsed the bulk of President Roosevelt's emergency defense program today, including a $300,000,000 expansion of the Army air corps.

Passage of the $552,000,000 military expansion bill followed a statement by Majority Leader Rayburn that conditions in Europe were "more volcanic than in 1914." The measure now goes to the Senate.

In addition to 3032 new planes for the air corps, the measure would authorize reinforcement of the Panama Canal's defenses and a broadened program to train private industry in munitions production.

Shortly before final passage, the House rejected a Republican amendment to "stagger" the air corps expansion over a three-year period instead of the two-year program recommended by the War Department. The minority contended their plan would prevent accumulation of obsolete planes.

By a standing vote announced at 169 to 127, the House rejected the limitation amendment offered by Representative Andrews (Rep.),
New York.

In preceding arguments, the House heard sales of warplanes to friendly Powers abroad defended on the ground that "Americans are safe only so long as England and France stand."

Fear of Alliance Expressed.
Representative Gifford (Rep.), Massachusetts, attacked the airplane sales with a declaration that the inference was "dreadfully plain" that the United States was going into an alliance "with somebody."

"Are we building these planes so England and France can get them?"
he asked, referring to the proposed construction of 3032 new planes for the Army Air Corps.
"They would be mighty useful to our friends."

This called further attention to new French contracts for 415 warplanes, which increased to more than 1200 the number ordered in this country by France and Great Britain in eight months.

Gifford declared that the current defense program was "undermining" the Neutrality Act designed to keep this country out of war.

Representative Pace (Dem.),
Georgia, a member of the Military Committee, replied that he thought it was sound policy to aid England and France to build up their defenses because, if those democracies fell before the dictators, a major bulwark of the United States would be removed.

"Isn't it better to sell England and France planes for their defense," he asked, "than to go to war with a big Power to prevent encroachment on this hemisphere?"

Expressing his personal belief that Chancellor Hitler is ready to "strike" to regain colonies lost in the World War, Pace asserted Hitler was delaying his next move only

MASS FOR POPE CONTINUE; PUBLIC ADMITTED TO TOMB

More Cardinals Arrive in Rome for Conclave That Will Select Successor to Pius XI.

MUCH SPECULATION AS TO THEIR CHOICE

Name of Cardinal Schuster of Milan Often Mentioned—Long Regarded as Pro-Fascist.

By the Associated Press. VATICAN CITY, Feb. 15.—The Roman public was allowed today to visit the tomb of Pope Pius XI beneath St. Peter's.

In groups of 20 they descended the winding stairs to the grotto into which the triple coffin bearing the body of the Pontiff was lowered yesterday with elaborate ceremony attended by high officials of church and state and others of prominence.

The coffin no longer was visible, masons having walled up the tomb. Many knelt on the stone floor and prayed, while in the basilica above the fourth of a series of nine funeral masses was celebrated by Mgr. Antonio Anastasio Rossi, patriarch of Constantinople.

Hundreds of persons, including prelates and ordinary citizens, crowded into the apse to participate in the service.

Cardinals continued to arrive for the conclave which will name the new Pope. Romans continued their speculation as to the probable choice. They remarked, as did their forebears, that "who enters a conclave a Pope leaves it a Cardinal"—meaning that the names most heard in pre-election speculation often fail of the two-thirds majority necessary for election.

Perhaps because of his early arrival, the name of Cardinal Schuster of Milan particularly was on Roman tongues—although other Italian Cardinals likewise were mentioned.

Cardinal Schuster long has been considered by Italians as ardently pro-Fascist. In his Christmas eve address to Cardinals, the late Pope referred to Cardinal Schuster as a victim of Fascist "excesses" after having made a speech of which the Pontiff approved.

A special funeral mass was said today, attended by those who had worked closely with Pope Pius for years. Mgr. Diego Venini, one of the late Pope's private secretaries, celebrated the mass beside the tomb. The Pope's valet, Giovanni Malvestiti, his nurses and others were present.

Nazi Paper Advises Next Pope to Keep Out of Politics.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, Feb. 15.—Das Schwarze Korps, organ of Adolf Hitler's black-shirted elite guard, in yesterday's issue, advised the successor of Pope Pius XI, whoever he may be, to adopt a policy of clear-cut separation of politics from "church-religious" affairs.

The advice was tendered four German Cardinals, Theodore Cardinal Inuitzer, Joseph Cardinal Schulte, Michael Cardinal von Faulhaber, and Adolph Cardinal Bertram, who are in Rome for the conclave that elects a new Pope.

Listing the pontifical candidates—among whom it named "German-Hater" George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago—the paper said: "We shall unrelentingly pillory any misuse of religion for political purposes, no matter whether we discover such misuse in case of a chaplain from the village church pulpit, or the new representative of Christ on the papal chair."

Speculating on whether Pope Pius' successor would continue an anti-Nazi course, the organ said Germany does not stand for interference from any foreign power in its domestic or foreign policies. "even if the dictates are dolled up as encyclicals or pastoral letters."

SERVICES HELD AT CATHEDRAL IN MEMORY OF POPE PIUS XI

Pontifical High Mass Celebrated, Archbishop Glennon Conducting—Organ Silent.

A pontifical high mass was celebrated at the St. Louis Cathedral today in memory of Pope Pius XI, who was buried yesterday in the crypt of St. Peter's in Rome.

Black and gold mourning bunting and gold and white papal flags decorated the cathedral altar. The organ was silent during the entire ceremony. A catafalque, surrounded by lighted candles, was placed immediately behind the altar rail, symbolizing the presence of the deceased.

Archbishop John J. Glennon conducted the mass and Auxiliary Bishop Christian H. Winkelmann preached the sermon.

FRENCH POLICE SEEK 3 TRUCKLOADS OF SPANISH TREASURE

Jewelry and Precious Metals Taken Over Border by Soldiers—16 Arrested.

By the Associated Press. PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 15.—The search for the treasure of Figueras Castle kept French police and Mobile Guards busy today tracking down Spaniards whose pockets and suitcases were crammed with small fortunes in jewelry and precious metals.

Nine truckloads of jewels and pieces of gold and silver were assembled by the republican Government from contributions and seizures to finance the continuation of the Spanish civil war and sent to Figueras after Barcelona fell to the insurgents Jan. 26. The Government ordered the valuables stored for safekeeping in the vaults of Figueras Castle, but they arrived at the castle just as Government troops were evacuating that city.

Lieutenant-Colonel Enrique Lister, in charge of the evacuation, found it was too late to get the trucks out on the traffic-jammed roads. He ordered his men to unload the trucks and take as much as they could carry into France, the total value of which exceeded $10,000, have been arrested here.

TRUCKERS' COUNSEL FIGHTS ENLARGEMENT OF I C C

Suggests Requirement That Carriers Charge Fair Rates, as Way Out of Their Difficulties.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—American Trucking Associations, Inc., expressed opposition today to reorganization of the Interstate Commerce Commission as proposed in a transportation bill by Chairman Lea of the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

J. N. Beall, general counsel of the trucking organization, told the committee that instead of increasing the number of commissioners from 11 to 19, Congress should give the agency more authority over all carriers and a larger staff.

Beall said Lea's proposal to increase the membership of the commission and divide it into fixed groups charged with separate functions would make it impossible for individual commissioners to "see the whole picture." If Congress hoped to place the transportation industry on a profitable basis, Beall said, it must require carriers to charge rates that would insure a fair return on "prudent investment" above the actual cost of performing the service. He said some existing railroad rates did not cover even the out-of-pocket cost of service.

He also suggested revision of the Motor Carrier Act to permit the I. C. C. to regulate intrastate rates where they affect interstate commerce, and equal treatment for all forms of transportation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in making loans.

BILL TO RESTRICT ST. LOUIS ELECTION BOARD DEFEATED

Missouri House Votes 64 to 62 Against Measure to Prevent Opening of Ballot Boxes.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—The House of Representatives revolted against the leadership of its politician members today and defeated the Schechter bill, which would have repealed the section of the law authorizing the St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners to open ballot boxes and make a recount of returns in the event there is evidence of fraud or irregularities in an election.

The vote on the bill was 62 for and 64 against. Under the State Constitution, the bill would have had to receive 76 affirmative votes to pass. Schechter voted no on the bill after it was apparent it would be defeated, which will enable him under the House rules to move for reconsideration within three days.

The successful fight against the bill was made by Representative William B. Weasley of Pike County, who charged it would tie the hands of the St. Louis Election Board and make possible fraudulent elections in St. Louis.

"On the face of this bill it affects only St. Louis City, but every member here knows that if this bill is passed, it will disenfranchise thousands of voters in the outlying areas," he declared. "For every vote stolen in St. Louis another vote in my county is nullified."

"I think this section should be kept on the statutes. If for no other reason it would serve as a deterrent to anybody who might be tempted to make some mistake. Regardless of what the sponsor of this bill tells you, I'm still afraid of it and believe there is a lot of dynamite in it."

Schechter, in taking up the measure for passage, said the provision authorizing the St. Louis Election Board to open the ballot boxes and make a recount in the course of casting up the election returns was similar to a section of the old law which had been declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court in 1928.

Secrecy Issue Raised. Representative John D. Taylor of Keytesville, one of the leaders of the House and a member of the Democratic political bloc in the House, came to the aid of Schechter by urging passage of the bill.

"This is a bad law, and the State Supreme Court has said so numerous times," he said. "To my knowledge members of the St. Louis Election Board have engaged in the practice of asserting to themselves the right to go into the ballot boxes and find out how each and every person voted in different precincts. This is direct conflict with the spirit of our constitutional guaranty of a secret ballot."

About 20 members of the Democratic majority voted with the Republican minority against the bill.

William H. Woodward, chairman of the St. Louis Election Board, has raised the legal question whether the Supreme Court's 1928 opinion would apply to the right of the board to make a recount, when, on the face of the returns as submitted by precinct election officials, there was evidence of obvious irregularities or error in counting the ballots.

He said that in the case in which the court declared the old section unconstitutional, the board had attempted to open the ballot boxes because of an election contest, and not for the purpose of correcting errors in the returns. He said the secrecy of the ballot is not violated in the recounts because numbers on the ballots are not compared with those on the list of voters, and that the board, in making a recount, is performing the same work as precinct officials when they first count the ballots after the polls have closed.

BILL TO KEEP LARGE TRUCKS OFF ROADS ON SUNDAY BEATEN

State Senator Abandons Measure After Attempt Is Made to Kill It.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—The Briggs bill to prohibit the operation of trucks of more than one-half-ton capacity on State highways on Sundays and legal holidays was defeated in the Senate today when it was taken up for perfection.

Senator Briggs abandoned his bill after it had been amended for the purpose of killing it by Senator James C. McDowell of Charleston, who obtained adoption of a paragraph including operation of railroad trains. Senator Michael Kinney of St. Louis supported the bill vigorously, asserting that the operation of heavy trucks on the roads at times when many pleasure cars were on the roads was dangerous.

TON OF LEAD A DAY PUMPED FROM TRAP SHOOTER'S LAKE

Unemployed Fair Expected to Make $4000 Reclaiming Bullets Fired at Clay Pigeons.

By the Associated Press. DENVER, Feb. 15.—Jack Edwards, an engineer, calculated that 27 years of firing at clay pigeons over Sloan's Lake by trap shooters has deposited at least 150 tons of lead.

He passed his figures along to Daniel Winters and Harold Roberts, unemployed steam shovel operators, who fixed up an abandoned pump and are reclaiming a ton of lead a day at $85 a ton.

"If Edwards' figures are correct, there is almost $10,000 worth of lead in the lake," Winters said today. "We expect to make $4000 after deducting 10 per cent for Edwards and another 10 per cent for the shooting club."

House Passes Military Expansion Measure

handle the British navy" and because of "the United States." Possible Meaning for U. S.

Discussing the possibility of a German victory over France and Britain, Pace said the United States should not forget that such a victory might mean the cession to Germany of the Isle of Bermuda, not far from the United States shore, now owned by Britain. He said he did not think such a shift would be permitted by the United States.

Asserting that the United States "for selfish reasons" would be forced, defensively, to go to the aid of Canada or Britain in an emergency, Pace said:

"I feel sure that the President did not say our frontier is on the Rhine. In my judgment, he could well have said, 'Our first line of defense is England and France.' When we see England and France go down, we are threatened."

Pace was referring to a conference the President had recently with members of the Senate Military Affairs Committee on foreign relations. After the conference, Mr. Roosevelt was quoted as having said the Rhine was an American frontier. This statement the chief executive branded a "deliberate lie."

Veteran on Foreign Policy. A World War army officer, Representative Faddis (Dem.), Pennsylvania, declared this country's only foreign policy was to "protect American trade throughout the world."

"We've never had any other foreign policy," he said, "from the days when our tiny navy was used to suppress the depredations of the Barbary pirates."

Commenting on expressed fears that the proposed expansion of the air corps would be used for aggression, Faddis told the House an air force alone could not capture "one foot of foreign soil."

There is nothing in this program that would permit the United States to be an aggressor nation," he added.

Faddis gave warning that, if anything ever happened to force this country to abandon its export trade, "we will have an internal revolution."

Representative Knutson (Rep.), Minnesota, the only surviving member in the House who voted against America's entry into the World War, warned his colleagues, "We are paralleling the history we enacted during the World War and if we follow it out we are going to be drawn into another war just as sure as the rising sun."

He declared the Congress was "placing altogether too much emphasis on the dangers that lie without and ignoring much more serious problems at home."

"My God, have we lost our sense of perspective?" he shouted. In response to questions, Knutson said most of the propaganda which he said led the nation into war 22 years ago came from London and Paris, "and the same old propaganda mills are grinding now."

Hiram Johnson's Statement. In a statement today, Senator Hiram Johnson (Rep.), California, called for an above-board foreign policy. He said that any war "should be fought by the common people who will have to do the dying" and not by the President. He accused the administration of conducting foreign policy "clandestinely" and of representing efforts of those who tried to obtain facts about sales of planes to France.

The Californian said some supporters of the administration foreign policy contended it was one of "bluffing." By bluffing, Johnson remarked, these persons are hopeful of preventing a war. "There should be no bluffing on matters concerning the lives of our people," he declared.

"The people of the land have a right to know whether they are being led into war. There is no way to excuse this secrecy."

Johnson said the Senate Military Committee should make public the full record of its recent hearings on the French plane deals. The committee recently voted against publicity.

Guam Defense Item Saved. Meanwhile, the House Naval Committee, by a vote of 14 to 5, rejected a move to eliminate the Pacific island of Guam from the naval aviation authorization bill and then approved the measure authorizing $68,400,000 for new and expanded aviation bases.

Just before approving the inclusion of Guam in the bill the committee rejected, 14 to 5, an amendment by Representative Sutcliff (Dem.), New Jersey, which would have struck both Guam and Wake Island in the Pacific from the bill. Sutcliff wanted to allocate the $7,000,000 involved to further naval air improvements at Hampton Roads, Va., Lakehurst, N. J., and at a point along the New England coast.

Rear Admiral Cook told the committee, however, the work to be undertaken at Guam was largely commercial and would materially assist present trans-Pacific commercial aviation, in addition to providing a valuable outpost in case of war.

"In peace time we must prepare for war," Cook said. "In case of war we don't know how much we would have to use Guam, but we must be ready. An air base there might save us the loss of two or three valuable ships that otherwise would have to operate there to support scouting planes."

Contrastive Bills Held Up. While the House debated the national defense bill, its Democratic leaders decided to withhold any further controversial legislation until they can gauge the effect of their appeal for solidarity at a party conference yesterday.

Well informed persons said the House would be asked to consider no subjects more troublesome than increased funds for the army, routine appropriations, and secondary bills for several weeks.

"Any proposals to revise the Wagner Labor Act and other New Deal laws will be deferred, it was learned, until Democratic chiefs are assured that colleagues are meeting their request to 'go down the line' with them."

"Pep talks" by Speaker Bankhead, Democratic Leader Rayburn, and others were made at a party caucus yesterday, just before the House began debating a bill to increase the army's air force.

No More Major Messages. As an added inducement for order in their ranks, Democratic lieutenants asserted once more that President Roosevelt did not plan to send Congress any more major legislative recommendations at this session. They did not promise that important changes in some of the existing New Deal statutes might not be proposed later.

The new sale of planes to France was announced last night by the French embassy on the eve of the reopening of the Senate Military Committee's inquiry into an earlier transaction. The committee called Admiral William D. Leahy, Chief of Naval Operations, to testify and asked Louis Johnson, Assistant Secretary of War, to be present.

Clark Raised Questions. Senator Clark of Missouri raised the question whether any of the new orders involved planes similar to the army craft wrecked recently in California.

The presence of a member of the French Air Mission aboard that plane started the Senate investigation and started a congressional controversy about helping European democracies rearm.

Some authoritative sources said that 100 Douglas bombers in the new orders were of the type involved in the crash.

Col. Rene P. Weiser, air attaché at the French Embassy, declared no military secrets were disclosed to the mission.

"Everywhere we went we were very carefully guided away from shops where new work was underway," Weiser said. "We saw only what we were told."

Three Firms Get Contracts. The new French orders were distributed among three manufacturers. In addition to the Douglas ships, the contracts were for 115 Martin and 200 North American bombers.

The latest purchases, which include engines and other equipment, involve more than $60,000,000. France last month doubled an order for 100 fast Curtiss-Wright ships placed last summer. Great Britain recently contracted for 250 American-made aircraft in addition to 400 ordered last year.

The total of all the contracts, it is estimated, exceeds $100,000,000 and approaches the entire value of the output of the American aircraft industry last year.

"The export orders, furthermore, should gear up industry for our own plane construction, with the result that we should be able to get planes faster and at lower prices than would be possible otherwise," a military officer said.

Of more than 20 manufacturers, eight are virtually idle now, officials said.

300-Mile-an-Hour Planes. Senator Austin (Rep.), Vermont, has said, however, he would insist that the Military Committee call manufacturers to ascertain whether foreign orders would interfere with American army demands.

The 100 craft which France has ordered from the Douglas plant at Santa Monica, Cal., were reported to be able to exceed 300 miles an hour. The original model was built for an army air corps design competition closing in March.

The 115 bombers to be made at the Glenn L. Martin plant near Baltimore were said to be an improved model of the army's semi-obsolescent B-10-bomber and similar to a Russian plane which figured in the Spanish war.

The North American bombers were reported to be of a type on the market for some time and available to any purchaser.

SOURCE OF UNOLANT FEVER AT MICHIGAN STATE TRACED

Epidemiologist Says Faulty Plumbing and Defective Sterilizer Let Water Be Contaminated.

EAST LANSING, Mich., Feb. 15.—Investigators said today that faulty plumbing and a defective laboratory sterilizer caused an undulant fever outbreak at Michigan State College.

Dr. Arthur Newitt, director of the State Bureau of Epidemiology, said plumbing in the bacteriology building of the college had permitted contaminated water to reach drinking fountains and faucets. Cultures of the fever are kept in a basement laboratory. Tests of a steam sterilizer, Dr. Newitt said, disclosed it failed to kill all bacteria used in experiments.

BRAZIL ORDERS 4 FREIGHTERS BUILT IN GERMAN SHIPYARDS

Vessels to Cost $5,000,000 Will Be Constructed at Emden and Flensburg.

By the Associated Press.

HAMBURG, Germany, Feb. 15.—Brazil today ordered four freighters to be built in German shipyards at a cost of 14,000,000 marks ($5,000,000).

Two are to be constructed at Emden, and two at Flensburg.

Repeats Mrs. Duke's Story.

Holman said that Mrs. Duke told him she was in the bathroom on the second floor when she heard a noise and went to the stairs, and saw her mother staggering back from the front door.

Capt. McCormack told of finding the rear doors of the house locked, and the telephone wires cut. He and Holman told of searching in vain for the revolver, found in the front of the house, which has not been found.

He told of taking two statements from Mrs. Duke, in one of which he quoted her as saying that she heard her mother scream, whereas Holman had said she told him that she heard no outcry.

In connection with the testimony of the next witness, Detective Marvin Lower, the clothing worn by Mrs. Slusky was shown to the jury. Her black dress and a black slip, which had been worn under the dress, had a rear hole marking the entrance of the bullet, but no exit mark, indicating that the bullet was deflected, and did not pass through the outer garments. The undergarments show exit holes as well as those of entrance.

Abe Slusky broke down and sobbed as he told, in his direct testimony yesterday afternoon, of the confusing situation he found when he arrived at the house.

Called to the home by an employee of a neighboring undertaking establishment, he said that no one but his wounded mother and Mrs. Duke were in the house when he arrived there. He said he attempted to telephone his brothers, but found that the wires on the phone had been cut.

Identified Revolver as His.

He identified as his a .38-caliber revolver which was found in the home several months after the shooting, when alterations were being made. The revolver had four loaded shells and one discharged cartridge. The last time he saw it, he said, was shortly after the death of his father, when his mother took it away from him because he had threatened to commit suicide.

Asked what his mother had said when he arrived at the house, he replied: "I think she said something about a bomb hitting her."

Apparently confused by this answer, Simpson showed Slusky a transcript of testimony before the grand jury which indicted Mrs. Duke and asked him if the notes did not refresh his memory. The witness said they did not.

Police information at the time of the shooting was that Mrs. Slusky said, "Abe, Oh, Abe" when her son arrived while she was lying on a

ABE SLUSKY JR. DENIES DISCORD IN MOTHER'S HOME

Relations Good Between Parent and His Sister, Accused of Killing Her, He Testifies.

WILLS INTRODUCED AS STATE EVIDENCE

Police Describe Conflict in Stories Told by Mrs. Elda Slusky Duke After Shooting.

Abe Slusky Jr., younger brother of Mrs. Elda Slusky Duke, testifying today in Mrs. Duke's trial on the charge of murdering her mother, Mrs. Caroline Slusky, said the relations between the mother and daughter were good.

This testimony, favoring the defense, was given in the cross-examination of Slusky, called as a state's witness in the trial before Circuit Judge Edward M. Ruddy.

Slusky said, in answer to questions of Sigmund M. Bass, defense attorney, that he saw no indication of ill feeling between his mother and sister at any time. He said his mother "did all an affectionate mother and grandmother could do" for Mrs. Duke and her two children and that Mrs. Duke worked at the housekeeping, while living in the home at 3852 Lindell boulevard, in order that the children might attend school in St. Louis.

Oldest Son Also Testifies.

Morris Slusky, a real estate dealer, eldest of the three sons, was called as a witness, and told of hurrying to the home after he was informed by telephone that his mother had been "hurt," May 31 last. He did not know that his mother had been shot, he said. Later he saw the wound in his mother's back. He told of arranging for her removal to Jewish Hospital in a patrol car to save time.

When Assistant Circuit Attorney Henry W. Simpson attempted to question Morris Slusky about details of the will of his father, "Col." Abe Slusky, Bass made objections which prevented this line of questioning. A clerk was summoned from Probate Court, to place the will of both Abe and Caroline Slusky in evidence for the state.

Three state's witnesses examined briefly were Virginia Becker, nurse of Jewish Hospital, who told of removing Mrs. Slusky's clothing and finding no bullet; Police Captain Frank McCormack and Sgt. Fred Holman.

Not until Mrs. Slusky complained that her back hurt, Von Nida said, did he find out that she had been wounded. He said in examining her back, he found that a bandage had been tied around the center of her body. Physicians have testified that Mrs. Slusky was shot in the back, the bullet ranging upward and emerging at the front.

Bass has cross-examined few of the state's witnesses, having announced that he would offer a demurrer at the conclusion of the state's case asking for dismissal on the ground of lack of evidence.

He asked Von Nida, however, whether he heard Mrs. Slusky say anything about a bomb. "I think she did," the officer replied. "I think she said she heard an explosion which sounded something like a bomb."

The suit of a policeman to divorce the wife who testified in contesting the suit, that he had been an ideal husband, was dismissed by Circuit Judge Joseph J. Ward yesterday.

The policeman, Clay C. Martin, charged Mrs. Clara Martin, 4283 Holly avenue, with general indignities, alleging she nagged him and had no affection for him. Mrs. Martin countered with the assertion that she still loved her husband and did not want a divorce. They were married June 30, 1936.

Martin was ordered to pay a $75 fee to his wife's lawyer.

Brothers Who Became Burglars

Two brothers arrested early today after they had carried armloads of clothing up the stairway in a rooming house at 4930 Washington boulevard admitted to police at the Newstead Avenue Station that they had robbed the summer home of W. N. Sitton, assistant secretary of the International Shoe Co., at Clarkson and Clayton roads, St. Louis County, Monday night and last night.

Police placed a value of $1500 on the stolen articles, which were hauled from the rooming house to the police station in a patrol wagon when police arrived at 10 men's suits, 12 women's dresses, a radio, silverware, linens, shoes, riding boots and handbags.

The brothers, Robert Jaschke of the Washington boulevard address, and Hugh Jaschke, who gave the address in the 4500 block of Westminister, the name of the automobile owned by another brother in making the trips to the Sitton residence, which is known as Clarkson Valley Farm. The other brother and the wife of Robert Jaschke, who were in the room when police arrived, denied knowledge of the robbery.

Mrs. W. N. Sitton went to the station shortly after 10 a. m. and identified the articles stolen from the summer residence. In the examination of the linens, several towels bearing the name of the Park Plaza Hotel were found. Robert Jaschke, questioned again, said the towels were given to him by a Negro employee of the hotel. Police said the employee would be arrested for questioning.

Mrs. Sitton said her husband was out of the city. A daughter, Miss Margaret Sitton, said to a reporter for the Post-Dispatch that members of the family had not used the summer home since the week-end of Feb. 4. The Sittons live at 7255 Maryland avenue, University City.

Edwin Schindler, superintendent of Clarkson Valley Farm, told the reporter that glass doors at the front of the residence had been forced open. He said all clothing had been removed from closets and that dresser and chest drawers had been ransacked. Schindler lives in quarters about 900 feet from the residence.

Police Lieut. Albert Bean and two patrolmen, acting on information from a confidential source, went to the rooming house shortly after midnight. They were in the room when Robert and Hugh Jaschke knocked on the door and then walked in with their arms full of the stolen clothing.

MAN EXECUTED BY GAS FOR KILLING NEIGHBOR

John F. Williamson, St. Genevieve County, Put to Death at Prison.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—John Flannery Williamson, 62-year-old ex-convict, died at 12:17 a. m. today in the lethal gas chamber in the Missouri State penitentiary here for the murder of a neighbor, George Williams, 64 in St. Genevieve County in August, 1935.

Williamson, the ninth man to die in the death house since Missouri substituted lethal gas for hanging as the method of legal execution in September, 1937, went to his death without any outward show of emotion and without any comment to prison officers who placed him in the gas "tank."

State Senator Paul C. Jones of Kennett, author of the bill passed by the 1937 Legislature which provided for executions by lethal gas, was a spectator for the first time since the act became operative. The bill he introduced in the 1937 Legislature originally called for electrocution, but was amended in the Senate to substitute lethal gas.

Senator Jones commented: "Jones said after the execution that the use of lethal gas appeared to be 'a tremendous improvement over the old method of hanging,' and commented on Williamson's composure.

Physicians observing Williamson through a glass window in the steel gas chamber said he apparently was unconscious a minute and five seconds after the gas entered the chamber and apparently was dead in a minute and 40 seconds.

A nephew of Williamson named Sturgeon, from Centalla, Ill., attended the execution at Williamson's request. It was the first time a relative attended an execution at the prison. He left the prison before prison officials disclosed his identity.

Gov. Stark said yesterday afternoon that no one had made a request for clemency for Williamson so far as he knew.

Convicted Twice.

Williamson was convicted twice of the murder of Williams, a former resident of St. Louis, and twice sentenced to be hanged. The first conviction, in October, 1935, was reversed by the Missouri Supreme Court for error in admission in evidence of a conviction the court held to have been non-voluntary. The second conviction was affirmed by the Supreme Court last Dec. 20, but the case was remanded to the lower court only for re-sentencing of Williamson to death by lethal gas under the new law.

George Williamson was found shot to death in a woods on his farm near the town of St. Genevieve. Williamson was arrested as he was removing a load of hogs from Williams' farm and a shotgun and other property of the victim was found in Williamson's cabin.

About eight months before the Williams murder Williamson was released from the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard after serving 22 years of a sentence of life imprisonment for another murder.

TAILOR WITH SUIT SCHEME ACCUSED OF RUNNING LOTTERY

Police Say Winners Were Shown Cheap Suits Told They Got Better One for $25 More.

A warrant charging establishment of a lottery was issued yesterday by the Circuit Attorney's office against Sam Shanker, manager of a tailoring shop in the Ambassador Building.

Shanker was released on bond when he walked into Police Headquarters last Saturday after his books were seized by Detective Sergeant Curtis Brostrom.

Sergeant Brostrom told a Post-Dispatch reporter that winners, determined by United States Treasury figures published in the newspapers, were shown cheap suits, and then were told that they could get a good suit for $25 more.

BROTHERS CAUGHT WITH $1500 LOOT AFTER BURGLARY

Pair Who Robbed W. N. Sitton Country Home on Consecutive Nights Walk Into Arms of Police.

Two brothers arrested early today after they had carried armloads of clothing up the stairway in a rooming house at 4930 Washington boulevard admitted to police at the Newstead Avenue Station that they had robbed the summer home of W. N. Sitton, assistant secretary of the International Shoe Co., at Clarkson and Clayton roads, St. Louis County, Monday night and last night.

Police placed a value of $1500 on the stolen articles, which were hauled from the rooming house to the police station in a patrol wagon when police arrived at 10 men's suits, 12 women's dresses, a radio, silverware, linens, shoes, riding boots and handbags.

The brothers, Robert Jaschke of the Washington boulevard address, and Hugh Jaschke, who gave the address in the 4500 block of Westminister, the name of the automobile owned by another brother in making the trips to the Sitton residence, which is known as Clarkson Valley Farm. The other brother and the wife of Robert Jaschke, who were in the room when police arrived, denied knowledge of the robbery.

Mrs. W. N. Sitton went to the station shortly after 10 a. m. and identified the articles stolen from the summer residence. In the examination of the linens, several towels bearing the name of the Park Plaza Hotel were found. Robert Jaschke, questioned again, said the towels were given to him by a Negro employee of the hotel. Police said the employee would be arrested for questioning.

Mrs. Sitton said her husband was out of the city. A daughter, Miss Margaret Sitton, said to a reporter for the Post-Dispatch that members of the family had not used the summer home since the week-end of Feb. 4. The Sittons live at 7255 Maryland avenue, University City.

Edwin Schindler, superintendent of Clarkson Valley Farm, told the reporter that glass doors at the front of the residence had been forced open. He said all clothing had been removed from closets and that dresser and chest drawers had been ransacked. Schindler lives in quarters about 900 feet from the residence.

Police Lieut. Albert Bean and two patrolmen, acting on information from a confidential source, went to the rooming house shortly after midnight. They were in the room when Robert and Hugh Jaschke knocked on the door and then walked in with their arms full of the stolen clothing.

MAN EXECUTED BY GAS FOR KILLING NEIGHBOR

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—John Flannery Williamson, 62-year-old ex-convict, died at 12:17 a. m. today in the lethal gas chamber in the Missouri State penitentiary here for the murder of a neighbor, George Williams, 64 in St. Genevieve County in August, 1935.

Williamson, the ninth man to die in the death house since Missouri substituted lethal gas for hanging as the method of legal execution in September, 1937, went to his death without any outward show of emotion and without any comment to prison officers who placed him in the gas "tank."

State Senator Paul C. Jones of Kennett, author of the bill passed by the 1937 Legislature which provided for executions by lethal gas, was a spectator for the first time since the act became operative. The bill he introduced in the 1937 Legislature originally called for electrocution, but was amended in the Senate to substitute lethal gas.

Senator Jones commented: "Jones said after the execution that the use of lethal gas appeared to be 'a tremendous improvement over the old method of hanging,' and commented on Williamson's composure.

Physicians observing Williamson through a glass window in the steel gas chamber said he apparently was unconscious a minute and five seconds after the gas entered the chamber and apparently was dead in a minute and 40 seconds.

A nephew of Williamson named Sturgeon, from Centalla, Ill., attended the execution at Williamson's request. It was the first time a relative attended an execution at the prison. He left the prison before prison officials disclosed his identity.

Gov. Stark said yesterday afternoon that no one had made a request for clemency for Williamson so far as he knew.

Convicted Twice.

Williamson was convicted twice of the murder of Williams, a former resident of St. Louis, and twice sentenced to be hanged. The first conviction, in October, 1935, was reversed by the Missouri Supreme Court for error in admission in evidence of a conviction the court held to have been non-voluntary. The second conviction was affirmed by the Supreme Court last Dec. 20, but the case was remanded to the lower court only for re-sentencing of Williamson to death by lethal gas under the new law.

George Williamson was found shot to death in a woods on his farm near the town of St. Genevieve. Williamson was arrested as he was removing a load of hogs from Williams' farm and a shotgun and other property of the victim was found in Williamson's cabin.

About eight months before the Williams murder Williamson was released from the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard after serving 22 years of a sentence of life imprisonment for another murder.

TAILOR WITH SUIT SCHEME ACCUSED OF RUNNING LOTTERY

Police Say Winners Were Shown Cheap Suits Told They Got Better One for $25 More.

A warrant charging establishment of a lottery was issued yesterday by the Circuit Attorney's office against Sam Shanker, manager of a tailoring shop in the Ambassador Building.

Shanker was released on bond when he walked into Police Headquarters last Saturday after his books were seized by Detective Sergeant Curtis Brostrom.

Sergeant Brostrom told a Post-Dispatch reporter that winners, determined by United States Treasury figures published in the newspapers, were shown cheap suits, and then were told that they could get a good suit for $25 more.

TAP-DANCING DOG WHICH PERFORMED ON THE RADIO DIES

Bull Terrier Succumbs at Des Moines After Fight With Four Animals.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 15.—The birthday presents that Mrs. J. T. Martin had planned for her tap-dancing bull terrier dog, Buster, will be buried with him.

Buster died yesterday of shock and exposure that followed a fight with four dogs last week. He would have been nine years old Feb. 27.

Mrs. Martin, who had insured the pet for $500 against accidental death, said he would be buried in a satin-lined, home-made coffin. The coffin will contain his dancing shoes, a new red sweater and a plot of ice cream. The sweater and ice cream were to have been the dog's birthday presents.

The dog gave a tap-dancing demonstration on a radio program five years ago and had appeared in exhibitions throughout the country.

LAWYER IN LEGISLATURE, SO UNION GETS HEARING DELAY

Ladies' Garment Workers Invoke Statute in Suit Over Alleged Blacklisting.

The statute which enables litigants employing State legislators as their counsel to obtain continuances when the Legislature is in session was invoked by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' local union yesterday to obtain an indefinite postponement of a deposition hearing, set for today, in the $91,250 damage suit of Alex Tecklin, unemployed cloak maker, who charges he was placed on a union blacklist because he had complained of alleged irregularities in the management of the union.

Circuit Judge Robert J. Kirkwood granted the continuance when he received an affidavit of Representative Howard Elliott, counsel for the union, that he was attending the office of Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller in drawing up the information on which prosecution was based. The information was defective, the Supreme Court held, in that it alleged Mitnick was a dealer in securities without stating the facts from which this conclusion was drawn.

Two Witnesses Die.

In the 31 months since the new trial was ordered, two of the four witnesses who testified against Mitnick have died. The witnesses were Herman Heltmann, cigar manufacturer, 1602 Menard street; L. M. Carson, retired insurance man, 1476 Belt avenue, and the late William N. Schumacher and Joseph Stumpfenhagen.

Records of the case pending against Mitnick in St. Louis disclosed a long series of continuances and motions which have so far forestalled the retrial ordered by the Supreme Court.

An amended information was filed by the Circuit Attorney's office Jan. 29, 1937, and the trial was first set for the following March 22. At that time Mitnick obtained a continuance to May 3, and on May 3 another continuance to June 14. On the latter date, he succeeded in obtaining a change of venue from Division 11 of the Circuit Court to Division 12.

Then Demurrer Is Filed.

Two days later his counsel filed a demurrer to the charge, which remained pending until it was withdrawn last April 22. On last May 14, his counsel filed a plea in abatement, and argument on the plea was set for June 3, at which time it was continued to last Dec. 3 with the consent of the Circuit Attorney's office.

After argument on the plea, it was overruled, and the trial now is set for March 13 in Judge Robert L. Aronson's court. Mitnick has been represented at various times in the case by Sigmund Bass, the late Verne R. C. Lacy and former Circuit Attorney Howard Sidener.

ILLINOIS INDICTS PROMOTER FACING TRIAL IN ST. LOUIS

Samuel A. Mitnick Charged With Confidence Game in Sale of Whisky Warehouse Certificates.

Samuel A. Mitnick, promoter who is to be tried again next month, after nearly three years of delay, on a charge of selling securities without a Missouri license, was indicted recently at Carlyle, Ill., on a charge of operating a confidence game in connection with the sale of whisky warehouse certificates, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

Mitnick, at liberty under $5000 bond, has continued in business, currently as president of the firm of Mitnick Grace & Co. in the Metropolitan Building, East St. Louis. His indictment at Carlyle was based on the complaint of Henry Kuester, a farmer, to whom he sold warehouse certificates for about $6000. State's Attorney William R. Murphy said to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

Mitnick's activities as a high-pressure salesman frequently have been the subject of investigation by prosecuting authorities in the last 10 years. His only conviction was on the charge of selling securities without a license, in 1935, when he was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

The Missouri Supreme Court, however, reversed this conviction and remanded the case for a new trial in June, 1936, because of an error by the office of Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller in drawing up the information on which prosecution was based. The information was defective, the Supreme Court held, in that it alleged Mitnick was a dealer in securities without stating the facts from which this conclusion was drawn.

Hotel Clerk Admits THEFTS FROM LETTERS

Police Arrest H. H. Brown Who Signs Statement He Took Money and Stamps.

Harold H. Brown, desk clerk at the Washington Hotel, 600 North Kingshighway, was arrested by police and Postoffice inspectors yesterday and signed a statement admitting that he had taken money and stamps from letters delivered for guests at the hotel.

When arrested, inspectors said, he had $7.63 in marked money and stamps which the inspectors had mailed to two guests at the hotel in letters delivered a short time previously. He also admitted opening several other letters since last August, including one that contained a $250 check and another that contained a $1 bill.

As the letters had been delivered and Brown was handling them in the role of agent, the Postoffice inspectors said there would be no Federal prosecution and turned the case over to police, who booked Brown on suspicion of petty larceny. He is 39 years old.

CENSUS OF CHILDREN, 4 TO 20, TO BE MADE BY SCHOOL BOARD

150 to 180 Enumerators to Begin Work April 1 on Textbook Fund Survey.

A census of children between the ages of 4 and 20 will be made by the Board of Education, starting about April 1. The law requires the board to enumerate children between 6 and 20 every five years, primarily as a basis for distribution of the State textbook fund, but it was decided to include younger age levels for information as to prospective pupils.

This count will be under direction of Secretary-Treasurer Philip J. Hickey. It may cost $8000 to $10,000 or more, with 150 to 180 enumerators employed for about three weeks. In the last enumeration, made by relief workers in 1934, a complete census of the city's population was made. A directory company was employed for the work in 1929 and 1924.

The coming count, which will be tabulated in accordance with the Federal census tracts, will show color, sex and ages of the children of school and pre-school age and will include a required listing of blind, deaf and mute children.

EX-FOREMAN OF WPA INDICTED FOR FRAUD

E. F. H. Johnson Admitted, It Is Said, Having Crew Do Private Work for Him.

Edgar F. H. Johnson, who was a WPA foreman in 1936, was indicted by the Federal grand jury today on a charge of defrauding the Government by having four WPA workmen build a stone wall and two flagstone walks at his home, 5019 Raymond avenue.

Indictment charged that the cost of the work done by the four men totaled $219. Johnson was dropped from the WPA rolls in July, 1937, after he had made a statement, Assistant United States District Attorney Herbert H. Freer said, admitting the charge.

The offense charged is a misdemeanor with a maximum punishment, on conviction, of a year in jail and a $2000 fine.

Before receiving until March 7, the grand jury returned a total of 82 indictments in a partial report to Judge Charles E. Davis. About half of them charge violation of the liquor laws.

Five osteopaths were charged with violation of the Harrison anti-narcotic act by the sale or administration of narcotics not in the course of their professional duty. They are: Grace L. Gray, Kahoka; Elbert O. Holmes, Newark; Earl W. Porter and his wife, A. J. Porter of Trenton, and Morton A. Rich of Ewing.

MOTHER OF TWO ATTEMPTS HOLDUP WITH TOY PISTOL

Captured, She Says She Tried to Rob Subway Ticket Office in Order to Feed Sons.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—A 39-year-old mother was held on charges of attempted robbery and felonious assault today after police said she tried to hold up a subway ticket agent with a toy pistol.

The woman, booked last night as Mrs. Mary Cusack, was seized by two men after one knocked the pistol from her hands.

Police said she told them she had attempted the holdup to obtain money to feed her two sons.

Mrs. Mary Ellnor Danner, stylist for a downtown department store, received a divorce from John Danner, president of the Young Men's Division of the Chamber of Commerce and advertising manager of the National Leather & Shoe Finders' Association, yesterday in the court of Circuit Judge Joseph J. Ward.

Mrs. Danner testified to general indignities. Danner, who did not contest the suit, filed a general denial and entry of appearance. They were married Oct. 11, 1934, and separated last Feb. 5. Mrs. Danner's lawyer said a property settlement had been made. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker, 5330 Pershing avenue.

MADRID SHELLED BY REBELS THIRD SUCCESSIVE DAY

Central Part of Spanish Loyalist Capital Hit as Franco Intensifies Siege of the City.

NEGRIN BOLSTERING POLITICAL POSITION

Labor Representatives Absent but He Is Said to Have Support of Rest of His Ministers.

By the Associated Press.
PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 15.—
Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco has intensified the siege of Madrid, with his heavy artillery shelling the Spanish Government capital daily.
Insurgent guns bombarded the central quarters of the city last night, Government dispatches said, for the third successive day since Premier Juan Negrin installed his cabinet in Madrid.
Casualties from the shelling Sunday and Monday were estimated at 28 dead and 106 wounded. The effects of last night's bombardment were not reported immediately.
Battlefronts Still Quiet.
The battlefronts, which have been quiet since the insurgent conquest of Catalonia and the Government's transfer to the central zone, remained static.
Premier Negrin turned his attention to improving his political position, which has been weakened by the desire of moderate elements to make peace with Franco and by unrest among extremists whose action has been curtailed under the existing state of war.
A Government statement said that, despite the absence of the labor representatives Gonzalez Pena of U. G. T. and Segundo Blanco Gonzalez of C. N. T., from recent cabinet meetings, all the ministers were in accord in supporting Negrin's policies. U. G. T., the General Union of Workers, is a Socialist-Communist organization. C. N.
T., the National Confederation of Workers, is dominated by anarchists.
An attempt by the Government fleet to challenge insurgent control of the sea in a naval battle was seen by some observers as a possible aftermath of the proclamation issued by Government naval chiefs yesterday, calling on sailors of the loyalist fleet to do their duty "to the death if necessary."

Insurgent control of Catalonia now makes it necessary for the Government to import all supplies by sea if it is to survive long in the Madrid-Valencia-Alicante zone.
The Government's fleet, based at Cartagena, includes the old 15-402-ton battleship Jaime I, the cruisers Libertad, Miguel de Cervantes and Mendez Nunez and several destroyers and small craft.
The authoritative British work,
"Jane's Fighting Ships," omitted the Jaime I from the 1938 edition because it "is still lying at Cartagena in a wrecked condition." The vessel was damaged by an internal explosion while in drydock June 17, 1937. A dispatch from Madrid yesterday said the Government fleet consisted of three cruisers, 13 destroyers, seven submarines, five torpedo boats and two gunboats.
France's fleet, which has controlled the Mediterranean since the civil war began June 18, 1936, includes the heavy cruiser Canarias and the cruiser Almirante Cervera. The insurgents also have destroyers, gunboats, minelayers and submarines. (Jane's also lists the cruiser Navarra as a part of the insurgent fleet.)
Insurgent bombers were active over the port of Alicante yesterday.
Five Savoia (Italian type) bombers dumped projectiles on the city and destroyed 50 houses. Four persons were killed and 25 were wounded.
Meanwhile, on the French border
French and Spanish insurgent authorities began roundups of the thousands of horses, mules and bur-ros roaming the Pyrenees and started to salvage millions of dollars' worth of abandoned cars and trucks.
With Spanish Government troops from the Catalan front in French concentration camps en route to insurgent territory, neither the insurgents nor the French were sure who owned border livestock and motor vehicles.
The insurgents solved their problem neatly by requisitioning everything of doubtful ownership. French authorities had not decided on all the details of the roundup, thereby giving enterprising French border residents the chance of a lifetime.
The goat, sheep, pig and cow problem was quickly solved. Hungry refugees and soldiers put most of them in roadside cookpots. Frugal French peasants accounted for the rest.
Trucks and cars were more of a problem for they represented large cash investments. At Argeles alone there were several thousand Spanish cars and trucks abandoned opposite the concentration camp. The men who drove them into France were behind barbed wire in the camp. French army mechanics went to work salvaging what they could, but what would be done with them remained for the Paris government to decide.
The last Spanish Government flag flying in Catalonia was hauled down from a pine tree in the Pyrenees at noon yesterday. Two hours later the last unit of the defeated army of Catalonia crossed into France carrying machine guns and a flag.
The last Government flag was fixed in a tree over a mountain camp northeast of Setcasas and northwest of Baget. Setcasas was occupied by insurgents Monday.
At dawn yesterday they moved into Baget.

M'KITTRICK'S AID TALKS TO GRAND JURY

Presents Evidence Concerning Service Car Drivers' Insurance Fund.

The grand jury, impaneled last week, will continue tomorrow its inquiry into vice and labor racketeering in St. Louis. The service car drivers' insurance fund also will be scrutinized.
Preliminary evidence concerning this fund, details of which have been disclosed by the Post-Dispatch, was presented to the grand jury yesterday by Assistant Attorney-General J. E. Taylor. He declined to discuss the matter with reporters.

It has been shown that there was a difference of more than $50,000 between the sums collected from the 425 service car drivers for annual property damage and liability insurance by a clique headed by Harry J. Cantwell, lawyer, and

Timothy R. (Ted) Cronin, union business agent, and the payments made to the Travelers' Mutual Casualty Co. of Des Moines, Ia., which furnished the policy required by ordinance.
Taylor was introduced to the grand jury by Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller.
It was expected that, in the course of his stay here, Taylor would present evidence in various instances of labor racketeering and vice which have been investigated

by Attorney-General Roy McKil-trick.
Next week, it was indicated, Mc-Kittrick will return to St. Louis to take charge of the investigation.
He has made several visits here recently in the anti-crime movement.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH BRITAIN DELAYS ITS RECOGNITION OF GEN. FRANCO

Chamberlain Tells Common That Cabinet Has Matter
'Still Under Consideration.'

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 15.—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that recognition of the insurgents as the legal Government of Spain was "still under consideration," but the Cabinet was reported to have agreed in principle on such action at an appropriate moment.

Officially it was disclosed that Italy was shipping fresh troops to Libya.

The Prime Minister announced that Great Britain had ceased to sponsor any terms for ending the Spanish civil war. He said his Government had made efforts at mediation after the fall of Barcelona, but that it did not "consider it advisable at present to take the responsibility of sponsoring any particular terms of settlement."

He mentioned both Italy's undertaking to get out of Spain at the end of the war and Adolf Hitler's promise at the Munich conference to "withdraw German volunteers whenever other countries were prepared to do the same."

Pressed by Lieutenant-Commander R. T. H. Fletcher, Labor member, to say whether he regarded Hitler's assurance as formal and binding, the Premier cautiously replied: "I regard it as an expression of his intention at the time he spoke to me."

Under the British-Italian accord which went into effect Nov. 16, Italy had reduced by half its strength in Libya, which faces French Tunisia, an object of Fascist expansion clamor.

Officials said the Earl of Perth, British Ambassador to Rome, had been told by Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano that additional Italian troops were being sent to Libya because of "information received" that French forces in Tunisia had been increased. Ciano was said to have added that Italy would reduce its Libyan garrison when conditions were restored "to normal."

Officials declined to disclose the number of Italians sent to North Africa, but reliable reports said forces there now numbered 60,000 as against 30,000 maintained under the British-Italian accord.

Loyalist President Urged to Return to Spain, It Is Said.
By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—Julio Alvarez del Vayo, Spanish Government Foreign Minister, arrived in Paris unexpectedly from Madrid today and hurried to the Spanish Embassy to confer with Manuel Azana, President of Government Spain. Azana has been staying at the embassy since he fled from Spain after the fall of Barcelona.

Spanish Government circles reported that Alvarez del Vayo was seeking to persuade Azana to return to Madrid as evidence that the Government still was functioning normally.

Paris and London advocates of recognition for the insurgent government had used the President's absence from Spain as one of their main arguments.

The Madrid Foreign Minister was believed to have decided to see Azana as a result of a decision by the French Cabinet yesterday to send Senator Leon Berard on a second mission to insurgent Spain and today's meeting of the British Cabinet to consider formal recognition of the insurgents.

Berard was expected to leave for Burgos some time tomorrow. It was disclosed that he had had a long conference with French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet yesterday afternoon after the Cabinet meeting. He was to see Bonnet again late today for last-minute instructions.

Bonnet Asked to Explain.
The Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies voted today to request Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet to appear before the members Feb. 22, to explain details of the foreign policy of France in all its ramifications.

The committee failed to ask specifically in the motion for an explanation of reported semi-official diplomatic negotiations of Paris, Berlin and Rome. Individual committee members said, however, that the subject "probably would arise" during the discussion.

The powerful Socialist group in the Chamber had demanded that the Government explain reports of "secret negotiations with Germany and Italy," the result of charges by Deputy Henri de Kerillis that Bonnet had sent emissaries to Rome and Berlin to seek a settlement of Italy's territorial claims on France.

Stand Pat Despite Denial.
The Socialists, supported by other opposition legislators, maintained their attitude despite a denial by Bonnet's office that "there are negotiations engaged in between France on the one hand and Germany and Italy on the other."

The consensus of the Deputies was that Bonnet should inform the parliamentary groups on details of Spanish, German, Italian and any other negotiations now in progress.
Two Deputies, the Socialist Salomon Grumbach and the Leftist Louis Marin, urged that the Foreign Minister consider the publication of an official report from the French standpoint on the Munich four-Power conference Sept. 29, when Nazi Germany was allowed to annex parts of Czechoslovakia.

Guard for Italian Consulate in Corsica After Demonstrations.

AJACCIO, Corsica, Feb. 15.—A heavy police guard was placed around the Italian consulate here today after a series of demonstrations against Fascist demands for a share in France's colonial empire.

Windows of the Italian consulate were shattered last night when the building was attacked by a band of "Young Corsicans" singing French national songs.

Banners carried by the demonstrators and slogans they shouted answered the latest articles in Italian newspapers expressing Italy's "natural aspirations" against France and in particular demands that Corsica be handed over to Italy.

RETALIATORY LIQUOR LAW REPEAL VOTED BY HOUSE

Bill Now Goes to Missouri Senate: It Permits Barring Drinks Made in Certain Other States.

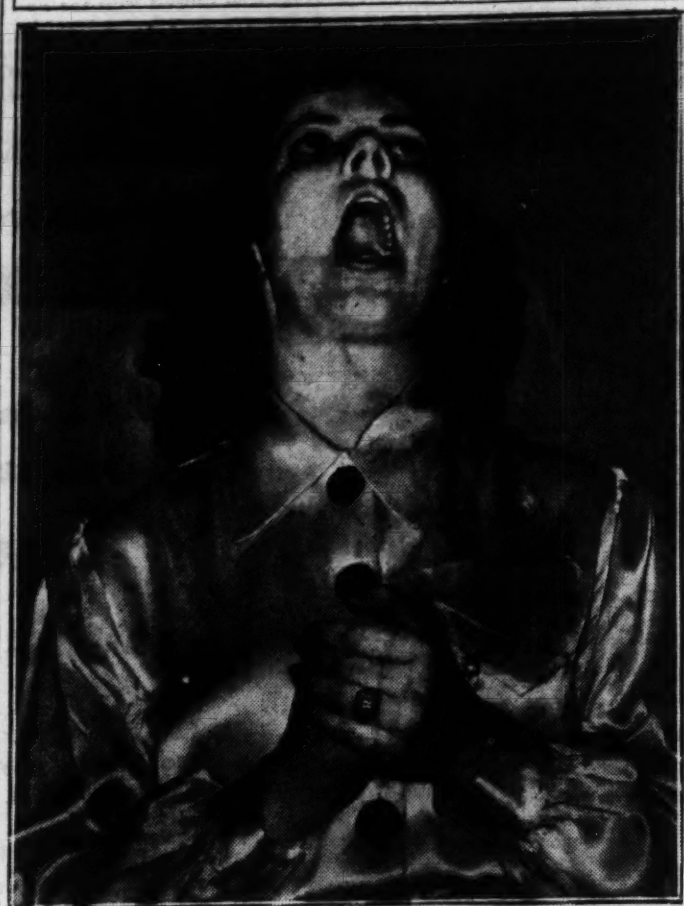

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—The House today passed the Missouri Discriminatory Liquor Law without a dissenting vote and now goes to the Senate.

The measure, by Representative

Roy Hamlin of Hannibal, repeals an act passed in 1927 which would prevent the importation into Missouri, or possession or sale in the state, of liquor or beer manufactured or bottled in states the laws or liquor regulations of which discriminate against Missouri liquor manufacturers or dealers in such Missouri products.

The constitutionality of the Missouri retaliatory law was upheld recently by the United States Supreme Court.

APPLYING LABOR ACT TO NEWSBOYS ASSAILED

A. N. P. A. Counsel Argues It Gives U. S. No Power Over Minors So Employed.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Elisha Hanson, general counsel of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, took the position today that the Fair Labor Standards Act gave the Government no power to regulate the sale and delivery of newspapers by minors.

He expressed this opinion at a hearing on permanent regulations proposed by Katharine Lenroot, chief of the Federal Children's Bureau, to permit children between the ages of 14 and 16 to work, subject to certain conditions, in all occupations excepting manufacturing, mining, and the operation of motor vehicles and messenger service. The conditions would be that the youths work outside of school hours, no more than three hours on school days, no more than eight hours on any day, not more than 40 hours a week, and only between the hours of 6 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Appearing for the Publishers' Association and 11 state and regional publishers' organizations, Hanson indicated any regulation which Miss Lenroot promulgated would be acceptable to the publishers if she applied it to copy boys and others working in or immediately around newspapers, but not to newsboys. Contending the provisions of the Labor Act forbidding oppressive child labor in or about establishments engaged in interstate commerce limited the power to regulate the employment of children between 14 and 16, Hanson asked for permission to elaborate his views in a brief which he said would demonstrate that the power to regulate the sale and delivery of newspapers was not embraced within the act, and further: "That the sale and delivery of newspapers by minors, whose chief business is attending school, is valuable training for the youth of America, not injurious to health, not injurious to school work but extremely beneficial to the general well-being of those so engaged."

Ralph Hetzel, representing the CIO, and Francis P. Fenton, appearing for the American Federation of Labor, advocated a maximum working day of six hours and a maximum working week of 30 hours for the minors covered by the proposed regulation.

STATE ELEMOSYNARY BOARD SEEKS BIGGER APPROPRIATION

$500,000 More Sought for Next Two Years; $321,000 Deficit in 1937-1938.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—The board of managers of the State's six eleemosynary institutions, asked the House Appropriations Committee for a $500,000 increase in operating funds yesterday.

Chairman John D. Taylor (Dem.), Keytesville, criticized the board for a $321,000 deficit incurred in 1937-38.

"This department has come here time and again with deficits," he said. "Don't the members of the board know they are liable under their bonds for this money?"

John J. Griffin, St. Louis banker and vice-president of the board, said expenditures were necessary to make the buildings safe for patients. The board asked for $5,241,000 for 1938-40. W. Ed Jameson, Fulton, president of the board, said the additional amount would permit operation of new buildings erected with proceeds of the $10,000,000 state bond issue voted in 1933.

100 AT FIRST TRYOUTS FOR 3-OPERA CHORUS

More Candidates to Sing Today and Tomorrow — Soprano for "Faust" Sought.

About 100 men and women appeared at the Municipal Auditorium yesterday for the first tryouts for the permanent chorus being formed by the St. Louis Grand Opera Association, which will present three operas here this spring.

Those tested yesterday were members of previous grand opera choruses here. Tryouts for new woman candidates were to be held this afternoon and tonight, and for new men tomorrow.

Lazlo Halasz, conductor, said he hoped to have a chorus of between 60 and 80 members chosen by tomorrow night. He said those chosen would be paid the union scale for the operas in which they sing.

A contest for soprano members of the chorus and all other sopranos in the city will be conducted soon, Halasz said, to pick a local singer for the part of Siebel in Gounod's "Faust," which will be presented on April 24. The winner will be paid $100 for singing the part that night.

Other operas to be presented this spring are Wagner's "Die Walkure" on April 17 and Verdi's "Otello" on April 21. Principals engaged to date include Giovanni Martinelli, Ebbio Pinza, Lauritz Melchior, Mar-

MONTANA SENATE APPROVES 30-DAY DIVORCE MEASURE

Author Says Gov. Ayers Will Sign; 12-Days Shorter Than Reno Period.

By the Associated Press.
HELENA, Mont., Feb. 15.—The Montana Senate completed passage of a bill yesterday to make it possible to file divorce actions after 30 days' residence. The author, Sherman W. Smith, said Gov. Ayers would give his approval.

Backers of the measure anticipated an influx of divorce-seeking spouses. In addition, the Legislature considered the possibility of legalizing gambling under one of several pending measures. Sponsors of the divorce measure made no effort to conceal its commercial purpose as they cut 12 days off the most liberal laws heretofore on statute books, those of Nevada, Idaho and Wyoming, where 42 days' residence is required.

Smith, an attorney, declared divorce seekers would take $23,000,000 annually into the State for living expenses.

Opponents attacked the measure as contributing to immorality. The measure makes no change in grounds for which divorce may be obtained in Montana, which include cruelty, habitual intemperance, willful neglect, non-support, desertion, adultery and penal servitude.

Jorie Lawrence and Irene Jessner. All candidates for the chorus who appeared yesterday were given a personal audition by Halasz, who listened to them one at a time in one of the auditorium's assembly halls. The candidates sang operatic bits and scales.

MARION TALLEY LEFT BABY, HUSBAND SAYS

Declares Singer Abandoned
Child in St. Paul Two Weeks After Birth There.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The birthplace of Susan Eckstrom, infant daughter of Marion Talley, the singer, and her estranged husband, Adolf Eckstrom, was disclosed yesterday by Eckstrom's attorney, Frank Delaney, as St. Paul, Minn. Custody proceedings last week closed to the public the child's existence. She is nearly 4 years old. Delaney said Miss Talley, former Metropolitan Opera soprano, had left the child at the age of two weeks in a St. Paul or Minneapolis hospital and had not seen her again until last Feb. 2. Miss Talley's attorneys have said she last saw her child in December, 1935, when she was several months old.

Delaney has charged in court at suburban White Plains that Miss Talley attempted to take the child on Feb. 2, last, from the home of Mrs. Elmer W. Nelson, of Mamaroneck, N. Y.

Mrs. Nelson, Eckstrom's sister, took the child when she was 11 months old, Delaney said, and has cared for her the last two years. Edith Klein, Eckstrom's secretary, cared for the infant in St. Paul after Miss Talley's departure. Delaney said, and took her to New York when she was old enough to travel. He said Eckstrom then entrusted the child to the care of Miss Klein and Miss Esther Lundell, who was Miss Talley's piano accompanist on a Florida tour some years ago. Eckstrom formerly taught Miss Talley singing.

Delaney said Miss Talley and her lawyer, Harry Miller of Los Angeles, had refused his invitation to come to New York and discuss the case without further court proceedings. John S. Keith, New York attorney for Miss Talley, said she would not appear in public until the case is settled.

The custody proceeding is being delayed by an argument over jurisdiction. Eckstrom contends the suit should be filed in Manhattan, present residence of the child. Miss Talley's lawyers want disposition in White Plains, Westchester County, because the child lived in Mamaroneck, near White Plains.

At White Plains defense counsel today sought a dismissal of the suit when neither Miss Talley nor Eckstrom appeared in court. Supreme Court Justice Gerald Nolan gave Delaney until Saturday to file additional memoranda on his request for a dismissal.

Instead of appearing, Keith filed a memorandum saying he had been unable to serve a subpoena on Eckstrom and adding that it was "useless to prolong the hearing."

Miss Talley in her suit for custody alleges Eckstrom is not fitted to care for the child and has neglected to provide a needed eye operation for her.

Miss Talley was in St. Louis Monday, a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer G. Marshutz, 700 South Hanley road, Clayton. Mrs. Marshutz told a Post-Dispatch reporter the singer, an old friend, stopped over a day on a trip to California from the East.

No Record of Birth of Talley Baby in Minnesota in 1935.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 15.—O. C. Pierson, director of the division of administration, Minnesota State Board of Health, said today no baby named Susan Eckstrom or Susan Talley had been born in this State in 1935, according to board records, as reported by an attorney.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 15.—President David O. Seznick of Seznick International Pictures, Inc., announced yesterday that Victor Fleming would replace George Cukor as director of the picture, "Gone With the Wind." Cukor withdrew because of disagreement with Seznick over the script.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Corporal Jiggs, famous mascot of the Marines, is dead. His accidental death at the Marine Barracks Fire Station, Quantico, Va., was announced yesterday at Marine Headquarters here. DELAY ON SUCCESSOR TO BRANDEIS LIKELY

Roosevelt Expected to Appoint New Supreme Court Justice After Cruise.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Senators who said they had made inquiries at the White House expressed the belief today that President Roosevelt will delay appointment of a new Supreme Court justice until after his Caribbean cruise. He leaves tomorrow night to rest and to review fleet maneuvers. He will be gone about two weeks.

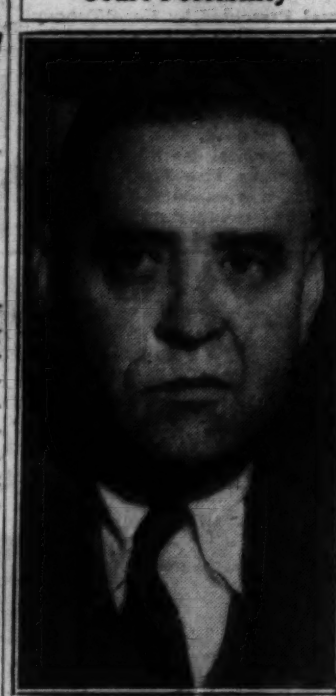

Western Senators were pushing their campaign to have a man from their region appointed to the place of Justice Louis D. Brandeis, who retired Monday after serving nearly 23 years on the court.

Some administration men in the Senate, however, were expected to urge Roosevelt to ignore geographical considerations. If such advice should prevail, Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson, a New Yorker, might be the nominee. Jackson, a New Deal adherent, was widely discussed as a possible successor to Attorney-General Homer Cummings prior to the appointment of former Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan.

Another mentioned as a possible nominee is Wiley Blount Rutledge, dean of the University of Iowa School of Law and former dean of the Washington University Law School at St. Louis.

ported him as making further gains against the grip but as still requiring rest.

The President arranged to receive late today Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, Brazilian Foreign Minister, and members of his official mission. Mr. Roosevelt had a morning engagement with Col. F. C. Harrington, Relief Administrator, and an afternoon appointment with Attorney-General Murphy.

$80,000,000 RECOVERY PLAN FOR PUERTO RICO

Virgin Islands Included in Proposal, Said to Have Ickes' Approval.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Miles H. Fairbank of the Puerto Rico Reconstruction Administration said today that Secretary of the Interior Ickes had approved plans for creation of an $80,000,000 insular reconstruction authority for rehabilitation of Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Fairbank, who arrived from San Juan yesterday, said legislation was "drafted and approved" and would be presented to Congress "as soon as possible."

Under the insular reconstruction authority, Fairbank said, the present Puerto Rico Reconstruction Administration would be abolished and all relief activities for both Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands combined under the new organization. The insular reconstruction authority would start with $20,000,000 in U. S. Government-subscribed capital, Fairbank said, and would issue bonds up to $80,000,000, or four times the capital, which would be held in the authority's treasury as backing for the bonds.

It would finance agricultural and other industries of the islands unable to obtain private backing. The managing director and members of the board would be appointed by the President of the United States and confirmed by the Senate. The Interior Department would supervise operation of the new organization.

Metropolitan Life Revised Rule for Samuel Fordyce

Industrial agents made $8 or $10 a week and were mostly Englishmen who had left the Prudential of London, and other insurance companies, with some deficits, and as soon as they were at home in this country proved defaulters in many cases.

That former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, board chairman of the Meenan Oil Co., solicited business from the New York Life Insurance Co., of which he was a director, was brought out by letters introduced in evidence this afternoon during testimony by Thomas A. Buckner, board chairman of New York Life.

SEC Counsel Cites Law.

Gerhard Gessell, of counsel for the Securities and Exchange Commission, contended that such transactions are in violation of section 36 of the insurance law of New York State, which provides that:

"No director or officer of an insurance corporation doing business in this State shall receive any money or any valuable thing for negotiating, procuring, recommending or aiding in any purchase by or sale to such corporation of any property, or any loan from such corporation, nor be pecuniarily interested, either as principal, coprincipal, agent or beneficiary, in any such purchase, sale or loan."

Smith's Letter to Buckner.

Under date of June 7, 1938, Smith wrote to Buckner, then president of New York Life, the following letter:

"For several years our company has been supplying the fuel oil needs of some of the largest users in Greater New York, Nassau and Westchester counties, as well as several thousand home owners."

"Our vice-president, Mr. R. G. Phelps, advises me that most fuel-oil contracts are up for renewal between June 1 and late fall. It has occurred to me that you may own, or manage, buildings using fuel oil. I am taking this means to respectfully request that you give our company an opportunity to bid on your fuel-oil requirements, when you are in the market."

"Our source of supply comes from the Standard Oil Co. of New York, one of the world's largest oil companies. We are thoroughly equipped to render prompt and efficient delivery service at all hours. The prices on all grades are fair, and the quality of fuel oil will be to your satisfaction."

"When you are in the market, any consideration you give Mr. Phelps and our company will be greatly appreciated."

Evidence was introduced to show that New York Life in 1938 purchased 2,449,000 gallons of fuel oil, and that 1,275,000 gallons were bought from Smith's concern.

Sees No Impropriety.

Questioned as to the propriety of solicitation by directors of business in behalf of other companies with which they are connected, Buckner replied:

"I see no reason why, if new business rises, our directors should not call to our attention to facilities for handling it with which they are acquainted."

The witness "presumed" that Charles D. Hilles, former Republican National Committeeman of New York, had solicited business from New York Life on behalf of the Employees' Liability Assurance Corporation, of which Hilles is a director. Another director of this company is Gen. James G. Harbord, who is also a director of New York Life and of the Bankers Trust Co.

Deposits and Directors.

Six of 12 banks in which New York Life maintains deposits exceeding $1,000,000, according to Buckner, have as directors who are also directors of New York Life. Among those depositories were named the New York Trust Co., $7,000,000; the Bankers' Trust Co., $5,000,000; and the National City Bank $2,000,000. In this connection was introduced a letter dated June 21, 1932, from Gen. Harbord to Darwin P. Kingsley, then board chairman of New York Life.

"As a director of the Bankers' Trust Co., I want to thank you for the deposit of a round million which the New York Life has recently made. As a director of your own company, I want to express my appreciation."

"I regard the directorships in those two companies as quite the best thing that has come to me in business life, and it is very satisfactory to see this mutual relationship established between them."

"My cordial regards to you."

Fees "Pure Coincidence."

Arthur A. Ballantine, former assistant Secretary of the Treasury, became a director of New York Life in April, 1934. Ballantine related. Prior to that date the insurance company had paid no fees to Ballantine's firm, Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantine. But since then, according to the witness, New York Life has paid fees to the firm amounting to about $25,371.

"It was all pure coincidence," protested the witness when asked for an explanation.

Thomas A. Buckner, board chairman of the New York Life Insurance Co., stated that it has assets of about $2,700,000,000 and policies in force of just under seven billions. These sums were only approximate, he apologized amid laughter, because "unfortunately I have never had a head for figures."

of New York Life for 59 years. "I regard insurance as the greatest benefactor of the human race."

Buckner asserted that the attendance of directors of New York Life at board meetings was exemplary.

"I've never known one of them to be absent on account of other business," he said. "If they were away, it was because of sickness or because they were off somewhere on a yacht, or were taking a trip around the world."

A schedule introduced in evidence purported to show that directors of the New York Life are affiliated with 20 banks and trust companies, 44 industrial companies, one life insurance company, 3 casualty and surety companies and 14 fire and marine insurance concerns, besides department stores and publishing houses.

Agents' Testimony Barred.

Over vehement protests from Samuel I. Roth, president of the Employees' Fidelity Organization, a body of 1800 Metropolitan Life agents representing 89 district offices in the New York area, the committee this morning refused to hear his testimony or that of any of his followers, of whom 100 appeared yesterday at the hearing.

Roth wished to testify, he said, that a CIO stratagem lay behind evidence given by other Metropolitan agents that they had forged the names of policyholders to ballots in the company's elections of directors. Hearings are pending before the New York State Labor Board as to the Metropolitan's alleged opposition to the unionization of its agents.

Acting Chairman Hatton W. Summers announced that the committee presumed Roth and his associates were ready to swear they had not engaged in falsifying ballots and had no knowledge of the practice. But there is a point in taking evidence, he said, beyond which it is impracticable to proceed if the proportions of the record are to remain reasonable.

JUDGES STILL TRYING TO PICK
JURIST TO HEAR VOTE CASES

Meet in General Term for Two Hours Without Decision; to Hold Another Session.

A special meeting of the Circuit Judges in general term, called yesterday to select a new Judge to try three fraud cases growing out of the election last November, lasted two hours but was adjourned without a decision. Another meeting was scheduled for late today.

The three regular Judges of the criminal divisions have disqualified themselves for the cases because they were elected in November. On Feb. 6, Judge Thomas J. Rore Jr. was chosen by lot, but yesterday he announced that he had represented one of the defendants, Frank Reader, in a civil case about 15 years ago.

There has been speculation among persons interested in the case as to whether Judge Michael J. Scott, former Alderman and Democratic Committeeman of the Twenty-first Ward, where two of the cases arose, would be considered eligible to try the charges. Doubt also has been expressed that Presiding Judge Robert J. Kirkwood and Judge Harry F. Russell, who has an equity division, would have the time. If these three should be eliminated, seven remaining Judges would be eligible.

POLICEMAN ARRESTED, EMBEZZLING SUSPECT

William H. Whitlock Said to Admit Holding Out Money Solicited for Police Circus.

Patrolman William H. Whitlock, a member of the police force for nearly 18 years, was suspended and arrested on suspicion of embezzlement yesterday after an investigation of apparent alterations of figures on duplicate receipts he turned in for donations to the program fund of the Police Circus to be held in April.

Sergt. Frank C. Dietz, treasurer of the Police Relief Association, which sponsors the circus, said that Whitlock admitted altering figures to indicate that amounts he solicited from merchants were smaller than he actually received, and keeping the difference.

Inspector Adolph Amrhein, who also took part in the investigation, said that alterations making a difference of $12 were found, and that Whitlock would be checked with merchants to learn if other changes were made.

Whitlock was one of the patrolmen in the Carondelet District assigned to solicitation of advertising and donations for the program. He was released last night on a $1000 bond returnable next Tuesday before Judge Joseph L. Simpson of the Court of Criminal Correction. He also will face charges of conduct unbecoming an officer before the Board of Police Commissioners.

He is 46 years old and lives at 3843 Bates street.

His bond was signed by Joe Webbe, professional bondsman.

Patrolman Howard V. Rooney, who was suspended last week and booked suspected of petty larceny after his superiors reported he had told conflicting stories of how he came into possession of three pairs of stolen shoes, has submitted his resignation from the police force, effective today. Rooney also was attached to the Carondelet District Station.

TRUMAN DUBIOUS ABOUT FUN FOR OSCEOLA DAM THIS YEAR

Senator Says He Will Try for Appropriation but Doubts "We Have a Chance."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Senator Truman of Missouri said tonight he would make an effort to obtain an appropriation this year for the $28,000,000 Osceola project on the Osage River in Missouri, but added "I don't believe we have a chance."

J. W. Thurman, chairman of the Osage Valley Conservation Association, is here trying to obtain full start work on the project, ready authorized by Congress. "Truman explained it would be difficult to obtain an appropriation this year because the project is the army engineers' preference."

SENATOR HILL WORKING HARD PUT AMLIE OVER

Alabaman Seeks Support for Wisconsin I. C.
Nominee Among Southerners.

DOUBTFUL, HOWEVER
THAT HE WILL WIN

Complication Arises in Fight
That Labor's Sole Representative on Commission Will Be Replaced.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
Staff Correspondent of Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Believing the scenes while the subcommittee considered the appointment for time to delay a vote, Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama is working for the administration to determine whether it will be possible to obtain sufficient support to confirm Thomas R. Amle to a place on Interstate Commerce Commission.

Immediately after the stormy controversy stirred by President Roosevelt's announcement of appointment of Amle, Hill's chances for Senate approval were regarded as virtually nil. But now, since President has named J. Hayden Rodeg of Alabama to a second place on the commission, political observers believe that Amle's chances for an outside chance.

The Allred appointment, made it has been learned, in hope that it might win the vote of Southern Democrats for Amle and thus avoid the embarrassing defeat. But Hill is said to be those who are collaborating with him to be doubtful that even a slim will be sufficient inducement to secure the necessary votes.

Complication on McNamany. Allred favors ending the free trade agreements that operate, according to the Southern claim, against industry below the Mason and Dixon line. And nothing is closer to the national interest of the South than this question of freight differential.

Unfortunately, however, there is complication in the fact that Allred would replace Frank J. McNamany, who is the sole representative of railroad labor on the commission today. Railroad labor agitators were given to understand at the White House, it is said, that McNamany would be reappointed with McNamany gone no one on the commission would speak for the point of view of labor.

So far the spokesmen for the many brotherhoods have said nothing. But they have not united behind Amle's candidacy. Thus, in fact, the only active support Amle has come from his political associates in Wisconsin.

The Interstate Commerce Commission held hearings on Amle's delaying a vote on appointment for two reasons. First it is hoped that a great deal of the excitement that was aroused when Amle's name was first set in the Senate will subside. Second, the delay gives Hill a chance to sound out sentiment among Southern Senators.

Senator's Task Not Easy. The reaction he has obtained thus far has not been encouraging but nevertheless he is expected to continue the effort to put over the former Wisconsin Representative. The fact that Amle has set out in black and white his frank conclusions on the most controversial issues of the day, as was brought out in the course of the hearings, does not make Hill's task any easier.

The Southeastern Governors' Conference and similar groups with big business backing have come out for an end of the free differentials as between North and South. Hill is arguing that if Southerners in the Senate vote for Amle, then they must vote for Amle, too.

At the office of Senator John H. Chafee, chairman of the subcommittee, who is in the Midwest making a political speech, it was said that no meeting of the group has been scheduled for the vote on Amle will probably not be taken for a week or days. The third Democratic member of the committee is Sen. Schwartz of Wyoming. He will vote in favor of Amle, but is not taking any very active part in putting him over. The Republican member is Senator Austin of Vermont and Senator Reed of Kansas.

TRUMAN DUBIOUS ABOUT FUN FOR OSCEOLA DAM THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Senator Truman of Missouri said tonight he would make an effort to obtain an appropriation this year for the $28,000,000 Osceola project on the Osage River in Missouri, but added "I don't believe we have a chance."

J. W. Thurman, chairman of the Osage Valley Conservation Association, is here trying to obtain full start work on the project, ready authorized by Congress. "Truman explained it would be difficult to obtain an appropriation this year because the project is the army engineers' preference."

SENATOR HILL WORKING HARD TO PUT AMIE OVER
Alabama Seeks Support for Wisconsin I. C. C.
Nominee Among Southerners.
DOUBTFUL, HOWEVER
Complication Arises in Fact That Labor's Sole Representative on Commission Will Be Replaced.
By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Behind the scenes while the subcommittee considering the appointment stalls for time to delay a vote, Senator Hill of Alabama is working for the administration to determine whether it will be possible to obtain sufficient support to confirm Thomas R. Amie to a place on the Interstate Commerce Commission.
Immediately after the storm of controversy stirred by President Roosevelt's announcement of the appointment, Amie's chances of Senate approval were regarded as virtually nil. But now, since the President has named J. Hayden Al-lredge of Alabama to a second vacancy on the commission, political observers believe that Amie has at least an outside chance.
The Allredge appointment was made, it has been learned, in the hope that it might win the votes of Southern Democrats for Amie. and thus avoid the embarrassing defeat. But Hill is said by those who are collaborating with him to be doubtful that even this will be sufficient inducement.
Complication on McManamy.
Allredge favors ending the freight differential that operates, according to the Southern claim, against industry below the Mason and Dixon line. And nothing is closer to the national interest of the South than this question of freight differentials.
Unfortunately, however, there is a complication in the fact that Allredge would replace Frank Mc-Manamy, who is the sole representative of railroad labor on the commission today. Railroad labor executives were given to understand at the White House, it is said, that McManamy would be reappointed.
With McManamy gone, no one on the commission would speak from the point of view of labor.
So far the spokesmen for the railway brotherhoods have said nothing. But they have not united behind Amie's candidacy. Thus far, in fact, the only active support for Amie has come from his political associates in Wisconsin.
The Interstate Commerce Subcommittee that held hearings on Amie is delaying a vote on the appointment for two reasons. First, it is hoped that a great deal of the excitement that was aroused when Amie's name was first sent to the Senate will subside. And, second, the delay gives Hill a chance to sound out sentiment among Southern Senators.
Senator's Task Not Easy.
The reaction Hill obtained
thus far has not been encouraging, but nevertheless he is expected to continue the effort to put over the former Wisconsin Representative.
The fact that Amie has set down in black and white his frank conditions on the most controversial issue of the day, as was brought out in the course of the hearings, does not make Hill's task any easier.
The Southeastern Governors' Conference and similar groups with big business backing have come out for an end of the freight differential as between North and South. Hill is arguing that if the Southerners in the Senate want Allredge, then they must take Amie, too.
At the office of Senator Johnson (Dem., Colorado, chairman of the subcommittee, who is in the Middle West making a political speech, it was said that no meeting of the group has been scheduled and the vote on Amie will probably not be taken for a week or 10 days. The third Democratic member of the committee is Senator Schwartz of Wyoming. He will vote in favor of Amie, but is not taking any very active part in putting him over. The Republican members are Senator Austin of Vermont and Senator Reed of Kansas.

WOMAN PRISONER SAYS SHE STOLE LEGISLATOR'S AUTO
She Is Arrested After Attempt to Rob Dress Shop in Chicago
Suburb.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—A young woman was held by State's Attorney's investigators last night after an attempt to rob a dress shop in a suburb.
First refusing to disclose her identity, she told police later she was Anna Peg Riley and that her home was in Bloomington, Ill.
She said she did not know State Representative Nicholas J. Mastro, whose automobile, the Park Ridge police chief said, she admitted stealing in downtown Chicago.
At Springfield Mastro said, "I don't know anything about this holdup business. I lent my car to a perfectly respectable woman, but he refused to identify her."
Police said the woman entered the dress shop Monday night, drew a pistol and demanded that a clerk give her the money in the cash register. The clerk dashed for the street, the woman pursuing. The clerk's screams drew aid from a passerby.
MEXICAN CANDIDATES FRIENDS
One Presidential Aspirant to Give Banquet for Other Two.
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 15.—Gen.
Francisco Mugica, presidential candidate, announced today he was planning a banquet for his two leading rivals to show the people that three are friends despite political rivalry. All formerly were in the Government together, Gen.
Mugica, as Communications Secretary, Gen. Maximini Avila Camicho as War Secretary, and Gen.
Rafael Sanchez Tapia as commander of the Federal Military Zone.
Members of the Cabinet have promised to abstain from activities in the 1940 campaign, the Government Press Bureau announced.
President Cardenas declared this was done "to keep the people from having barriers in the free expression of their will."

INDUSTRIALIST OFFERS RECOVERY PROPOSAL
General Foods Head Says Way Is Through Private Investment.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—C. M. Chester of New York, chairman of General Foods Corporation, said today the $80,000,000,000 to $90,000,000 national income held up as a goal by President Roosevelt might be attained through renewed activity in private investment and private enterprise.
He was the principal speaker at a conference sponsored by the American Management Association and attended by industrial relations executives and authorities from nearly every industry in the country.
"In spite of paralyzing tax burden and world-wide economic disorders we still can create recovery here at home through self-improvement," Chester said.
"The beginning lies in a widespread betterment in industrial relations. It is only when we help the employees to improve themselves, economically and technically, that a real start is made."

He said the economic life depended on the adoption of democratic principles in industrial life.
Democracy vs. Dictatorship.
"Industrial efficiency may be briefly enhanced by fiat," he said.
"The decisions of a Hitler or Mussolini may speed up operations but we know that the end result can only be economic cannibalism. Far better, far more enduring, are the slow, and sure, and, at times, mud-dling processes of our own political and industrial democracies."
"Beginning with bettered industrial relations," he continued, "we might effect widespread efficiency which would lower prices to the consumers, increase production and stimulate re-employment."
"For example, gross manufacturing income in 1936 was close to $15-000,000,000. A 25 per cent increase in efficiency would do more to stimulate re-employment and economic recovery than twice three and three-quarters billions expended by Government pump-priming."
"Day of Dictation Gone."
C. R. Dooley, industrial relations manager of the Soco-Vacuum Oil Co. of New York, said in an address: "The day has gone when management ruled by dictation.
That never was an efficient method anyway. Employees could always outsmart a tyrannical boss.
Management by consent and through understanding is not only more efficient but it engenders harmony, peace and a maximum of cooperation whereby employees seek of their own volition to go beyond their instructions in carrying out the interests of the company."

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The Pope who ascends the throne in succession to Pius XI—the Pope of Peace—must assume an international burden so great that the scarcely sensed its magnitude the aged man who had carried it for so long. Recognition of the part played by Pius XI in the world's problems seen in the fact that his death for the moment stilled the wrangling that was going on between great European nations. New Pope to Inherit Series Of Grave International Issues

Among His Problems Will Be Fascist and Nazi Racial Doctrines and Youth Movements, Which Pius XI Fought.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The Pope who ascends the throne in succession to Pius XI—the Pope of Peace—must assume an international burden so great that the world scarcely sensed its magnitude until the aged man who had carried it was forced to lay it down.

Recognition of the part played by Pius XI in the world's problems at the moment stilled the bitter wrangling that was going on between great European nations. It is seen, too, in the eager speculation in many capitals regarding the identity of the next Pope.

Among his problems, the new Pope will encounter several which have been issues between the church and the Fascist state. Some of these involve policies which are both Fascist and German Nazi. Clash Over Doctrine of Race.

The Jewish question broke in Italy last July when Fascism proclaimed its doctrine of race, affirming (as had the Nazis) the superiority of the Aryans and decreeing against intermixture with non-Aryan elements, such as Jews. The church, declining to subscribe to any philosophy that erects barriers between races, immediately took issue with Fascism, as it had with Hitler's Aryan theories.

But that wasn't all. Last fall new Fascist laws were promulgated making marriages between Jews and Italian Aryans illegal. The Vatican charges that this violates the concordat of 1929 which recognized church marriages as having the full force of civil ceremonies. The church maintains its right to marry whom it will.

Then there was the Fascist Government's opposition to the Catholic Action, a layman's organization aiming at educating the social, civic, moral and religious conscience of the Italian nation. The Government said the Action was meddling in politics, which was denied.

Pope's Comment on Swastika.

At the time of Hitler's trip to Rome last May, the Catholic Action was hostile to the visit. The Vatican newspaper, Osservatore Romano, then quoted Pope Pius as saying about Hitler's arrival that it was a "sad thing" that "it is not considered exceedingly out of place and untimely to hoist in Rome on Holy Cross day the insignia of another cross that is not the cross of Christ." Rome was decorated with swastikas.

In July the Pope again was quoted in the Osservatore as saying: "Who injures Catholic Action injures the Pope, and who injures the Pope, dies." The word "dies" was interpreted as meaning "dies spiritually."

Another grave problem revolves about the Fascist movement. The Vatican says this trespasses on the church's prerogative to look after youth's moral instructions in school, as provided for in the concordat. The youth movement is calculated to inculcate into the young people all the principles of Fascism. By the same token the Hitler youth movement in Germany is designed to Nazify every young mind in the country.

ACTOR'S $100,000 SUIT OVER SMASHED THUMB THROWN OUT

Judge Holds Richard Bennett Should Know Better Than to Get Pinched in Door.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—United States Judge John C. Knox ruled yesterday that a grown man who "knew no better than to insert his thumb between the hinge side of a door and the jamb on which the door was being fitted" must suffer the consequences.

He gave this opinion in dismissing a suit for $100,000 filed against a hotel by Richard Bennett, actor-father of Constance, Joan and Barbara of the movies.

Bennett complained the hotel's carpenter smashed his left thumb in the manner described, that as a result he was absent from rehearsals of "On Borrowed Time," and that the role of "Grampa" was won during his convalescence by Dudley Digges.

SWEDEN, HOLLAND SENDING MORE GOLD TO UNITED STATES

Former, for First Time in Recent Weeks, Is Building Up Reserve in This Country.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Wall street reported yesterday the arrival of about $3,800,000 in gold from Sweden and additional heavy shipments from Holland.

A consignment of $14,700,000 from Europe included about $11,000,000 from Holland, which has been reported moving part of its gold abroad to provide cash for purchases.

3 U. S. DEPUTIES SUSPENDED IN JURY TAMPERING CASE

One Washington Marshal's Aid Admits Accepting Money From Lawyers for Alleged Racket.

INCOME TAX HEARING ENDED IN MISTRIAL

Two Plead Guilty of Contempt—Denial by Attorneys—Murphy Plans Using Civil Service.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Two more Deputy United States Marshals were suspended today in a jury-tampering investigation which developed from trial of the alleged leaders in the capital's numbers racket, which is estimated to have done a business of $2,000,000 a year.

Emmitt Warring, accused of being the racket's "brains," and his brothers, Charles and Leo, are charged with conspiracy to defraud the Government of income taxes. Their first trial last fall resulted in a deadlocked jury. Their second resulted in a mistrial last week, when a deputy marshal, John B. Upperman, said he accepted money and liquor from Emmitt Warring's attorneys. Upperman and Emmitt Warring pleaded guilty to a contempt charge and are awaiting sentence. An inquiry is in progress regarding the other two suspended deputies. The two attorneys named by Upperman have denied his accusations and have withdrawn as the Warrings' counsel.

Tells of Drinking Liquor.
Upperman testified that he and five jurors drank liquor furnished by Warring, and that he obtained money from Harry T. Whelan and William B. O'Connell, attorneys. The latter two defended Warring against charges that he and others plotted to defraud the Treasury of taxes by hiding large profits of their numbers game.

Whelan and O'Connell are scheduled to answer contempt citations against themselves Friday. Three more persons—Carl T. Denekas, a juror; Harry Fine and Thomas Harrison Quinlan, described as friends of Emmitt Warring—were cited for contempt yesterday.

Denekas had testified that he was approached by Warring and offered $600 by Fine, and that he did not report the matter until several days after the trial began, when he said he suffered twinges of conscience.

Betterment Is Planned.
Attorney-General Murphy is said to be planning improvement in all U. S. Marshal's staffs as a result of the disclosures.

Some authorities have said the general standards for deputy marshals should be raised. They point to the political nature of many appointments under the present system, and to low salaries. The latter, they say, make the temptation to take "outside money" doubly dangerous, especially in the larger cities where living expenses are high.

Murphy is reported to be considering recommending that the deputies be placed under civil service.

Representative Ramspeck (Dem., Georgia), is sponsoring a bill to do this. His measure provides that deputies now in office would be given civil service status if they made a passing grade on 70 better in non-competitive examinations. Those who failed to pass could continue in office if their superiors desired to keep them, but future appointees would have to take civil service examinations in competition with other candidates.

PAROLED FORMER BANKER IS INDICTED AS A GAMBLER

Man Once Sentenced for $500,000 Swindle, Named in Grand Junction (Colo.) Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.
GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Feb. 15.—Charles Delos Waggoner, former banker at Telluride, Colo., who was convicted in 1929 of a $500,000 swindle on New York bank, was indicted yesterday as a card dealer in a Grand Junction gambling house.

Waggoner, now 64 years old, was one of 13 men named in indictments returned by a grand jury in Telluride before coming to Grand Junction 17 years ago. District Attorney Haywood said Eames gave Waggoner a job at his club after Waggoner appeared in Grand Junction 18 months ago.

Waggoner, sentenced to 15 years in Atlanta Federal prison after his trial in New York in 1929, was released on parole in May, 1935.

SENATE COMMITTEE ACCUSES REPUBLIC STEEL POLICEMAN

It Asks Justice Department to Act on Charge He Assaulted, Intimidated Witnesses.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Senate Civil Liberties Committee asked the Justice Department yesterday to take action against D. W. Jones, captain of Republic Steel Co. police, in connection with alleged assault on one committee witness and alleged intimidation of another.

The committee accused Jones of Cleveland, O., of assaulting Bernard Rebusk and of threatening Howard Cavan on Dec. 24, 1938. Both men are mechanics employed by the Dawson Buick Co. of Elwood, Ind. Rebusk and Cavan testified during the committee's investigation of the "little steel" strike, that they had found what appeared to be a spy report in a car traded in by Jones. They said it was addressed to a person connected with Republic and concerned union activities of the company's employees in Cleveland. Jones denied any knowledge of the report. The committee attorneys said Jones had admitted in an affidavit that he had spoken to Cavan and had struck Rebusk after removing Rebusk's eyeglasses.

Jones said the two had made disparaging remarks about Jones' sisters.

MOUNTAIN GANGSTER KILLED, TWO TRAPPED

One of Three Brothers Shot to Death in Gunfight With Police in W. Virginia.

By the Associated Press.
MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Feb. 15.—A robber was shot to death and two others, one wounded, were captured in a midnight fight with State police during an attempted robbery of the Hardy County Farm Bureau warehouse, Police Captain Arnold Moore reported today.

Moore identified the three as brothers and members of a gang he said was accused of more than 35 robberies in the Lost River Valley, near the Virginia border. The dead man, Moore reported, was Lee Shumaker, 28-year-old escaped convict. He said the others were Hade Shumaker, 27, struck in the right leg by buckshot; and Roy Shumaker, 28.

Acting on a tip, State police concentrated at the warehouse during the night hoping to catch the gang that had eluded them for months in mountain hideouts. Moore said police learned the brothers planned to rob the warehouse and then attempt to free two other members of the band held in jail at Petersburgh 20 miles away.

The officer said the pair at Petersburgh were Randolph Shumaker, father of the Lode brothers, and Roy Skinner Fultz, a cousin described as leader of the gang.

The Shumakers, whom Moore described as mountain outlaws and former moonshiners, live far back in the mountains almost on the Virginia border.

From that retreat, Moore said, they had harried the eastern section of West Virginia, robbing stores and homes, stealing and killing cattle and terrorizing mountain dwellers. Moore said officers permitted the three brothers to enter the warehouse and break open the safe door, then called on them to surrender.

The command was answered by gunfire. Moore said Lee Shumaker broke a window and hurled himself to the ground. Corporal Gail W. Busch shouted for Shumaker to surrender but more shots followed. Busch returned the fire, Moore said, and the escaped convict fell dead. In the meantime, officers inside had surrounded the two remaining brothers after Hade Shumaker suffered his leg wound. Roy Shumaker was unhurt.

DETROIT BOARD DROPS RED CHARGE AGAINST TEACHERS

Investigators Report They Found No Evidence of Subversive Instruction in Schools.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Feb. 15.—The Detroit Board of Education dismissed yesterday charges that 10 of its teachers were Communists.

A report signed by A. Douglas Jamieson, Mrs. Laura Osborne and Frank A. Gorman, board members, and Superintendent of Schools Frank Cody said they found no evidence of subversive teaching.

Dies committee witnesses here last fall told of "evidence of Communism" among Detroit school teachers. The board's report said "a number of teachers" admitted attending certain meetings, but denied Communist party membership or "sympathy with the popular conception of Communist objectives—namely, the overthrow of the Government."

Adequate and Dependable

Last year the Illinois Central System met the needs of business and individuals by carrying 9,412,956,488 tons of freight one mile and 604,649,960 passengers one mile.

That's adequate and dependable transportation.

To serve so completely and successfully is the ideal of a common carrier. It means we must be prepared to carry anything, any time, anywhere we go.

Nor may we discriminate. We must take care of all.

Adequate transportation requires track, power and cars in volume ample for the business. Dependable transportation requires loyal, willing, intelligent operation.

The proper combination of these factors is a large order, but we filled that order last year, and we will fill it again.

Spring's on the way! Get out and meet it!

Easy on the eye—easy to buy—on General Motors terms!

NO, WE'RE not trying to beat the gun—
—we'll be seeing quite a lot of winter before the spring buds burst.

But spring always has come—and with it a sudden itch to get out and see the awakening world. And also—all too often—the sad discovery that to get the new car you want, you've got to wait till a flock of others get theirs!

So what? So take steps now—to meet spring halfway!

Forget that old, worn-out notion that there's a season for buying cars and a season for not buying cars!

Take steps to retire that slow-motion number you're driving now—and replace it with a Buick bursting with newness and get-up-and-git.

Put a Dynafash straight-eight under your toe to do battle with tough winter going—get the comfort of BuicOil Springing to float you smoothly over rough and rutted roads.

Get a new outlook for winter horizons or for spotting the first flush of green on the meadows in Buick's "visibility unlimited," which gives you as much as 412 more square inches of safety plate glass to see through.

Then consider also: Your present car is worth less each day as a trade-in. The risk of repair bills grows steadily greater. Old rubber's dangerous, tired batteries a bore—and a bright new Buick is sound and supple all through.

Besides—the cost of keeping up an old car will go a long way toward meeting your monthly payments on a new one. And Buick's prices—as of course you know—are lower than a year ago, lower than you'd expect, lower than some sizes!

So why not drop in to talk it over? You'll probably want to get your Buick while the getting's good!

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

- * DYNAFLASH VALVE-IN-HEAD STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE * BUICOL TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING * GREATER VISIBILITY * HANDSHIPT TRANSMISSION * ROOMIER UNSTEEL BODY BY FISHER * TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE * TIPTOE HYDRAULIC BRAKES * CROWN SPRING CLUTCH * "CATWALK-COOLING" * OPTIONAL REAR AXLE GEAR RATIOS * FLASH-WAY DIRECTION SIGNAL * SELF-BANKING KNEE-ACTION FRONT SPRINGING

GLOVES FINALISTS TO BE DECIDED TONIGHT IN 92 CONTESTS

50 From Out of Town Survive Second Night's Program, Featured by 39 Knockouts.

By W. J. McGoogan.
The fourth annual St. Louis District Golden Gloves tournament is beginning to crystallize. Tonight some 124 boys fight the quarterfinals and the semifinals to determine the 16 in the novice and the 16 in the open divisions who will battle for the championships Friday night.

And the out-of-town boys, making a better showing than in previous years, have placed about one-third in tonight's battling of around 92 contests. Some 50 boys from outside the city, that is including the county and East St. Louis as out-of-towners, will compete with some 74 boys from local organizations at the Auditorium.

About three and one-half hours of battling last night reduced the field to its present limits when 28 actual and 11 technical knockouts were scored with seven defeats, and one bout ended in a foul. The rest went to decisions.

Strong Herculean Team.
The Herculean (Mo.) team provided the outstanding performance as eight of its boys went on to the next night's schedule. One of them was fortunate enough to draw a bye, while the others won and only one of them lost. That was in the final bout of the evening in which a Herculean boy participated and then Jim Plesner was beaten by Milford Bolinger of Cape Girardeau.

The Hamilton (Mo.) team came through with six victories and not a defeat as Harry Trendall, coach of the squad, sat anxiously in the corner.

There were some upsets turned in, too, as Johnny Wotawa of the South Broadway A. C. fell before the busy fists of Austin Gilliam of Herculean. A winner Monday night, Wotawa had been favored to go through perhaps to the finals of the welterweight open division but he ran afoul of a hard punch by Gilliam and was on the floor taking a count as the bell rang ending the second round. He was never able to overcome that handicap.

Eric Koberg of Belleville, seeking his third Golden Gloves title, this time in the open lightweight division, found a tough customer in Bill Scallie of Sherman Community Center. Koberg was too experienced for Scallie and gave Bill a pretty severe trimming. At the final bell Scallie was on the floor perhaps for keeps but the bell saved him from a knockout.

Al Dorcas Meets Koberg.
Al Dorcas of the County, who incidentally meets Koberg tonight in what should prove one of the card's feature matches, won a hard fought decision over James Nixon of the Argus A. C.

Charley Dreyfus, a lefthander of the Y. M. H. A. in the lightweight novice division, scored his second knockout victory when he dropped Leland Hahn in the second round. Milton Jones, a Negro of the Pine Street Y. M. C. A., meets Joe Thaler of the Boys' Club in another feature match of tonight's card. Jones, a hard, straight puncher, seems to have as much or more possibilities than any of the newer contestants in the tournament.

There was a sensational bout to advance a technical knockout over John Smith, Negro boy of Tandy A. C. Thaler was on the floor first but got up and in a wild swinging contest had Smith down a time or two. Smith jumped up before the count of 10 on his last trip to the canvas but the referee stopped the match and held up Thaler's hand.

The two boys fought such a vicious battle that spectators all over the building applauded them both as they left the ring and continued the applause until they had disappeared from sight on the way to their dressing room.

Jones won over Millard Rickard of the Souldard A. C. on a technical knockout in the first round when Gale Bullman, coach of the Missouri School of Mines football team, stopped a tournament referee, stopped the match after Rickard had spent two terms on the canvas, for a seven count and once for six.

Rickard's handler, Joe Herbst Jr., a former district amateur welterweight champion, complained bitterly about Bullman stopping the match but Gale explained that it appeared to him that Rickard was outclassed and he didn't want the boy to be injured.

Frank Sidlow, a perennial Golden Gloves winner, was the first match in the middleweight open division with a victory over Buddy Green of the Brown Bombers' A. C. Sidlow, premature bald, is a member of the South Broadway A. C.

Martin Singer of the Y. M. H. A. suffered serious injury when he was defeated by James Nelson of Armstrong A. C. in the middleweight open. Singer, obviously not in condition, couldn't stand the pace set by Nelson.

The paid attendance was announced as $123, receipts $192.25, and in addition there were 450 boys scouts present as guests of the Globe-Democrat under whose auspices the tournament is conducted.

(Complete results of last night's bouts will be found on Page 4 of this section.)

No "Stalling" in the Amateur Fight Game

Knockdowns were numerous at the Auditorium last night as the Golden Gloves tournament advanced to the semifinals. Above: Gordon Boersman of Columbia, Mo., retreats to a neutral corner after knocking Mike James, St. Francis de Sales, to the floor. To the right: Adrian Balkenbush, St. Louis County, outpointing Vernon Weygandt, Fellowship club.

He Lives, Yet Is Dead.

KING GUSTAVUS V of Sweden stood up in the royal box at the Olympic Stadium in Stockholm, one midsummer day in 1912. Before him a dark-skinned, lithe yet muscular young man listened intently when the royal spokesman addressed him as follows:

"Sir, you are the greatest athlete in all the world!"

And yet if you scan the Olympic and the A. A. U. athletic books of today and for years past you'll find no clue as to who that dark young fellow could have been. Not a line indicates that he had won both the pentathlon and the decathlon events, supreme tests of the Olympic program. In fact, the record of that year credits two entirely different persons with victories in those trying ordeals.

It was the Sac and Fox Indian, James Thorpe, a student of the Carlisle Indian School, to whom King Gustav addressed his remarks. As trophies of his victories he received a bronze bust of King Gustav for winning the pentathlon and a replica in gold and precious stones of a Viking ship, as the prize for his decathlon victory.

Today, Thorpe has neither of the prizes gained by his victories, nor a place in the record books telling about his achievements. Athletically, he is a forgotten man. He still lives, but in the record book he no longer exists.

He Told About Thorpe.

THORPE'S CASE was revived this week by the death of a 74-year-old Worcester (Mass.) sports writer, who was credited with having turned in the information that blotted out the famous Indian athlete's achievements. He was Patrick H. Dowd and, according to Worcester dispatches, it was he who first laid before the A. A. U. evidence that Thorpe, as a collegian, had professionalized himself by playing with the Winston-Salem (S. C.) baseball team for money and under an assumed name.

It happened in a day when many college boys played "summer baseball" to help pay their expenses through school. Brown and other universities recognized the practice and did not disqualify their athletes. They considered that playing professional

ROLLA MINERS LOSE EIGHTH GAME IN ROW

By the Associated Press.
ROLLA, Mo., Feb. 15.—Successful in about 90 per cent of their shots, the Cape Girardeau Teachers handed the Missouri School of Mines their eighth straight loss in an M. C. A. U. basketball game here last night, 52 to 29.

With six players getting from 6 to 9 points each, the Indians led practically throughout, with the half time score in their favor, 29-13.

KANSAS U. DEFEATS NEBRASKA, 49 TO 46, IN BIG SIX THRILLER

LAWRENCE, Kan., Feb. 15.—Kansas defeated Nebraska, 49-46, last night in a Big Six basketball game that was neck and neck all the way. The game put the Jayhawkers into a tie for second place and dumped the Huskers into fourth.

Tyman Corliss, Kansas forward, and Alton Werner, Husker forward, each bagged 18 points. Kansas led at the half, 29-26.

STAGEHAND AT HIALEAH FOR $50,000 RACE

By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15.—Maxwell Howard's Stagehand, leading 1938 money winner with $189,710, arrived at Hialeah Park today to finish training for one of the year's top horse races, a bout with War Admiral, Pasturebred, Bull Lea and other handicap stars in the $50,000 added Widener Challenge Cup March 4.

Trainer Earl Sande, the "handy guy," accompanied Stagehand, winner of last year's $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap over Seabiscuit, from his Columbia (S. C.) training quarters.

Sande never let the horse out of his sight as he walked a half-mile from the unloading platform to the stable.

"It's a big order," Sande grinned when asked if he thought Stagehand could beat the Admiral. "But you can't beat him if you don't race him. Stagehand has been training well and is a natural distance horse. The trip here didn't seem to bother him any."

Meantime, the Admiral hasn't been nominated for anything prior to the Widener, which he won last year and doubtless regards as his personal property. He and his crotchety trainer, George Conway, have a stable clear off to themselves at Hialeah and aren't saying anything to anybody.

But the Admiral is out for an early gallop every day, and about every fourth day they let him out loose and do some real running. They say he looks like the wings of the morning, that the 24-to-1 winter book odds against him are generous indeed, providing only that something doesn't happen to him before the Widener.

Here and there, however, can be found an obstinate track figure who declares that "Stagehand will run him into the ground," or one who thinks Bull Lea will lick both of them, or still another who knows that the outsider, Xavier, is a cinch if it comes up mud.

Miners Take Swim Meet.

By the Associated Press.
ROLLA, Mo., Feb. 15.—Taking first in seven of the eight events and tying the other, the Missouri School of Mines swimming team defeated the Springfield Teachers, 55 to 19, here yesterday.

Whipple was the only Springfield contestant to claim a first place, and he had to share honors in the diving contest with Hancock of the Miners. Hancock also won the 100-yard breast stroke for scoring honors.

Jimmy Reddick in Action At the Auditorium Tonight

By Robert Morrison
An embryonic Olympian will be seen at the Golden Gloves show tonight when Jimmy Reddick, Slaughter A. C. light heavyweight, goes into action for the first time in the three-ring tournament at the Auditorium. His quarterfinal opponent will be Robert Johnson of the Brown Bombers.

Jimmy has a good chance to make the United States team that will go to Finland for the international games in 1940.

Last fall he was one of this country's representatives in the Pan-American matches at Buenos Aires and he made the best record of any boxer on the team—four victories in five bouts, three by knockouts.

On his return, National A. A. U. Secretary Dan Ferris told Jimmy that although today was the deadline for signing, "I don't know a single man on the roster who can be classed as a holdout."

The Pirates sold outfielder Melvin Priebech, formerly of the University of Texas, to Albany in the Eastern League. Priebech has been named to Savannah in 1937 and to Albany last year.

Sent to Brownies' Farm.
Johnny Lucadello, infielder from the Johnston club of the Middle Atlantic League, has been sent by the Browns to the San Antonio (Texas League) farm. Vice-President DeWitt announced today.

Three Red Sox Unsigned.
By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Feb. 15.—Only three players remained unsigned on the Boston Red Sox roster, General Manager Eddie Collins announced, with receipt of the contract of pitcher Denny Galehouse, who came here from Cleveland. They are pitchers Jake Wade, acquired from Detroit; Fritz Ostermuller, with the Red Sox last year, and catcher George Dickcy.

Heath Holding Out.
By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, Feb. 15.—The Cleveland Indians' rookie batting sensation, 23-year-old Geoffrey (Jeff) Heath, today became No. 6 on the tribal list of holdouts.

The outfielder, who batted .343 last season to finish second to league-leader Ted Williams, wired Cleveland sports writer from his Seattle home that the terms of the contract offered him are "very unsatisfactory."

Frank Kohlbecker, the club's business manager, was optimistic nevertheless.

Heath signed up before long," he said. "Remember we had the same trouble last year."

Heath joins Mel Harder, Hal Trosky, Lynn Lary, Frankie Pytkal and Willis Hudlin in the holdout camp.

Among the eight referees assigned to handle the fights is Dan Schlafly, young St. Louisan of social standing. Schlafly boxed at Georgetown University and has refereed bouts at club meets. Jimmy Parker, a former fighter, is another referee.

St. Paul Routs Oilers, 7 to 1

By the Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 15.—ST. PAUL RUMPLED to a 7-to-1 triumph over Tulsa in an American Hockey Association game last night to break the Saints' own seasonal consecutive victory record with a total of nine and clinch their hold on third place with a margin of two full games.

The Saints opened the bombardment with two counters in the first period, added another pair in the second stanza and another in the third period to lead, 5 to 0, before the Oilers scored their lone tally of the game. Gross saved Tulsa from a shutout at 10:30 in the final period on a pass from Wakeford.

Heximer, St. Paul wing, scored three goals, two of them in the second period, and with Carignan, 42 saves, while the play of his teammates forced Lopresti to only 12 stops in the Saints' nets.

HERB PETERSON AND DEARDORFF WIN IN THREE-CUSHION PLAY

In the Metropolitan three-cushion billiard tournament now in progress at Peterson's, Herb Peterson and Gene Deardorff were winners of their matches last night. Peterson defeated Ed Summer, 50-49, in 73 innings, while Deardorff won from Al Novack, 50 to 32, in 64 innings.

Tonight L. M. Hacker plays Bob Forsnell and Billy Smith meets Ossie Barron.

The Metropolitan standings are:

East Siders Win Again.
Defeating Alton High School, 21-16, last night, East St. Louis High won the wrestling championship of the Southwestern Illinois Conference. In the past six years East St. Louis either has tied for or won the title every season.

RUFFING DENIES HE IS HOLDOUT; L. WANER SIGNS

By the Associated Press.
LONG BEACH, Cal., Feb. 15.—Red Ruffing, star pitcher for the New York Yankees, denies reports from New York that he is a holdout.

The only American League pitcher to win more than 20 games each year for three successive years admitted today he had returned his contract to New York unsigned and did not divulge why, but—"I'm not a holdout."

Ruffing said he would leave here March 1 for St. Petersburg, Fla., to join the Yankees in training.

Six Pirates Are Unsigned.
By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 15.—Six Pittsburgh Pirates were still unsigned today as the manager announced acquisition of hurler Ed Brandt and outfielder Lloyd Waner had agreed to terms for the coming season. They are outfielder Paul Waner, utility infielder Bill Brubaker, pitchers Bill Swift, Jim Tobin and Russell Bauers and captain and first baseman Gus Suhr.

President Bill Benbowser said that although today was the deadline for signing, "I don't know a single man on the roster who can be classed as a holdout."

The Pirates sold outfielder Melvin Priebech, formerly of the University of Texas, to Albany in the Eastern League. Priebech has been named to Savannah in 1937 and to Albany last year.

Flyers Seeking Sixth Straight Victory Tonight

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 15.—Johnny MacKinnon's St. Louis Flyers, undefeated in their last five starts, will seek their sixth consecutive victory and hope to put an end to the Minneapolis Miller streak of 16 consecutive triumphs on their home ice, when they meet Ching Johnson's crew in an American Hockey Association game tonight.

The Flyers have not been defeated on their home ice since Nov. 13, when the Flyers beat them, 1 to 0, in an overtime period. On the Flyers' last two appearances here the Millers emerged victorious.

However, on the season's play, the St. Louisans hold the edge, having defeated the local sextet five times in the seven games played.

Yawl Escapade Leads in Miami To Nassau Race

NASSAU, Bahamas, Feb. 15.—A spanking wind and clever handling put the Escapade, 72-foot yawl of Henry G. Fownes, into the lead today as 10 yachts sped toward Nassau in the sixth annual sailing race from Miami.

The advantage of the Stamford (Conn.) craft was slim, however, for as she rounded great Isaac Light after covering one-third of the 184-mile course the Wakiva, owned by Harkness Edwards of New York and also a jib-headed yawl, was but two minutes astern.

Robert W. Johnson's yawl Stormy Weather, twice previously the winner and favorite in this race, was 45 minutes behind the leaders.

Stormy Weather swept across the starting line an instant after the gun sounded yesterday. R. J. Reynolds' 55-foot cutter Blitzen was second across the line but fell back during the run to Great Isaac. Escapade was third at the start.

McKinley, Roosevelt Win.
In swimming meets yesterday, McKinley High defeated Southwest Sperry, 90-46, in 103 innings. The remaining schedule: Roosevelt vs. Tubbsing, Gundlach vs. Sperry, Hoeefe vs. Hoeefe vs. Tubbsing, and Sawtelle vs. Tubbsing.

EXTRA IN THE RACE

Color for Browns.
Bill De Witt is looking over samples of new uniforms for the St. Louis Americans and the boys probably will be togged out in brighter colors and wider stripes in shadow letters of light brown and orange with two-tone satin stripes down the sides of the pants. . . . Bill also hopes there will be more streamlined Brownie base hits. . . . The minor league concession department has crowded Charley Barrett and the other Cardinal scouts into the back room of the new office on Dodder street.

A major league ball club is considering an appeal to the postoffice department about a series of poison pen letters which put the blast on one of its players. The club thinks it knows the offender from which some of the envelopes started. Cupid and gunpowder are teamed up in the poison-pen's communications, which have been mailed to club officials, newspapers and radio stations.

If there is a dinner for George Sisler, celebrating his entry into baseball's hall of fame, it will be a separate one. It was proposed that a gift of some kind be presented to Gorgeous George at the Browne baseball picture cocktail party and banquet at the Coronado, tomorrow, but the Browns want that to be their exclusive affair, inasmuch as they are standing the tap. There ought to be a dining room full of St. Louis fans however (1922 vintage) who would like to toast the great first baseman.

Could It Happen?
"That was an easy one about the flat bat," said Jack Ryan, Cardinal scout. "I could handle that one easily. The guy went up to the plate with a flat bat, didn't he? Well, he must have known it was flat, didn't he? So he was trying to cheat, wasn't he? I'd call him back and make him bat over if he hit a home run."

"You'd better take to the woods at the same time," said Charley Barrett, the chief scout. "Mather was right. There ain't no rule in the book for a penalty. So that's just one man's opinion, Ryan, and not a very good one."

"It's good enough for me," Ryan retorted.

"How about this one, if you're so good?" Barrett went on under full steam. "They tell me this really happened. Men on second and third. Runner on third gets caught in a run-up. It probably was Heine Mueller, my nephew—he was always doing that. Well, anyhow, he gets caught in a run-up and he's one of those open-shirt boys, like Pepper Martin, who don't like to use buttons and button holes. His shirt is flapping, and on one of the throws the ball goes into the runner's shirt. He runs across the plate and to the dugout and the umpire was on the second follows him across the plate."

"How many runs count, or would you call somebody out and if so who, and how soon should the umpire take to the woods, no matter what the decision? Let's see you answer that one, Ryan."

"That's easy, I'd hold the man—Ryan staid.

One on the House.
"Or if you don't like that one," Barrett interrupted, "here's another to try on Red Roche, who writes postcards and signs John Connors. It happened in a game the House of David played. You know how that club works. It just finds an open field and announces on the sidelines from the grandstand. Well in one of the House games, the outfield weeds were very high and the outfielder who was in the heaviest brush carried an extra ball in his pocket for emergency."

About the seventh inning an emergency card along. The ball hits to left field and the ball is lost. The center fielder, who is carrying the extra ball, runs over to help the left fielder look for the lost ball. He waits till out of the corner of his eye he sees the runner where he can nail him at the base and then all of a sudden he reaches in his shirt where he has hidden the extra ball. He pulls it out, as though picking it from the weeds, and pegs it to the infield. But at the same time the left fielder finds the right ball, the one that was in play, and he pegs it to the infield and so both balls go in at the same time. Now, Ryan, how would you rule a play on either ball?"

"That would be easy," Ryan replied. "I'd hold the man at second."

"Not if you were smart," Barrett snapped. "If you were smart you wouldn't be holding anybody. You would be taking off for the woods."

KENTUCKY U. BOXERS DEFEAT MOUNTAINEERS

By the Associated Press.
LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 15.—The University of Kentucky boxing team turned in a 4½ to 3½ decision over the West Virginia Mountaineers last night.

Last night's engagement was the last of the season for the Wildcats, last of the season for the Mountaineers, and they won three over Tennessee and West Virginia. Last year at Morgantown, W. Va., the Mountaineers tamed the Wildcats.

SEABISCUIT HOWARD STAY OUT OF $10,000 RACE SATURDAY

Injury 'Not as Bad as Expected,' Veterinarian Lameness Less Able After Morning

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—Question of whether Seabiscuit, 1938 handicapped king, will remain untroubled today star six-year-old thoroughbred out of which went lame in a "minor" race at Santa Anita yesterday, was scratched. San Carlos $10,000 Handicap.

Charles S. Howard, owner of Seabiscuit, spent the night in the "Biscuit" keeping cold compresses on the leg that went bad in the first race he beat. A minor at Santa Anita last night, Seabiscuit was given a short walk this morning and the lameness that was parent when he left the track yesterday after finishing second today, was less noticeable.

Howard never-the-less the thoroughbred out of a sixteenth-event Saturday or two, none close to the would say immediately whether champion would be able to post in the Santa Anita $10,000 handicap next month.

A victory would make Seabiscuit the leading all-time money winner in the race.

Injury in Left Ankle.
After another examination morning, Dr. J. H. Peterson, said that while the "Biscuit" is "palpably lame," "very much pleased that he is not as bad as was expected."

He diagnosed the injury the left ankle instead of right knee, as observers had thought.

Yesterday's one mile race today, a seven-year-old bought a year ago by J. Carthy of Los Angeles from Whitney, and Tom Taggart, Marica, was Seabiscuit's fifth trip to the post, and have been a tightener for the 000 race March 4, which of now problematical for the Near Sun Beau's Record.

Seabiscuit, winner of $340 within $36,000 of surpassing great Sun Beau's record, is troubled with his legs off for years. The match in War Admiral set for last year Belmont was called off on count. Woolf, called on mishap, retorted, "nothing, cuit's done this before."

It was a bad day all around the Howard. The match in II, the Argentine importation as "Biscuit's" best foe in the 000 race, ran third to Bottle. Patty Cake in the race beat Seabiscuit affair.

In both races, however, records were set. Today Seabiscuit won in 1:35.35 seconds, the track mark of 1:35.45, 1935 by Top Row; and Bottle ran the mile and one-sixteenth 1:42.35, lowering the old 1:42.45 seconds.

Color for Browns.

Bill De Witt is looking over samples of new uniforms for the St. Louis Browns and the boys probably will be togged out in brighter colors and wider stripes in 1939. One sample is a light brown and orange with two-tone satin stripes down the sides of the pants. Bill also hopes there will be more stream-lined Brownie base hits. The minor league concession department has crowded Charley Barrett and the other Cardinals scouts into the back room of the new office on Dodder street.

A major league ball club is considering an appeal to the postoffice department about a series of poison pen letters which put the blast on one of its players. The club thinks it knows the office from which some of the envelopes started. Cupid and his associates are teamed up in the poison pen's communications, which have been mailed to club officials, newspapers and radio stations.

If there is a dinner for George Siler, celebrating his entry into baseball's hall of fame, it will be a separate one. It was proposed that a gift of some kind be presented to George Siler at the Brownie baseball picture cocktail party and banquet at the Coronado, tomorrow, but the Browns want that to be their exclusive affair, inasmuch as they are standing the tap. There ought to be a dining room full of St. Louis fans, however (1922 vintage) who would like to toast the great first baseman.

Could It Happen?

"That was an easy one on the flat bat," said Jack Ryan, Cardinal scout, "I could handle that one easily. The guy went up to the plate with a flat bat, didn't he? Well, he must have known it was flat, didn't he? So he was trying to cheat, wasn't he? I'd call him a cheat, wouldn't you? You'd better take to the woods at the same time," said Charley Barrett, the chief scout. "Mathew was right. There ain't no rule in the book for a penalty. So that's just one man's opinion. Ryan, and not a very good one."

"It's good enough for me," Ryan retorted.

"How about this one, if you're so good?" and Barrett was off with the flat bat. "You tell me this really happened. Man on second and third. Runner on third gets caught in a run-up. It probably was Heine Mueller, my nephew—he was always doing that. Well, anyhow, he gets caught in a run-up and he's one of those open-shirt boys, like Pepper Martin, who don't like to use buttons and button holes. His shirt is flapping, and on one of the throws the ball goes into the runner's shirt. He runs across the plate and to the dugout and the man who was on second follows him across the plate."

"How many runs count, or would you call somebody out and if so, how and how soon should the umpire take to the woods, no matter what the decision? Let's see you answer that one, Ryan," Ryan asked.

One on the House.

"Or if you don't like that one," Barrett interrupted, "here's another to try on Red Roche, who writes postcards and signs John Connors. It happened in a game the House of David played. You know how that club works. It just finds an open field and automobiles on the sidelines form the grandstand. Well in one of the House games, the outfield weeds were very high and the outfielder who was in the heaviest brush carried an extra ball in his pocket for emergency.

"About the seventh inning an emergency comes along. Somebody hits to left field and the ball is lost. The center fielder, who is carrying the extra ball, runs over to help the left fielder look for the lost ball. He waits till one of the left fielders finds the ball, and then he can nail him at the next base and then all of a sudden he reaches in his shirt where he has hidden the extra ball. He pulls it out, as though picking it from the weeds, and pegs it to the infield. But at the same time the left fielder finds the right ball, the one that was in play, and he pegs it to the infield and so both balls go in at the same time.

SEABISCUIT GOES HOME IN LOSING HIS FIRST START OF YEAR

HOWARD STAR OUT OF $10,000 RACE SATURDAY

Injury 'Not as Bad as Suspected,' Veterinarian Says—Lameness Less Noticeable After Morning Walk.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—The question of whether Seabiscuit, 1938 handicap king, will race again, remained unanswered today as the star six-year-old thoroughbred which went lame in a mile "lightning" race at Santa Anita Park yesterday, was scratched from the San Carlos $10,000 Handicap Saturday.

Charles S. Howard, owner, and Tom Smith, trainer, spent part of the night in the "Biscuit's" stable, keeping cold compresses on the ankle that went bad in the horse's first race since he beat War Admiral at Pimlico last Nov. 1.

Observers said Seabiscuit was given a short walk this morning and the lameness that was so apparent when he left the track yesterday after finishing second to Today, was less noticeable.

Howard never-the-less declared the thoroughbred out of the mile and a sixteenth event Saturday, but pending developments expected in a day or two, none close to the stable would say immediately whether the champion would be able to go to the post in the Santa Anita $100,000 handicap next month, in which a victory would make Seabiscuit the leading all-time money winner.

After another examination this morning, Dr. J. H. Peters, veterinarian, said that while the "Biscuit" is "palpably lame," he was "very much pleased the injury is not as bad as was expected."

He diagnosed the injury as in the left ankle instead of in the right knee, as observers had at first thought.

Yesterday's one mile race against Today, a seven-year-old horse bought a year ago by Neil McCarthy of Los Angeles from C. V. Whitney, and Tom Taggart's mare, Maudie, was Seabiscuit's eighth trip to the post, and was to have been a lighter for the $100,000 race March 4, which of course is now problematical for the "Biscuit."

At the three-eighths pole, Seabiscuit suddenly seemed to fall back as he and Today jockeyed it out along the rail. Jockey George F. Lewis went to the whip in the last eighth and Seabiscuit moved gamely along, but he couldn't catch Today; not by two and a quarter lengths. After the finish, Woolf jumped off and led the limping Seabiscuit back to the stable.

Near Sun Beau's Record. Seabiscuit, winner of $340,490 and within $36,000 of surpassing the great Sun Beau's record, has been troubled with his legs off and on for years. The match race with War Admiral set for last spring at Belmont was called off on this account. Woolf, asked about the latest mishap, retorted, "nothing. Seabiscuit's done this before."

It was a bad day all around for the Howard colors. Howard's Ray, II, the Argentine importation hailed as "Biscuit's" best foe in the $100,000 race, ran third to Bottle Top and Patty Cake in the race before the Seabiscuit affair.

In both races, however, new track records were set. Today, bettering the mile in 1:35.5 seconds, breaking the track mark of 1:35.4 set in 1935 by Top Row; and Bottle Top ran the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:42.35, lowering the old record of 1:42.45 seconds.

JIM LONDOS LOSES "TITLE" IN MARYLAND

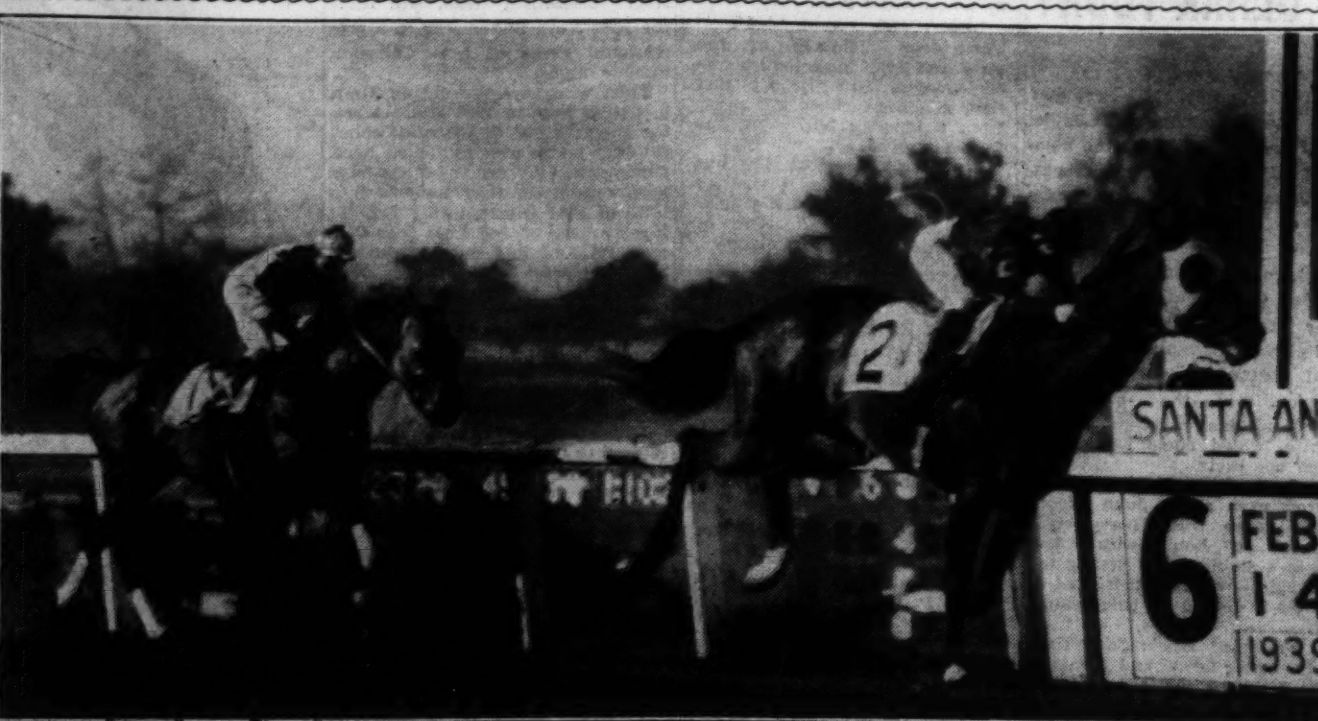

By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, Feb. 15.—The Maryland State Athletic Commission last night withdrew its recognition of Jim Londos as world's heavyweight wrestling champion after Londos failed to appear here for a scheduled match with Robert Weatherly of Bristol, Tenn., known in wrestling circles as "The Golden Terror."

Promoters of the scheduled match said they had received a "last minute" telegram from Londos from Philadelphia, saying he would not appear because he had signed for the match with the understanding that Jack Dempsey would referee. The promoters said Dempsey had declined because of another engagement.

Stanley Scherr, chairman of the Athletic Commission, said Weatherly would be recognized in Maryland as world champion, and that Londos would be suspended here until he meets Weatherly.

SMOOTH IS THE WORD FOR TOM HARDY!

This May Be the 'Biscuit's' Last Race

Conqueror of War Admiral and one of the greatest horses of all time, Seabiscuit yesterday started in a $2000 race at Santa Anita as a workout for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap for which race he ruled a heavy favorite. With Jockey Woolf up, Seabiscuit, plainly lame at the finish, ran second by two and a quarter lengths to Today in 1:35.35. It was Seabiscuit's first race since his defeat of War Admiral. The great Howard horse has won $340,490 to date. The "Biscuit" has recovered before from

ZELTMANS DRAW GEM ELEVEN IN MARY SOCCER

By Deni McSkimming

Drawing out of a hat for a first round bye and opening round opponents, six Municipal Soccer Association group winners last night arrived at the following program for Sunday:

At Fairgrounds: Zeltmans (Sherman Park) vs. Gems (Walnut Park) 1 p. m.; Schumachers vs. German Sport (for Carondelet title) 3 p. m.

At Fairground: Tait's (Fairground Group Four) vs. Moloney's (Fairground Group Five) 1:30 p. m.; E. By: Plaza A. C. (Intermediate Division), and Carondelet survivor.

Going further, the second round games to be played Feb. 26, were determined as follows:

Carondelet champions vs. Plaza C, winner of Zeltmans-Gem game vs. winner of Tait-Moloney game.

In order to reduce the field immediately to four clubs, it was decided by the executive committee that the losers in Sunday's opening games will be dropped. Thereafter, until it has been beaten twice.

May Shake Up Lineup. It would not surprise the fans if Manager McGinnis shakes up his Schumacher lineup for Sunday's game, returning Bill Schuler to center, and moving the star goal-getter out of the territory patrolled by Left Halfback "Bitt" Ortmann of the German club.

It is expected that Schuler would be more effective playing against Center Halfback Jack Murphy, who makes it a point to play the ball, not the man. Ortmann's headless charges threw Schuler off his game last Sunday.

Oscar Mossman and Nick Jost, the two-man board that directs the German club, could make use of reserve substitutes. Injuries have removed several good players and there were only two extra men in uniform last Sunday.

Use of Subs Permitted. Revised rules for the inter-club playoffs permit the unlimited use of substitutes. Each team is privileged to carry 18 men on its roster but some have as low as 14 men. In past seasons, the use of substitutes in the elimination games was limited to two, later to four. Now, as many as seven substitutions may be made, but it is unlikely that any club will use more than three.

The Plaza and the Moloney club, both of which have few reserves, asked the Muncy Executive Committee's permission to draft players; but the requests were turned down. The committee held that all clubs are repeatedly warned as to the final date of signing new players.

Gutteridge Signs, 19th Card in Fold

Don Gutteridge, Cardinal infielder, signed his 1939 contract this afternoon after a conference of many hours with Branch Rickey, vice-president and general manager. Details were not disclosed, except that line contract was for the usual one year.

Gutteridge was on his feet at the end of the conference and said he went through the ordeal without benefit of anesthetic. Rickey also emerged from the conference room with a smile and no scars.

Gutteridge is the nineteenth member of the Redbirds to decorate the dotted line of a 1939 contract. He plans to depart in a few days for Florida, to get an early start on spring training.

GUZIVICH, LUTZ JOIN BEARS IN FOOTBALL WORK

Washington University's football squad is daily augmented as spring football practice sessions continue under direction of Head Coach Jimmy Conzelmann and his assistants, Frank Kopczak and Frank Loebe.

Yesterday John Guzivich, a big end from Bend, and Henry Lutz, a clever back from Carbondale, both reported and were active in the workout. The coaches now have 40 under their command, with others expected to join up each afternoon.

Guzivich and Lutz were stars of last year's great freshman team at Washington.

Fundamentals still are being stressed in the Washington workouts and will be for several days, after which, it is expected, scrimmages, those real tests of football ability, will be staged.

DEHNER RETAINS HIS BASKETBALL SCORING LEAD IN THE BIG TEN

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Illinois has faltered in its bid for the Big Ten basketball title, but a team's high-scoring center, Lewis (Pick) Dehner, rolls smoothly on in his quest of individual scoring honors.

Dehner, although stricken last week with tonsillitis, was able to find the basket for 21 points in two games, returning him to first place in the scoring lists after two weeks in second spot. He replaced Jimmy Hull, Ohio State forward, as the leader. Dehner now has a total of 112 and Hull has 102.

The only other player within striking distance of this pair is Capt. Ben Stephens of Iowa. Bill Hapac, Illinois forward, held onto fourth place despite an illness that kept him out of one of his team's two games. He has 84 points, 16 more than Ernie Anderson, Indiana guard. This is Anderson's first appearance among the first 10, his total of 29 points in his last two games enabling him to climb above the Indiana guards, including Gordon Addington and Johnny Kunda, and Michigan's Tom Harmon.

The other newcomer this week is Bill Menke, Indiana guard, with 55 points.

Muny Basketball Draw Announced

To clear the way for the opening of the Municipal Basketball League elimination series, starting next Wednesday evening, a playoff for the Forsom Division championship will be held at Sherman Park Community Center Monday night, it was announced at the Department of Recreation offices this afternoon.

The winner of this game between St. Francis Xavier and Western Blow Pipe team will play a first round match on Wednesday, Feb. 22, against the Underwoods, champions of the Central Division.

The two-out-of-three game series for the Municipal championship between the Nifty Nickels (champions of the Concord Division), and the survivor of the above-mentioned games, will start Friday evening, Feb. 24. A second game has been set for Feb. 27 and a third, if necessary, on March 1. The draw was made at noon today.

Monday night's game between St. Francis Xavier and Western Blow Pipe will start at 8 p. m. Admission will be charged.

Mixed Bowling Contest

The New Cinderella Recreation will hold a three-game handicap mixed doubles bowling speakeasy Saturday and Sunday, with entry fee $1.00 per bowler. Handicap will be 60 per cent from 200 scratch. Squads will bowl beginning at 7 p. m. each day and entrants may roll as often as they wish, provided they change partners after each game. EDUCATION BOARD MAY CONTROL ALL SCHOOL ATHLETICS

UNDER a resolution offered by Mark Eagleton at the meeting of the Board of Education last night, the board may assume control of all athletics in all St. Louis schools. The resolution which may be discussed at a meeting of the Instruction Committee on March 6 and acted upon by the full board, March 14, reads as follows:

"Be it resolved, that henceforth any and all matters pertaining to our school athletics of whatever kind or nature, shall be under the official control and supervision of the Board of Education of St. Louis and shall be considered an integral part of its educational program.

Heretofore and at present, sports have been extra-curricular activities with each school in charge of its own finances. While details have not been worked out in full, it is proposed that the board officially sponsor teams in all sports, paying for uniforms, equipment, etc., and that admission be made for any of the contests.

Friday afternoon games played on fields near the respective schools are planned instead of all being held at Public Schools Stadium. With the approach of the baseball season (admission will be first to come under the workings of the new plan if it is adopted. Eagleton was confident adoption would follow in due course.

GRANITE CITY TEAM SURE OF TIE FOR TITLE

Granite City High School's basketball team didn't play last night but its Southwestern Illinois Conference title claim was decidedly advanced when the second place Collinsville team lost its fourth game by a 37-24 score to Edwardsville.

Granite City, with 10 victories in 11 games leads, with Collinsville having an 8-4 mark with three games remaining for Granite City and two for Collinsville. Thus, the leaders are assured of at least a tie for the title.

In other conference games last night Wood River defeated East St. Louis 18 to 17, and Cathedral High won over Venice, 50 to 32. The Wood River-East St. Louis game was unique in that neither team scored in the second half of the four periods.

HOW GOV. STARK HOLDS WHIP HAND OVER THE SENATE

He Still Delays Sending His Vacation Appointments to Chamber for Confirmation.

APPARENTLY HE IS ASKING FOR NOTHING

But Legislators Have Bills They Want Him to Approve — Executive Practically Ignores Them.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, with an apparent determination to hold the upper hand over the Legislature, has delayed for six weeks submission of his vacation appointments to the Senate for confirmation and there are indications that he will not submit the names until the closing days of the session, several months away.

Having no legislative program on which he is insisting and depriving the Senate of immediate opportunity to pass on his appointments, the Governor is in the position of having virtually nothing to ask of the legislators, and the legislators are in the position of having a lot of bills which later they will ask the Governor to approve.

It is a comfortable seat for the Governor and an uncertain one for the legislators. Since the beginning of the session the question of when the Governor would break out of the floor has often been the subject of cloak-room discussions, but so far there has been hardly a ripple. Senator M. E. Casey of Kansas City, Pendergast leader, made a few sarcastic but veiled references to the Governor in opposing an appropriation for the Highway Patrol, and Representative John D. Taylor of Chariton County, long recognized as an out-State friend of the Kansas City boss and an outspoken enemy of the Governor, has done a little verbal sniping from the floor of the House. But it has amounted to nothing so far.

Only One Request.
The only request the Governor has made is that the Legislature provide approximately $1400 a month to meet the cost of special audits he might desire to have made of departments expending State funds. Taylor unsuccessfully opposed adoption of the resolution in this house, but it has been lying in the Senate Committee on Appropriations for a month without action. It is not a matter of major importance not important enough, at least, for the Governor to make a real issue of it so far, but it is the only thing the Senate has with which to harass the Governor even slightly.

Having held the resolution long enough to indicate a sort of bravado independence of the executive, the Senate Committee probably will report the resolution within the next few days, and there is little doubt of its passage when it reaches the floor.

Stark Ignores Precedent.

In withholding from the Senate the list of vacation appointments, which includes nearly all the major jobs under the Governor's control, he is ignoring a long-established precedent which established the custom that appointments should be sent to the Senate within the first week of the session. The Senate usually has adopted much the same sort of tactics as those of the Governor this session. The appointments have been referred to committees and permitted to lie there until near the end of the session, the Senators sometimes using them in an effort to trade with the Governor on legislation or in the filling of other jobs.

The Governor, when he submits the list, will have a long one, as he purposely postponed many appointments two years ago until the Legislature adjourned in order to avoid Senate action on them at that time. If he holds them this year until near the end of the session and the Senate rejects any of them, the Governor can delay naming successors until after adjournment and thus avoid submitting the new names to the Senate.

The Governor is said to have been informed by lawyers to whom he referred the question that, while he

They have started serving 18-month prison terms on the second charges, and the longer terms are to be served concurrently.

11 NOMINATIONS GET COMMITTEE APPROVAL

All Are to Aviation and Maritime Boards Created by Last Congress.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Senate Commerce Committee approved today 11 appointments by President Roosevelt to aviation and maritime boards and sent them to the Senate for expected confirmation.

Chairman Bailey (Dem.), North Carolina, said charges that had been lodged against some of the appointees were unfounded. The appointees were interviewed by a Commerce subcommittee at closed sessions.

The appointments were to the Civil Aeronautics Authority, the authority's Air Safety Board and a Maritime Labor Board. All the agencies were created by the last Congress.

Those approved by the committee today are: Clinton M. Hester of Montana as Administrator of the CAA, and the following as members: Edward J. Noble of Connecticut, to serve through 1940; Harless Branch of Georgia, to serve through 1944; Robert H. Hinckley of Utah, through 1943; Oswald Ryan, Indiana, through 1942; and G. Grant Mason Jr., District of Columbia, through 1941.

The Maritime Labor appointments are: Robert W. Bruere, New York; Louis Bloch, California, and Claude E. Seehorn, Colorado, all to serve until June 22, 1941.

Chairman Bailey said appointment of Sumpter Smith of Alabama, as one of the three members of a special Air Safety Board was approved subject to favorable action by the Alabama Senators, Bankhead and Hill, both Democrats.

Other members of the Safety Board approved by the Commerce Committee are Thomas O. Hardin, Georgia, and C. E. Allen, West Virginia.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority was created to co-ordinate and expand Federal regulation over the

$212,000,000 to Be Distributed Among Producers Who Stay Within Acreage Quotas.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Agriculture Department announced yesterday how it would divide a $212,000,000 bounty among producers of cotton, corn, wheat and rice who co-operate with its efforts to reduce farm surpluses.

The money, appropriated by the last Congress for "price-adjustment" payments, will go to growers of these basic crops who plant within their 1939 acreage allotments. The allotments provide for reduction from normal planting.

Cotton growers will be paid at the rate of 16 cents a pound, corn 6 cents a bushel, wheat 11 cents a bushel, and rice 12 cents per hundredweight.

The amount to which each grower will be entitled is determined by multiplying the normal production of his acreage allotment by the benefit payment rate. Thus a farmer with a wheat allotment of 100 acres and a normal production of 12 bushels an acre would be entitled to 1200 times 11 cents or $132, provided he planted no more than 100 acres.

The department estimated the $212,000,000 fund would be divided as follows among the four crops:

Cotton, $84,578,000; corn, $61,613,000; wheat, $64,113,000, and rice, $1,698,000. No price-adjustment payments will be made on tobacco or other crops.

Cotton was the only crop on which price-adjustment payments were made last year. The amount distributed was $130,000,000.

Payments will supplement subsidies to be paid co-operative farmers from a $500,000,000 soil conservation fund. It will be allotted at the following rates: Cotton, 2 cents a pound; corn, 9 cents a bushel; wheat, 17 cents, and rice, 10 cents per hundredweight.

The Maritime Labor Board was directed to recommend to the President and Congress a permanent Federal policy for settling labor disputes in the maritime industry.

MEASURE TO CANCEL SCHOOL APPROPRIATION SIDETRACKED

Amendment Adopted Upsets Quinn's Resolution in Missouri Senate.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—The Senate today virtually killed the Quinn resolution for the submission of a constitutional amendment empowering the Legislature to earmark the sales tax or any other State revenue for the payment of old-age pensions.

Under the proposed amendment, the present constitutional requirement that not less than one-fourth of the State revenue be set aside for the public schools would have been repealed, and there would have been no school guarantee in the constitution.

The defeat of the amendment was accomplished by an amendment proposed by Senator Francis Smith of St. Joseph, stipulating that it should not be construed to repeal the school appropriation section of the Constitution. After the Smith amendment had been adopted by a vote of 30 to 3, Senator Quinn

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—The small loan bill, increased legal rate of interest on loans less than $100 and designed to law salary buying in Missouri passed by the House today vote of 115 to 22. The proposition goes to the Senate.

Favorable House action foregone conclusion, as 75 senators had signed the measure and agreed to support it. C. votes were required for passage. Sponsors were so certain of result that they made no appeal in support of the bill when called up for passage.

John G. Christy of Festus, who handled the measure in the House, declared there was no further discussion as all members were fully acquainted with purposes.

Three Criticisms Rise in Int. Brief speeches against the measure were made by Representatives Maurice Schechter of St. Frank J. Iffrig of St. Charles, Albert T. Parrish of Springfield. Their criticism was directed at the proposed increase in the rate of interest from 2½ per cent to 3 per cent on loans under $100.

Schechter charged that the pose of the bill was not to salary buyers out of the State to increase the interest rate on small loans from 30 per cent per cent a year to 36 per cent a year, but to increase the interest on the licensed small loan company Iffrig and Parrish contended proposed law would work a ship instead of aiding low-salaried men and women.

No objection was made to the measure which was declared the buying of wages a small loan, subject to supervision by the State Finance Committee under the Small Loan Act, section is regarded as providing necessary statutory requirements for the outlawing of salary buyers who have been charged with using usurious rates of interest, times in excess of 240 per cent a year.

Sponsors of the bill contend increased interest rate is needed in order to encourage the licensed small loan company to compete with salary buyers. They say the increased rate, which is paid on loans up to $300, cannot possibly lend money in small amounts unless the rate is increased to usurious rates of interest, times in excess of 240 per cent a year.

Representatives of the bill were J. Jules Brinkman, William Warren Burke, Edward Forst, Harold V. Healy, Day Hess, Edward J. Hogan, John Hughes, Joseph L. Ivanhoe, Novak, Robert M. Uxa and M. Smith.

SMALL LOAN BILL PASSED BY HOUSE AFTER CRITICISM

Vote Is 115 to 22 for Measure Increasing Interest Rate to 3 Pct. on Sums Less Than $100.

LAW IS INTENDED TO END SALARY-BUYING

Opponents Say Is Will Work Hardship on Low-Salaried Borrowers—It Now Goes to Senate.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—The small loan bill, increasing the legal rate of interest on loans of less than $100 and designed to outlaw salary buying in Missouri, was passed by the House today by a vote of 115 to 22. The proposal now goes to the Senate.

Favorable House action was a foregone conclusion, as 78 Representatives had signed the measure and agreed to support it. Only 76 votes were required for passage. Sponsors were so certain of the result that they made no speeches in support of the bill when it was called up for passage. Speaker Frank G. Christy, of St. Louis, who has handled the measure before the House, declared there was no need for further discussion as all members were fully acquainted with its purposes.

Three Criticisms Rise in Interest. Brief speeches against the measure were made by Representatives Maurice Schechter of St. Louis, Frank J. Iffrig of St. Charles and Albert T. Parrish of Springfield. Their criticism was directed against the proposed increase in the legal rate of interest from 2 1/2 per cent a month to 3 per cent on loans under $100.

Schechter charged that the purpose of the bill was not to drive salary buyers out of the State but to increase the interest rate on small loans from 30 per cent to 36 per cent a year, for the benefit of the licensed small loan companies. Iffrig and Parrish contended the proposed law would work a hardship instead of aiding low-salaried working men and women.

No objection was made to a section of the measure which would declare the buying of wages to be a small loan, subject to supervision by the State Finance Commission under the Small Loan Act. This section is regarded as providing the necessary statutory requirement for the outlawing of salary buyers, who have been charged with exacting usurious rates of interest, sometimes in excess of 240 per cent a year.

Sponsors of the bill contend the increased interest rate is necessary in order to encourage the licensed small loan firms to take on smaller amounts in competition with the salary buyers. They say the increased rate, which is permitted to charge 2 1/2 per cent a month on loans up to $300, cannot profitably lend money in small amounts unless the rate is increased.

St. Louisans 11 to 3 in favor of the bill. Five St. Louis members were absent.

Voting for the bill were Representatives J. Jules Brinkman, William Warren Burke, Edwin C. Forst, Harold V. Healy, David A. Hess, Edward J. Hogan, John T. Hughes, Joseph L. Ivanhoe, Jerry Novak, Robert M. Uza and Michael Smith.

Those voting against the bill were Representatives Schechter, Edward F. Byrnes and Oliver E. J. Schick. Those absent were Representatives Edward M. Brady, Joseph P. Council, Don S. Gregson, Michael R. Kennedy and John A. Sullivan.

Representatives Hartwell Crain, Howard Elliott and Forrest Mittenbort of St. Louis County voted for the bill.

HENRI JASPAR, EX-PREMIER OF BELGIUM, DIES SUDDENLY

Stricken After Informing King of His Failure to Form a New Cabinet.

By the Associated Press.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 15.—Henri Jaspar, former Premier of Belgium, died today after making a vain effort to solve his country's Cabinet crisis. He was 68 years old.

Jaspar was called upon by King Leopold Sunday to form a new Cabinet, following resignation of the Government of Paul Henri Spaak Feb. 9. He was stricken ill after informing the King he was unable to muster sufficient support to form a Cabinet. He underwent an emergency operation last night for stomach trouble.

During the World War, Jaspar's protests against actions of the German forces occupying Brussels resulted in his arrest on several occasions by German troops. He was Premier from 1926 to 1931 and held posts in several other ministries.

What Is Liberal Education?

Debated By President Conant And Seven Other Professors

Variety of Opinion Presented at Harvard Club—Direct Issue Raised Between Social and Natural Sciences.

Eight leading educators discussed and sought to define "Liberal Education in the Twentieth Century" at a gathering of 300 or more members of the same profession, under Harvard Club auspices, at Hotel Chase yesterday afternoon.

President James B. Conant of Harvard University was chief of the definition-hunters. Harvard was represented by three other men, and Washington, St. Louis, Illinois and Iowa universities by one each. Four speakers from the floor followed them.

The audience, in consequence, heard one dozen definitions, some of which were mutually contradictory. At the end of an hour and a half, the teachers went out asking each other:

"Well, what is a liberal education, anyway?"

Direct Issue Between Two.

Between Prof. Howard E. Wilson of the Harvard Department of Education, and Prof. Norman Foerster of the University of Iowa, there was a direct issue of the social sciences—history, economics, sociology—against the natural sciences. "A liberal education," said Prof. Wilson, "must train one to earn a living—not just to hold a particular job, but to hold one's own in our economic society. It must help in building up a set of values. The twentieth century common denominator in education is humanity itself. The new organization of studies is focused on man himself—away from a social being, and his institutions, social, economic and political. This calls for training in the social sciences."

But Prof. Foerster assured the audience that the social sciences, advocated by Prof. Wilson, were not sciences at all, "except by the courtesy of wishful thinking," and that such studies, being in a state of chaos themselves, could hardly help the student to bring order into world chaos. Liberal education is concerned with teaching men to think, he declared, and not with training them to be obedient, propagandists, or the minds of men who cannot be fooled.

Dean Holmes' Idea.

Dean Henry W. Holmes of Harvard University held a need for "educating people to maintain democracy in the circumstances of the twentieth century," springing from the developments of science and technology, from large-scale unemployment, and from the development of man's spirit. With a vastly increased number of young people to be educated, Dr. Holmes said, selection must be exercised, varied means must be used, and "we must be realistic as never before."

Prof. Frank L. Wright of Wash. Univ. said that liberal education "depends on who receives it, and under what conditions." He said natural sciences, language study and social subjects should be combined to afford the necessary training. The liberally educated man, he said, must know the problems of the past and look ahead to future centuries, must "share the great ideas and emotions of past and future cultures." Liberal education was described as "not static, but living, progressive, usable, and embracing the intangible elements of man's spirit."

Dean Thomas E. Benner of the University of Illinois found fault with the attitude of some graduate schools, which, he said, offer science as the answer to everything, and neglect philosophical teaching to a disastrous extent. There should be more recognition, he held, of the need for philosophical training, not merely in the study of textbooks of philosophy, but in determination of ends and values.

The chairman, Robert Walston Chubb, St. Louis lawyer and Harvard alumnus, summed up the first five talks by saying that "democracy has been saved, and everyone has been enabled to earn a livelihood." He suggested that the religious viewpoint was still to be presented, and called on the Rev. William J. McGucken, S. J., director of education in St. Louis University.

Father McGucken classified theories of education as dealing with things, Words, Ideas and Facts. "At present," he said, "things are in the saddle, and we learn by doing. In the Middle Ages, men were preoccupied with Ideas, and learned by thinking. In the Renaissance, men learned by writing or speaking. We need to assemble Words, Ideas, Facts, Things and make them dynamic in the lives of those we teach. One thing, beyond philosophy and science is required for this integration—Religion. God, the Fact of Facts, is needed to restore education as a spiritual and intellectual pursuit, and to give meaning to life."

Defends Student Activities.

Dr. David M. Little, secretary of Harvard University and master of Adams House, one of the undergraduate dwellings, spoke up for extra-curricular activities as part of a liberal education. He did not mention athletics, but cited debating as an exercise, conducted by the students themselves, which called for as much initiative and hard work as their studies. Such activities, he said, keep students from getting sent to the dean's office. "The carbohydrate of these activities should be mixed with the protein of study," he said.

The chairman, who had previously said that the speakers were "all tops in this racket," called on President Conant to summarize the discussion.

"I could plead the cause of each one," Dr. Conant said of the previous talks, but he added that he agreed more thoroughly with Prof. Foerster, in his plea for the "university of the future," than with the social sciences, which he called the "viewpoint of Prof. Wilson."

He added, as his own contribution to the task of definition:

"Liberal education in this time and country must differ from that of other times and places. It must vary according to talent and capacity, and according to individual objectives. I would wish to see it not lost in the professional school, but continuing in professional education. While siding with the natural sciences, I would insist also on history, which includes the history of philosophy and of the fine arts. The profitable study of antiquity may accumulate years to us, as if we had lived from the beginning of time."

Speakers From Floor.

Speakers from the floor were Rabbi Samuel Thurman of St. Louis, President John S. Nollen of Grinnell College, Grinnell, Ia.; E. A. Hecker of Country Day School; and L. D. Haertter, director of John Burroughs School.

Dr. Thurman spoke of the practical aims of religious teaching, in relation to education. Hecker urged greater attention to the teaching of American history, and held that citizens should be trained to be intolerant of evil, and courageous in supporting convictions. Haertter said liberal education should make its possessor willing to "re-examine the patterns of American life."

Nollen called for differentiation between "the gross and the net values of education."

President Conant, Dean Holmes, Prof. Wilson and Dr. Little were guests of the Harvard Club, at a dinner at the University Club last night.

ENGLAND TO SEEK 4 BILLION LOAN FOR DEFENSE PLAN

Sir John Simon in Commons Says That Much Is Needed to Finance Re-armament.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The British Government today announced it needs to borrow $800,000,000 ($4,000,000,000) to help finance the five-year rearmament program on which it already will have spent $1,173,000,000 ($5,865,000,000) by the end of the 1939-40 fiscal year.

Extent of British arms expenditures in the first three years of the plan—launched in 1937—was revealed by Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who told the House of Commons that the Government's borrowing power of $400,000,000 ($2,000,000,000) must be doubled to aid in meeting armament costs.

Additions to Navy.

Sir John's defense estimates provided for new naval building to include two battleships in addition to seven built or authorized since the plan was begun in 1937.

Plans were disclosed to construct two destroyer flotillas of eight ships each and 20 fast escort vessels of a new type designed to protect shipping against submarine attack.

This was seen as Britain's answer to Germany, who announced Dec. 30 its intention to build its submarines up to parity with Britain.

Four large six-inch gun cruisers and a new aircraft carrier were included in today's estimates. Simon said the total 1939-40 defense expenditure would be "in the neighborhood of $800,000,000 ($4,000,000,000)." He said the Government was "confident the people of this country will be ready to bear the burden involved and will share in the determination of His Majesty's Government to insure the adequacy of our defense preparations."

The Chancellor's 1939-40 defense estimates included $2,615,000,000 for army, navy and air force and $285,000,000 for other purposes, including civilian defense and food storage.

Air force allotments of more than $1,000,000,000 will be the highest in the country's history. The estimates showed a sharp increase in armament costs over the two preceding fiscal years, in which $1,940,000,000 and $1,310,000,000 had been spent.

The first three years' expenditures thus would leave only $1,635,000,000 of the original $7,500,000,000 set as the "cost of the rearmament plan."

New borrowing powers, however, were expected to cover the remaining two years of the program and any expansion of it.

NOT PAID FOR GETTING U. S. FUNDS, DEMOCRATIC AID SAYS

National Committee Secretary Denies Fee for "Promotional Work" for Georgia Asylum.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—L. W. (Chip) Robert, secretary of the National Democratic Committee, denied yesterday that a contract between his architectural engineering company and a Georgia State Department provided a fee for "promotional work" in obtaining funds from Government agencies.

The Georgia Legislature adopted a resolution yesterday directing the State law department to investigate a contract with the Georgia Welfare Department under which the resolution said, Robert & Co. was to receive $240,000 in connection with $4,000,000 of construction work at a hospital for insane. Part of the fee, the resolution said, was to be "for promotional work in securing the money from Washington."

Robert issued a statement saying the Reconstruction Finance Corporation "reviewed our contract in detail and approved same in full." He added he knew of no authority under which any department of Government could pay for "any promotional purpose of any sort whatsoever, and certainly nothing of this kind has entered into this particular contract."

JEWS PAY NAZIS SECOND PART OF $400,000,000 FINE

Amount Collected Because of Murder of Embassy Secretary in Paris Not Disclosed.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—Germany's Jews today quietly began payment of the second installment of the billion-mark ($400,000,000) fine imposed on them by the Nazi Government for the assassination of a German diplomat in Paris by a young Jew.

Jews were supposed to hand over a quarter-billion marks ($100,000,000) today. Whether the Government was getting all it demanded could not be learned. Two more installments are to be paid May 15 and Aug. 15.

ANTI-JEW PREMIER OF HUNGARY FINDS HE IS PART JEW

Imredi Then Resigns—Parliament Opposes His Sweeping Anti-Semitic Program.

By the Associated Press.

BUDAPEST, Feb. 15.—Premier Bela Imredi resigned today because of parliamentary opposition to his sweeping proposals against Jews. He afterward started his party members by announcing he himself was partly Jewish.

In a speech before members of the Party of National Unity which he had persuaded to adopt his anti-Jewish program, Imredi disclosed one of his great grandparents was born a Jew.

"This fact, which only lately came to my attention, is one of the reasons why I felt myself obliged to retire as Premier," said Imredi, who assumed the Hungarian premiership nine months ago. "I held, and still hold, that legislation for the regulation of Jewish participation in economic and cultural affairs of the country is a good thing for our fatherland."

Under the terms of the proposed anti-Jewish laws, which provide exemptions for many persons of mixed blood, Imredi would not be considered Jewish, but he told his party colleagues that "it is inconsistent that under such circumstances I should be identified with such legislation."

A "whispering campaign," he said, had caused him to make a thorough study of his family tree and he discovered that the father of one of his grandmothers was born a Jew but was baptized in 1814.

Successor Suggested.

Indications were that Imredi would be succeeded by 60-year-old Count Paul Teleki, geographer and Boy Scout leader, who was Premier for five months in 1920.

Though a friend of Imredi, in whose Cabinet he served as Minister of Education, Count Teleki has resisted the Premier's effort to introduce authoritarian measures.

Imredi, who assumed the premiership after serving for many years as president of the Hungarian National Bank, engaged in a long, bitter fight with Parliament which was scheduled to consider his Jewish control legislation today. Many legislators suspected Imredi intended to abolish Parliament and greatly reduce its powers.

With Imredi out, it appeared that Regent Nicholas Horthy would give a new direction to Hungarian policy.

Political observers expected the duties of King since the overthrow of Hungary's short-lived Communist Government in 1919, would make a gesture indicating faith in Parliament. It was thought that should his choice fall on Count Teleki as Premier, there would be a definite retreat from the totalitarian course.

Another possibility was a more independent foreign policy, still under the influence of the Rome-Berlin axis but manifesting a stronger desire to co-operate with Hungary's Balkan neighbors.

Teleki's Qualifications.

Count Teleki is regarded as an expert on minority problems and a man qualified to negotiate Hungary's differences with Rumania.

WRITER SAYS 200,000 WORK ON NAZI PLANES

Factories Bombproof and at Least One Is Hidden, Says S. Paul Johnston.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 15.—Writing under the title, "Hitler Wasn't Bluffing," in the Saturday Evening Post, S. Paul Johnston says at least one of the important German warplane factories is hidden deep in a woods and rendered as bombproof as possible.

"German plant designers are thoroughly bomb-conscious," says Johnston, editor of the magazine Aviation.

He estimates that 200,000 persons are employed in aeronautical manufacturing activities in Germany, as against 30,000 similarly engaged in the United States and repeats the assertion he made on his return from a visit to Europe several weeks ago, that Germany stands "head and shoulders" above the rest of the world in air preparedness.

"England," says the article, "in spite of the expenditure of two years' effort and of huge sums of money, is still muddling along, far behind in her aircraft production and pilot-training programs."

Johnston places France in last place among the air powers, adding that Italy seems better off than either England or France.

As for the implications behind a German air force which he says probably has a first-line fighting strength of 3000 to 3500 machines, Johnston writes:

"For a war in Europe, where distances to British and French industrial areas are short, it takes little imagination to foresee wave after wave of such machines coming at night or in bad weather, carrying tons of explosives."

Regarding export orders, he says, "I was told that first preference for deliveries of airplanes and engines went to export orders, ahead of orders for machines for the air force."

WITNESS SAYS 25 GOT $7,000,000 TAX FREE IN 1937.

Roy Blough of Treasury Gives Figures on Result of Exempting Securities.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A Treasury witness testified today that 25 American millionaires pocketed $7,000,000 in tax-free income during 1937, because it was interest from tax-exempt securities.

Roy Blough, director of the Treasury's tax research division, told a Senate finance subcommittee that an analysis of the incomes of 25 individuals who made $1,000,000 or more showed their net incomes would be less if tax exemptions were discontinued.

The committee is conducting hearings on an administration proposal for reciprocal taxation by the Federal Government and the states by which each would be permitted to tax future issues of securities and salaries of the others.

"In one case," Blough said, "an individual had 145 per cent more net income than he would have had and other percentages ranged from 90 per cent down to no increases in the case of five individuals. In other words, these 25 people on the average were very substantially ahead in total net income than they would have been had Government securities not been tax exempt."

Prof. Bernhard Knollenberg, Yale librarian, yesterday characterized as biased a recent report of Prof. Harley L. Lutz of Princeton University which said that removal of tax exemptions would cost states and municipalities $113,000,000 annually in additional interest.

Prof. Paul Studenski of New York University disagreed in part with Lutz's findings. He said the increased interest cost to states and municipalities after removal of tax exemptions should not be more than $6,000,000 the first year. He estimated that it would increase by about that amount yearly.

Prof. William J. Shultz of the New York City School of Business suggested that the present income tax system, with its direct levies on income, be transformed into a system of excises on "the act or transaction of receiving income, measured by the income received."

Such a tax, he believed, could be applied to income from Government salaries and securities, as well as income from private sources.

Anderson, chairman of the hall committee, announced the gift, which brings to $300,000 the total raised for the $300,000 building, a tribute to Walter Dill Scott, Northwestern president who will retire next fall.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Blatherskite Editorial.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I AM writing as a former newspaper man of considerable experience. A St. Louis citizen sent to Senator Thomas the attached editorial. (The editorial, entitled "Who Is the Blatherskite?" asked for the identity of the member of the Senate Military Affairs Committee who not only violated the secrecy of an executive session, but misquoted the President.)

It is quite like an editorial the Salt Lake Telegram printed on the front page several years ago, making the charge that a Utah Judge was intoxicated on the bench. One Judge was guilty and the others were innocent, and rightly so. The feeling ran so high that I doubt that a Utah newspaper will again make a list inviting public scorn upon the name of each and failing to say which is culpable.

Your list of the members of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, calling them, or one of them, a blatherskite, is probably a libel upon each except possibly the man who breached the President's trust, a libel even in the face of the fact that some latitude is given in order that newspapers may make public comments on public officials and their acts.

If you are inexperienced in writing newspaper copy, I suggest you do not a second time list a group of persons and then say that one of them is a bad name. This is lesson No. 1 on how not to write an editorial.

I agree with your opinion as to the reprehensibility of breaking a confidence, with or without the aggravation of a falsehood. I do not agree with your conclusion by implication to hold this estimable group up to public scorn.

EARL B. WIXEY.

Secretary to Senator Elbert D. Thomas.
Washington.

On the Scarlett O'Hara Controversy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I CAN understand why many Southern women are incensed over the selection of Vivien Leigh to play the leading role in "Gone With the Wind." Since the characters and locale of the picture are so markedly Southern, the choice would seem on the surface unwise.

However, England begged for Helen Hayes to bring her "Victoria" characterization there, and this would seem to be the sanest attitude—let the casting be made on the basis of what the producers believe will make for the best picture. Then, if Vivien Leigh is revealed as unsatisfactory for the part, protests can be made more effectively at the box office than now in writing. Let's give the girl a chance, anyway.

FAIR PLAY.

Design for Missouri Taxpayers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

MAY I suggest the following program for Missouri voters? They should vigorously ask their representatives to endorse these measures for greater efficiency in government:

1. Our 114 counties should be consolidated into political subdivisions not to exceed 10 counties, with the provision that all debts of former political subdivisions will be paid by the original section that made the debt.
2. Lawyers should be barred from election to the State Legislature. Lawyers are educated to argue; when they are elected, all they do is argue.
3. Small loan interest rates should be reduced, instead of raised. I question the motives of any man who proposes to make 3 per cent a month, or 36 per cent a year, a legal rate of interest.
4. The Conservation Commission should be protected from attempts to bring conservation back to the old pork-barrel status.

WE want to offer our sincere congratulations to the adequate and accurate manner in which you have been publishing the news concerning the death and attendant circumstances of our late Holy Father, Pius XI.

Criticism Memorial Proposals' Tactics.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

YOUR editorial, "Mr. Ickes' Warning," is very commendable and truthful, but somewhat mild.

You say, "There is no question that many who have worked to promote the memorial are persons of fine ideals, who believe it would be a great thing for St. Louis, and, for that matter, for the nation." It is my opinion, while we all stand for the betterment of St. Louis, the department of the sponsor of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial has been fraught with great deception.

At a time when the Government needs every penny for worthwhile causes, the high prices asked for properties in the affected district indicates a deliberate effort to hold up the United States.

C. N. VAN BUREN.

TURN ON THE LIGHT!

Details of the Manhasset Village financing form an absorbing subject of study.

These apartments, erected at a presumed cost of $2,000,000, were financed mainly by a loan of $1,600,000 from the New York Life Insurance Co.—a loan guaranteed by the United States Government, through the FHA.

Richard C. Spackler, loan agent for the insurance company, made the amazing admission that the company "would not have considered" the loan if it had not been for the FHA guarantee. The assumption to be drawn from that is that the New York Life is more lenient in its standards when a loan is Government-guaranteed.

It has also been shown that the land on which Manhasset Village was built was acquired by a Miss Mildred Gluckman for $42,000 and sold by her to the Manhasset Village Corporation 13 months later for $171,000. Parenthetically, who is going to pay Federal and State income taxes on this profit?

Miss Gluckman's role is interesting. She is secretary of H. B. Deal, one of the promoters, and is also an officer of the Manhasset Village Corporation. She doubles in brass, as it were.

The paid-in capital stock of the corporation is $294,000, $171,000 of which is represented by the real estate turned over so brilliantly by Miss Gluckman.

Does this represent real value or value diluted by water? Another interesting fact is that Miss Gluckman and Miss Joanna Laughren, secretary of Preston Bradshaw, another promoter of Manhasset Village, are listed in the records as owners of all but 10 shares of the 2940 shares of common stock of the Manhasset Village Corporation.

Nor is this their only joint distinction. Another real estate development similar to Manhasset Village, known as Lucas-Hunt Village, Inc., is in process. The same group of promoters is involved, as is the same kind of FHA guarantee. Miss Gluckman and Miss Laughren are listed as the owners of all but four of the 5450 common shares of Lucas-Hunt, and also the entire issue of preferred.

Miss Gluckman and Miss Laughren decline to discuss their relation to the two villages, referring inquiries to Messrs. Deal and Bradshaw. Mr. Deal says the whole thing is private business, though the ultimate responsibility has been taken by the United States Government. Mr. Bradshaw says he is just an architect.

Neither Manhasset nor Lucas-Hunt represents a slum clearance or low-cost housing project. The rentals at the former range from $45 to $83.50. The latter has not yet been built. The Government is guaranteeing the mortgages merely in accordance with its general idea of stimulating the construction industry.

Because of various questionable aspects of this type of development, a sweeping investigation is called for to determine whether or not a Government guarantee is justified.

WELL, WHO IS HE?

Earl B. Wixey, secretary of Senator Thomas of Utah, is disturbed about a Post-Dispatch editorial entitled "Who Is the Blatherskite?" (a blustering or noisy talkative fellow—Webster), referring to an unidentified member of the Senate Military Affairs Committee who misquoted the President as saying recently, at a secret conference, that America's frontier is in France. Mr. Wixey's protest is published in today's letter column.

Mr. Wixey evidently agrees in regarding the unidentified Senator as a blatherskite. His concern lies only in the fact that the editorial listed all the members of the committee. Since the blatherskite hid behind anonymity and since the other members declined to disclose his identity, the public was entitled to know the names of all the members—which are, of course, a matter of public record.

We should like gently to remind Mr. Wixey that his boss and his brethren on the committee can clear up the mystery and divert any suspicion from themselves by telling who the blatherskite is.

EXCITING DIARY OF A GOOD-WILL MISSION.

Two Italian war vessels, on a good-will cruise in Latin American waters, "accomplished a fundamental part of their mission," says the Rome statement announcing their recall. Maybe they did, but there is probably no record of such a mission that inspired less good will, unless it be Vittorio Mussolini's trip to Hollywood.

At Montevideo, crew members had a series of brawls with anti-Fascists, who jeered at their salutes. At Buenos Aires, the vessels got a cool reception. They didn't even stop at Chile, where an anti-Fascist Government had just taken office. At Quito, more than 100 students had to be jailed to stop their demonstration against the visitors. Costa Rica's police had a hard time keeping objectors in check, and finally the Government canceled its reception. At Panama, the high spot of the voyage, crowds hurled eggs and vegetables at the Italian Minister and Admiral. After that, Rome decided to skip San Francisco and bring home the emissaries who, it says, had drawn "still tighter the bonds of friendship between Italy and the Latin nations beyond the ocean."

JERSEY CITY'S BIG BANK CRASH.

It is up to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to pay depositors' claims of $23,000,000 in the closing of the New Jersey Title Guarantee & Trust Co. of Jersey City. Depositors thus will suffer virtually no loss, but the bank failure is a severe blow to the FDIC. Its surplus now stands at around $100,000,000; with capital stock of $289,300,000, subscribed by the Federal Treasury and Federal Reserve banks, its available capital is about $389,300,000. Payment of the Jersey City loss, largest in its six-year history, thus gives the FDIC something to think about.

American banking standards have been tightened up to a great degree since the Roosevelt bank laws took effect. Jersey City's big crash suggests, however, that still more tightening up is in order. The official explanation of its closing, "a frozen condition which resulted from the accumulation of large holdings of real estate and other illiquid assets," has the depressing ring of the accounts heard on all sides in the 1933 banking crisis. The New Deal legislation was intended to avert the recurrence of any such destructive condition as this. Yet here is a major bank that Federal authorities apparently have permitted to fall into the same errors that brought nation-wide disaster in 1933.

There is no magic in the FDIC itself. There is a limit to its resources. Any major ills that exist in the banking system must be corrected if the FDIC is to function successfully.

The banking catastrophe of six years ago is fresh in the public's memory. Its confidence in the New Deal banking reforms will be sadly shaken if the Jersey City crash reveals lax regulation.

WHAT ABOUT THE KATTELMAN PAROLE?

Harold Katteman, possessor of a long and unsavory record as a bucket-shop operator in St. Louis, was convicted on three counts in Federal Court in April, 1937, and sentenced to five years in prison. Late last December came the startling news that the Federal Parole Board had granted him a parole, effective March 1, without public hearing and without notice to Federal Judge Davis, District Attorney Blanton or any other person concerned in the case.

The spontaneous barrage of protests caused the board to reopen the case and hold a public hearing Jan. 12, at which strong objections to the parole were made. Mr. Blanton described it as "an outrage." Morris J. Levin, trustee of the ex-broker's bankrupt estate, called him "an impenitent swindler."

The board chairman expressed gratitude for the additional information, and promised "most careful consideration" of the parole. Since that time, however, nothing more has been heard about the matter.

What is delaying the board's decision? Here is an open-and-shut case which could be studied with even the most cautious approach in far less than the five weeks that have elapsed. Time is growing short. The parole has already been granted; if the board does not revoke it in the time remaining—less than two weeks—Katteman will be a free man and St. Louis public opinion will have suffered a flagrant affront.

Can it be that the Parole Board is dismissing the protest as a mere teapot tempest, and hoping the whole thing will be forgotten? If so, it is sadly mistaken. Katteman carried on his swindles here for years, and successfully resisted all legal moves against him until the Federal Government stepped in. The list of his victims is legion. They will not forget if Katteman is freed after serving less than two years of his time. Nor will the general public forget such a gross misuse of the parole system.

QUERY.

A survey of recent appointments by Mr. Roosevelt to the Federal judiciary shows that the President's actions are not always in keeping with the lofty words used in his letter to Judge Roberts of Virginia. Several of these are rooted in ordinary machine politics and one in particular, the appointment of Gaston Porterle, formerly Huey Long's Attorney-General, is atrocious. Porterle was vigorously opposed by the New Orleans Times-Picayune and leading Louisiana citizens, but his endorsement by Long's unfrankly successors was the prevailing factor.

Mr. Roosevelt is fond at every opportunity of criticizing newspapers for what he deems to be abuses of freedom of the press, charging influence of advertisers and financial interests. How would it be for him to avoid abuses of the appointing power, keeping it clear of the influence of corrupt political machines? This suggestion goes for the Senate, too.

ADMIRALS OF THE FLEET? YOU BET.

How many of us landlubbers were aware, until Rear-Admiral Taussig spoke the other day, that the American navy has no Admiral of the Fleet? And how many of us even suspected that the British navy has three Admirals of the Fleet? And does it not stand to reason that, whatever a ton-for-ton, gun-for-gun comparison might show, a navy with three Admirals of the Fleet has a mighty, if impermissible, advantage over a navy that puts to sea with no Admiral of the Fleet?

That is not all. No living man has heard the firm step of a Commodore pacing the deck of an American battleship. Yet for Americans there is tradition in that title. It was a Commodore (wasn't it?) who radioed from Lake Erie, "We have met the enemy and they are ours." And would terraced and turreted Newport ever have saluted the "Iron Mike" Vanderbilt of today except for that Commodore of the Staten Island ferry who started the family on the way up?

In disclosing these facts, it could not have been Rear-Admiral Taussig's expectation "the applause of listening Senators to command." He knew that Gerald Nye of North Dakota would denounce the proposal as gold-braided extravagance, that Bennett Clark of Missouri would demand photostatic copies of the entire correspondence between Britain's Lord of the Admiralty and Annopolis, that, from far inland, the "Little Flower" of the Michigan microphone would unroll ribbons of rhetoric. But most of us here in this favored valley, with the legendry of the Mississippi in our blood, are for three Admirals of the fleet and a liberal sprinkling of Commodores, until death do us part.

BACK TO THE ROLLER-COASTER.

It was a new streamlined, 1939-40 model Herbert Hoover who addressed the Lincoln day dinner in New York. Epigram and anecdote brightly replaced the plodding rhetoric of the mining engineer. Confidence and exultation were in his voice as he described a country which is no better off economically than it was in his own administration.

So much for the verve with which the speech was delivered. As to meaning, it was pretty much the same old dish. Where such men as Frank Knox and Bruce Barton are trying to get the G. O. P. to face the hard facts of an inescapable present, Mr. Hoover dwelt on the glories of the halcyon past.

Such indications of actual policy as could be detected under the vague generalities of his speech pointed to a return to the policies which brought us to ruin in 1929. On the tariff, for example, Mr. Hoover, who, against the advice of 1000 economists, signed the Smoot-Hawley bill, had only this to say:

It was Republicans, following Mr. Lincoln's own platform pledge, who upheld protection to workers from foreign standards of living by tariffs and sought to hold the home market for farmers against peasant labor abroad.

Compare this utterance of Mr. Hoover with the recent statement by Frank Knox that all efforts at establishing parity in purchasing power of the farmer's dollar are frustrated by excessively high tariffs. Mr. Hoover spoke of restoring "10,000,000 to jobs," and "reviving a paralyzed agriculture," but there was not in his speech one single sentence to indicate that he has anything in mind but a return to the roller-coaster economics which found the country stalled at the bottom of the track in 1929.

The failure of a Jersey City bank is a faint echo of the days when Herbert Hoover was getting all the "breaks."

LOOK OUT FOR RAIN, UNCLE.

Underground Humor in Germany

Theodore Irwin and Dr. S. Hoffman in Ken.

AN elderly physician, beaten by holdup men on a street in Berlin one night, yelled, "Help! Murder!"

That story has spread to every corner of Germany. In a whisper over a beer at a cafe, hand over lips in a shop, muffled voice behind closed doors at home, even among Hitler Nazi officials and in the barracks of the army and the Storm Troops. The grin is masked, the snicker is throttled. Many merely nod grimly. But the story moves on till it covers the nation, crosses the borders.

It's the Flueterwitz—"wit that is whispered." Tales and gags, many thousands of them leaking at the Nazi regime through the most effective of propaganda media—the mouth and ear of the German people. Perhaps the strongest weapon of protest and attack open to opponents of Hitler today, the jokes for the most part have arisen spontaneously from the people themselves. No answer aimed at the foundations of the system, has counter-attacked. In 1934, a law was passed providing for one to 10 years in prison for the crime of twitting members of the Government or functionaries of the Nazi party. Propaganda Minister Goebbels and other Nazi leaders have made repeated violent speeches against those who "use jokes to undermine public opinion."

Start with the Reichstag fire. All but the naive knew the Nazis were behind it, had thrust the blame upon the progressive political groups. A story typical of hundreds concerns an adjutant who rushes excitedly into Gen. Goering's room: "Your Excellency! The Reichstag is burning!"

Goering, somewhat surprised, looks at his watch. "What, already?" The capsule history goes on with the details of Hindenburg's rise to Hitler. There's the story of the citizen of Berlin who named his new-born twins Paul and Adolf, after Hindenburg and Hitler. He could tell the twins apart easily—the one who slept all day was Paul, the one who yelled all day was Adolf.

The Flueterwitz propaganda is often aimed, with deadly accuracy, at the core of Nazism. An illustration is the incisive gag concerning the young son of Goebbels, who is at the age of interminable questioning. The scene is the Goebbels family dinner table.

"Goebbels Jr., Father, what is this Fascism I'm always hearing about?"

"Goebbels: Shut up, and do what you're told!"

In similar vein is the story of creation, when the Lord endowed the German people with three qualities: honesty, intelligence and a capacity for National Socialism. Only two of the three, however, came together in one individual. Either a German was intelligent and a Nazi, in which case he was not honest; or he was honest and a Nazi, and was not intelligent; or, finally, if he was both intelligent and honest, then he was not a Nazi.

About Hitler himself, whose sense of humor is notoriously non-existent, the Flueterwitz are countless. Probably every man and woman in Germany has heard the following:

"Why does Hitler sit in the first row every time he goes to the theater?"

"At least there's one place he has the people behind him."

A popular yarn concerns Mueller, who, with many others, had joined the Storm Troops merely for protection. A friend, meet-

The Roots of Crime

Books in the News

IT is to be expected that a man who has spent 34 years disciplining and trying to rehabilitate prisoners should have accumulated some interesting observations on the causes and treatment of crime. In "Invisible Stripes" (Farrar & Rinehart, Inc., New York), Lewis E. Lawes, Warden of Sing Sing, tells why, in his opinion, individuals are led to embark upon criminal careers and why so many of them are repeaters.

As to the causes of crime, Warden Lawes returns a fourfold indictment. In turn, he examines the home, the church, the school and our economic structure and finds each doing its part to populate the prisons.

The decay of family ties and the degeneration of the home into a vague port of call, the failure of parents to become trusted confidants of their children or to encourage them to develop their natural talents, take away the first natural moorings of character.

The discovery that 95 per cent of prisoners admit a belief in God but are yet ignorant of the significance of goodness has convinced the author that the church has substituted the "cold symbolism of form and ritual for the homely virtues of charity, sympathy and brotherhood." While 17,000,000 young people are without direct religious affiliation, he charges the church with failure to provide even the youth whom it does reach with a code which will stabilize it in a world fraught with temptation.

Most telling is his criticism of the schools for employing methods of mass education, which overlook the needs of the individual. To pull its due weight in the fight against crime, the school must center on realizing the potentialities of each pupil and must place greater stress on vocational education as compared with mere book learning.

But granted that home, church and school environment have all been good, this practical criminologist still sees a potent temptation for the youth to go wrong if he is denied the right to make for himself a decent place in the social and economic structure. Widespread lack of opportunity, long continued, is an influence not only for individual crime but also for the form of social gangsterism identified with the Fascist state.

Warden Lawes makes a convincing case for parole, and lays the blame for its present faults on maladministration—Only the Federal Government and four states are credited with intelligent parole systems. Missouri is not on the approved list.

Missouri is, however, on the list of states cited for ineffective criminal laws. Of St. Louis, it is noted that the 15,021 crimes committed in 1937 resulted in only 1,223 convictions. Our legislators could benefit on several counts, from reading "Invisible Stripes."

THE three most recent publications of the Public Affairs Committee, Inc., New York, maintain the high level of interest and usefulness which has characterized this group's work from the beginning. "Machines and Tomorrow's World" by W. F. Ogburn, University of Chicago sociologist, is a concise presentation of machinery as a challenge to society. In "How Good Are Our Colleges?" Goodwin Watson of Columbia University offers constructive criticism of the college system and makes stimulating suggestions for changes. "Who Can Afford Health?" by Beulah Amidon of the Survey Graphic staff, probes sharply into the urgent question of how to improve American medical services.

For that reason it makes station in Europe much more if the Japanese, and the United States at Hainan that the Singapore is open, the hesitancy the Japanese moderates will certainly be overcome. The of a major military-diplomatic offensive on three fronts, in Europe, in Africa, and in the Far East—will be unarguably insured.

If that offensive is successful European Fascist Powers will broken through into the Atlantic establishing themselves in Africa, and the Japanese be masters of Singapore, one of the two controlling the other being Panama, Pacific. The United States.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The Frontiers of the United States

It will not be easy to regard the occupation of the island of Hainan by the Japanese Navy as a mere incident of the war in China. With this strategic outpost to the west and the naval bases in the mandated islands to the east, the Philippines are surrounded. But what is even more important, at Hainan Japan obtains an advanced base within 1500 miles of Singapore. The timing of this new aggression cannot be ignored: The Japanese have acted at the moment when the Spanish civil war is ending and the diplomatic struggle for the naval control of the Mediterranean and the Eastern Atlantic is approaching a crisis. It has been the Japanese method to begin each new phase of conquest by testing out the resistance that might be offered.

Thus, before the Japanese decided to invade China proper in the summer of 1937, they tested out the Russians by sinking a Russian gunboat on the Amur River. When the Russians showed they were incapable of doing anything, the Japanese began their invasion of Northern China. A year later, that is last summer, when the Czech crisis was developing in Europe, the Japanese made a second test of the Russian power. There was a Russo-Japanese battle on the Manchurian border. The test convinced them that they need not fear the Russians, and so, while Britain and France were preoccupied in Europe, the Japanese invaded Southern China, took Canton, and struck down the British power at Hongkong.

Once again they are, it would seem, testing out the resistance before making another great advance. This time they have seized a strategic island which lies within the French sphere of influence and is of extraordinary importance to the whole British position in the East Indies and even in Australia. They have chosen a moment when the naval power of Great Britain and France is anxiously preoccupied in European waters.

Their action places the British and French in an ugly dilemma. If the British send enough ships to the Far East to check the Japanese advance, they will become too weak in Europe to check the Italian advance which would then, because the risks were reduced, almost certainly obtain much more active backing from Germany. And if they do not send ships to the Far East, the Japanese are in a position to establish a naval control of the Western Pacific, and to command the immense resources of the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines and Australia. On established in this vital center of world power, the Japanese Empire cannot be dislodged without a great and exhausting war.

Which ever way one looks at it, the situation is too serious to be regarded with indifference by the United States. The seizure of Hainan at the moment when Britain and France are so vitally concerned about Malacca and Morocco and the independence of Spain does not have the air of coincidence. It looks very much like concerted action.

For that reason it makes the situation in Europe much more critical. If the Japanese are so vitally concerned about Malacca and Morocco and the independence of Spain, which is one of the two controlling points, the other being Panama, in the Pacific. The United States, which has only one navy, though it has to defend itself in two oceans, will find that it is isolated in a way which no isolation will like. The United States cannot be indifferent to a situation which threatens, perhaps within the next few months, to establish in both oceans at once, and at the strategic points which control the two oceans, an alliance of highly armed powers bent on the conquest of empire. This is no question of our intervening in the affairs of Europe and Asia. This is a question of preserving our security in the two oceans, amidst which the American continents are placed.

Nor is it a question of our going to war in Europe or Asia. It is a question of using our diplomatic power effectively and promptly to prevent the development of a situation which will lead either to a world war, not a European war but a world war, or to a greater Munich, in which the strategic control of the Pacific and the Atlantic is transferred from friendly and unaggressive nations to aggressive and not very friendly ones. Resolute diplomatic action, if well conceived and supported by Congress and American public opinion, can at this juncture avert both the danger of a world war and the danger of a complete overturn of our naval position in the two oceans.

The main lines of that diplomatic action are clearly indicated by the situation. We should inform the Japanese that the establishment of naval positions anywhere in the Pacific, at Hainan or in the mandated islands, is contrary to the meaning of the third treaty signed at Washington in 1922; and we should invoke the consultative clauses of that treaty which obligate Japan to explain to us, to the British and to the French, what these encroachments by its navy signify. To strengthen our diplomacy in this action, Congress should authorize once the fortification of Guam. Japan's response to the invitation to consult and negotiate should then determine whether or not we actually proceed to fortify Guam.

At the same time, we should clarify our position in Europe by making it plain that, having scrupulously refused to help either side in the Spanish civil war, we regard it as an American interest that Spain should be an independent and neutral Power. This is what Gen. Franco declares to be his interest, and there is no reason to doubt the sincerity of his professions. He can unite his country, and reconstruct it, only if Spain is able to disentangle itself from European power politics and to enjoy a long period of peace.

Though Gen. Franco needed Italian help to win the civil war, he now needs British and French help to win and to preserve Spanish independence. It is an American interest, as a matter of basic naval security, that he should get that help. For with Spain independent, the dangers of a European war would at once be greatly reduced and the security of the Atlantic Ocean greatly improved.

The most effective way to contribute to this result would be to open our markets in war, as well as in peace, to the governments—which now include Gen. Franco's—which have a vital interest in maintaining the existing naval position in the Atlantic.

The alternative to such a two-fold diplomatic action in the two oceans is not to do nothing and to pretend to believe that our frontier is at the 12-mile limit. Our frontier is not on the Rhine. Our frontier is not at Hankow. But our frontier is in both the great oceans, and we do not maintain that frontier by diplomacy today, tomorrow we shall have to defend it by building another navy.

CHARLES R. CRANE, EX-DIPLOMAT, DIES

Head of Chicago Plumbing Supply Firm Stricken at 80 in California.

By the Associated Press.

ALTADENA, Cal., Feb. 15.—Charles R. Crane, United States Minister to China in 1920 and 1921, died suddenly at his Palm Springs (Cal.) winter home of pneumonia, he was 80 years old.

A member of the prominent Chicago family and president of a plumbing supplies company, Crane was in ill health only a few days and his death came as a surprise to his sister here, Mrs. Kate Crane Gatz, who left immediately for Palm Springs.

She said he went to Palm Springs three months ago.

Crane represented the diplomatic service in Turkey and Russia before President Woodrow Wilson appointed him Minister to China. Two daughters, Mrs. H. C. Bradley of Wisconsin and Miss Frances Crane of New York, and a son, John, now in Italy, survive.

Born in Chicago, he became vice-president of the Crane company in 1924. In 1927 he was named President Wilson's special diplomatic commission to Russia and in 1919 was named American commissioner on mandates in Turkey.

Mr. Crane also was an honorary adviser to the national government of China and a former president of the Municipal Voters League, Chicago.

In his youth, owing to frail health, his parents let him choose whether he would go to college or travel. He chose the latter and became an eminent authority on foreign affairs and diplomacy before the World War, particularly on conditions in the Balkans and Far East.

He knew intimately leaders in various countries. He was 66 when honorary degrees were awarded to him by Harvard and the University of Wisconsin.

Twice he was named minister to China, by President Taft in 1909 and 10 years later by President Wilson. His first portfolio was terminated before he got to China, being recalled as the result of speeches and interviews regarding Manchurian affairs made while en route to his post.

HOOVER URGES PARENTS KEEP CONTROL OF YOUTH ACTIVITIES

He Advises Against Surrender of Character-Building to the State.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Former President Herbert Hoover, speaking over the radio on the observance of Boy Scout week, advised Americans last night not to surrender youth activities to the Government.

In the Fascist and Communist countries, said Hoover, youth organizations "build for regimentation, for submission, and for mental and moral subjection to their masters. . . . They build for militarism. . . . It will be a sign of degeneration when we as private citizens shall surrender character-building to the state. That is not the place where personality and character can ever be built."

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, an active vice-president of the Boy Scouts in a broadcast said scouting "is built on the American principle—Protestant, Catholic, Jew, they are all scouts and stand as individuals, not as members of any particular sect. That is also the reason why scouting does not exist in the dictator countries."

PROF. R. G. USHER DISCUSSES POSSIBLE U. S. COURSES IN WAR

Says Stand in Support of Democracies Probably Would Prevent Conflict.

A definite stand by the United States in support of democracies probably would prevent a war, Roland G. Usher, professor of history at Washington University, said in a lecture at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. last night.

Discussing possible courses of this country in event of a war, Prof. Usher said that, from an economic standpoint, complete isolation would be the most expensive procedure, resulting in "the worst economic depression this country has ever known."

"Two other alternatives," he said, "selling to friendly combatants or furnishing them with military aid after the war has begun, would be less disastrous for us economically, but, nevertheless, expensive. Still a fourth course open to us, letting the dictators know that in event of a war we would throw our complete resources behind the Western democracies, probably would prevent a war. This is the view of Mr. Dodd, our former Ambassador to Germany, and I agree with it."

SCHOOL EMPLOYEES PUT UP $15,500 IN TAX RATE DRIVE

Donations by Teachers and Others to Campaign for 85-Cent Levy Shown in Report.

Teachers and other public school employees contributed $15,544 to the successful campaign last year for retention of the 85-cent school tax rate, it was shown in a report to the Board of Education yesterday by Superintendent of Instruction Henry J. Gerling. This sum was augmented by a $6530 balance from the 1934 tax campaign.

Expenditures in last year's campaign were $16,109. This left a balance of $5965, of which $5044 was turned over to the new pupils' relief fund and $920 put in the old public schools relief fund. The new account was set up to avoid judicial regulations which might restrict the old account, under the will of Mrs. Frank A. Ruf, who made a bequest to the old fund. Both funds are for the aid of needy students.

The school employees donated a total of $18,584 last year, or about 1 per cent of the aggregate payroll. Besides the contribution to the tax campaign, the distribution, as ordered by the school principals, was as follows: United Charities, Inc., $80,000; public schools relief fund, $12,000; Salvage Army, $2015; Boy Scouts, $1500; Girl Scouts, $149; fund to reimburse pupils for losses in school savings accounts in closed banks, $74. The largest portion of the subscriptions, $84,108, came from the instruction department.

HOUSE EXPUNGES VOTE ON CONFERENCE RULE

Makes Motion to Rescind Action on It, Special Order for Tomorrow.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—The House made another attempt today to settle the question whether it would adopt the joint Senate-House rules already approved by the Senate, including a new rule authorizing free conference committees on appropriation bills, but finally laid it over until tomorrow after expunging the record of all that was done in the matter yesterday.

After deleting from the journal the parliamentary snarl of yesterday, which included the approval of the controversial rule by a one-vote margin, which was gained by recording as aye, the vote of a member who protested he desired to vote no, the matter was made a special order of business for 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Tomorrow, if no more parliamentary troubles develop, the House will vote on the question whether it will recede, as requested by the Senate, from its action of last Thursday in striking from the joint rules the proposed new rule to give conference committees a free hand on appropriation bills. That rule was rejected on the ground it would give conference committees too much power to rewrite appropriation bills, thrown into a Senate-House conference.

Today Representative A. H. Steinbeck, Republican, of Franklin County, said he had voted no on the motion yesterday, but his vote had not been recorded on the roll call. Associates verified this, but Steinbeck did not raise the point when a vote verification was made yesterday.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH BUFFALO LAWYERS ADOPT MINIMUM FEE SCHEDULE

Charge for First Consultation $3; for City Court Trial $25.
By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Erie County lawyers operated today under a schedule of minimum fees ranging upwards from $3, depending on the services required. The county bar association adopted the minimum fee schedule offered by a special committee. Adoption of such a schedule had been discussed for 15 years.

One of the chief supporters of the plan, Karl A. McCormick, said a schedule of minimum fees was needed to guide young attorneys.

George W. Wamaker, president of the Buffalo Common Council, said fixed minimum rates "smacked of trade unionism" and would not cure the economic ills of the profession.

The rates adopted included a $3 initial charge for consultation and advice, $25 or trial in City Court and $75 to $200 for county and Supreme Court trials.

day. If Steinbeck's vote were recorded, as he requested, the vote on the motion would be a tie, 67-67, and the motion would be lost.

After much reading of rule books and parliamentary authorities, Speaker Christy announced the fairest procedure would be to expunge the whole record and start over, and the House agreed, 105 to 19.

SUICIDE RATE RISES AFTER 5-YEAR DECLINE

Increases With 1937 Recession, but Homicides Show Decrease.

Suicides in this country, which had declined since 1932 with the easing of the depression, rose again in the 1937 "recession," Dr. Lee D. Cady said last night at a meeting of St. Louis Medical Society, 3839 Lindell boulevard.

Many people could not stand prosperity, as indicated by the rise in suicide rates from 1924 to 1929, said Dr. Cady, former president of the society, but even more comprehensive study of factors and preventive means in suicide, and the effects of depressions, wars could not stand the depression, as indicated by continued rise through 1932. Suicide and homicide rates fell as the New Deal got under way, he added, but only the homicide rate continued downward through the "recession."

"This is as striking as it is unexpected," commented Dr. Cady. "Could it be that people are respecting the law?"

Relating that a committee of New York University College of Medicine is making a one-year and revolutions, he remarked that Census Bureau suicide rate reports showed social crises had a very definite effect. Wars, he said, may cause some "slacker" suicides, but seem to offer escapes to a greater number who might otherwise die by their own hands.

Japanese Suicides Decrease.
"During the World War the German and English suicide rates fell off 24 and 26 per cent respectively," he said. "In 1937, the Japanese suicide rate fell 14 per cent, which was not quite enough to indicate patriotic fervor as regards the war in China."

In this country, the suicide rate rose from 11.5 to the 100,000 population in 1900 to 16 in 1905, but dropped again to 13.9 in 1906, "when the San Francisco earthquake and fire distracted the would-be suicide and made him feel that he really was better off than many other people."

"But in 1907," he continued, "when the social piper had to be paid by means of a bank panic, the rate popped up to 15.7. The next year, 1908, more people had financial trouble unresolved and there were political fears. President Taft was elected. Suicides rose to a new high of 17.8."

"Another significant thing was taking place in the popular mind. Tempers were becoming shorter. In 1900 one had only 2.1 chances out of 100,000 of being carried off by homicide. The rate for homicidal deaths topped all previous figures at 6.4 in 1908. It began to appear that some of the suicides occurred after the questionable satisfaction of doing a murder first."

Decline During Boom.
Emotional stresses eased off between 1909 and 1914, he related, with homicide rates, however, remaining above 5.6 ever since 1909. Homicide rates were 7.4 in 1914 and 7 in 1915 and 1916, although in 1916, when "our war industrial boom was going well," suicides began to decline, from 14.2 that year to 10.2 in 1920. Homicide rates rose briefly in 1917, but returned by 1920 to 7.1, which had been the figure in 1915.

As in the panic 14 years earlier, and in the depression that was to come eight years later, both rates rose, though not so much, in the comparatively light "post-war slump" of 1921.

Both rates rose steadily from 1924 through the election year, 1932, when suicides, at the highest level since 1908, stood at 17.4. With "the alphabetical governmental organizations which were designed to raise the country," suicides declined to 15.9 in 1933 and 14.2 in 1936. Data for 1937 showed a return to 15.9 while the homicide rate, 8 in 1936, had declined to 7.7.

COUNTY COURT TO RECONSIDER FIRING OF TWO RELIEF WORKERS

After receiving a telegram from State Senator Raleigh McCormick protesting against "injection of politics into the county relief work" in connection with the discharge of two men, Presiding Judge Clifford Cornell said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today that the County Court would reconsider the discharge. Cornell declared the men, Erwin Knapp, 222 Reavis place, Webster Groves, and Lawrence Barry, Ford road, Lemay, Democrats, were not fired for political reasons. The men are employed by the county to drive a truck used to distribute Federal surplus commodities for County Social Security Commission office and will leave their jobs Feb. 28.

Hubert Harris, director of the social security office, said the discharges were "purely political so far as I know," but added that the commission planned no protest as the court had acted within its right. Harris declared the men had good records for honesty and efficiency.

NAVY PLANS GOOD WILL VISIT TO S. AMERICA

Ten Cruisers and Destroyers to Make Trips to Various Ports in Spring.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The United States will send a half dozen cruisers and four destroyers on a good will visit to South America in the spring, the Navy Department announced yesterday. The trip is scheduled to begin at the conclusion of the war games now in progress in the Caribbean Sea.

In the same announcement, the navy disclosed that it would strengthen its new Atlantic squadron after the games by addition of four 10,000-ton heavy cruisers. No reason was advanced for the decision.

The four vessels are the Houston, the San Francisco, the Quincy and the Tuscaloosa. They will become a part of a force which already includes some 30 war craft. The Houston will take President Roosevelt to the Pacific when the main United States fleet returned to the San Pedro-San Diego area in May.

The net increase in strength was not revealed. It is understood that at least some of the light cruisers transferred to the West coast will be replaced by other new ships of the type now under construction.

The four heavy cruisers, which comprise Cruiser Division 7, are commanded by Rear Admiral H. E. Kimmel. Three of these will make the good will visit to South America.

Departing April 8 from the Guantanamo (Cuba) base, the San Francisco, Quincy and Tuscaloosa will visit La Guaira, Venezuela, Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo, Buenos Aires, Valparaiso, Callao and Balboa. Under command of Rear Admiral W. S. Anderson, the Northampton, Salt Lake City and Pensacola of Cruiser Division 4 will sail March 18 from Guantanamo. They will call at Cartagena, Colombia and the Canal Zone on the way back to San Pedro.

Destroyer Division 4, under Commander T. L. Gatch, will sail May 17 from New York, and visit the Canal Zone, Guayaquil, Ecuador, and join the fleet off Panama, June 4.

Missions to South America. A program, under which the United States will station more military representatives in Latin American republics and give assistance to those countries, soon will go into effect.

Within a few months, the United States will have 29 officers of the army, including the air force, in Latin America, in addition to naval attaches and missions.

The program is said to indicate an attempt on the part of the administration to offset the attempts by totalitarian states to penetrate Latin America through military representatives and missions.

The program, which is disclosed for the first time, follows in part: An officer will go to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, to cover Honduras, Salvador and Guatemala.

Another will go to Lima, Peru, to handle matters pertaining to Ecuador and Peru.

The aviation mission now in Argentina, consisting of two Majors, four Captains and two First Lieutenants, will be continued.

The military mission in Brazil, formerly of four men, has been increased to five with the addition of an ordnance officer.

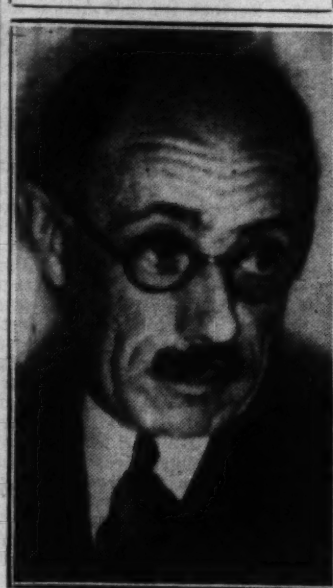

The two army instructors in Haiti will be increased by one. The navy is sending a naval attaché to Cuba. He will have duties that will take him to other points in the Caribbean Sea also.

At present there are 22 American army officers in Latin American nations, as follows: Argentina, 9; Brazil, 5; Central America, 2; Haiti, 2; Mexico, 1; Cuba, 1; Colombia, 1; Chile, 1.

Increases are scheduled as follows: Nicaragua, 1; Haiti, 1; Honduras, 1; Venezuela, 1; Peru, 1; Mexico, 1; Brazil, 1.

and Yugoslavia arising from the treatment of Hungarian minorities in those countries.

Parliament met a few minutes after Imredi, after a night of conferences, announced to Horty that he and his cabinet were quitting.

Several leaders were called to the office of the regent on Castle Hill.

The retirement of Imredi was a blow to his "new life" movement, which opponents charged was founded as an entering wedge for a one-party system.

Opposition legislators had prepared to assail the Premier, particularly on his proposed legislation to regulate Jews, but on learning of the Government's resignation parliament adjourned to give party leaders an opportunity to study the situation.

There are about 650,000 Jews in Hungary's total population of 9,748,319. By annexing 4675 square miles of Czechoslovakia last fall, Hungary gained 150,000 Jews.

Imredi's proposed laws would limit the voting rights of Jews and restrict their participation in designated businesses to a ratio of from 6 to 12 per cent of the total number of persons engaged.

CANADIAN PRIME MINISTER PRAISES U. S. TRADE PACT

Tells House of Commons Secretary Hull's Service to World Is Unparalleled.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—Prime Minister MacKenzie King moved in the House of Commons yesterday for ratification of the new Canada-United States trade agreement, declaring the treaty, along with the trade pact between the United States and the United Kingdom, marked "a return to sound economics."

Debate was delayed until Friday on motion of the Conservative leader, Dr. J. M. Bennett, who said the Prime Minister's remarks about international significance of the pact were fanciful.

MacKenzie King said the two trade agreements were a forward step in betterment of international relations and the first material breach in the high tariff structure and trade restrictions which, he said, made for economic conflict and war.

The Prime Minister praised United States Secretary of State Hull as "a great reformer in the matter of trade."

"His example and his service to the world during this period of its trials, I think, are unparalleled by any other individual in any other country," MacKenzie King said.

FUNERAL OF MRS. PATERSON WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

She Was 79, and Taught in Kindergarten Here for 44 Years.

The funeral of Mrs. Nellie L. Paterson, for 44 years a kindergarten teacher in St. Louis public schools, who died Monday in Boston, will be held at the Alexander undertaking establishment, 6175 Delmar boulevard, at 4 p. m. tomorrow. She was 79 years old. Burial will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

At the time of Mrs. Paterson's resignation in October, 1937, the Board of Education adopted a resolution praising her as an outstanding kindergarten teacher. For the 30 years preceding her retirement she had taught one of the largest kindergartens in the city, that of Lafayette School, 815 Ann avenue.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Wilard Mason, Brockton, Mass., and a son, George B. Paterson of Chicago.

TEACHERS' OATH ACT REPEAL APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

Fight on Law Now Goes to Floors of Massachusetts House and Senate.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—A joint committee of the Legislature voted 8 to 7 last night for repeal of the State's controversial teachers' oath law. The act requires teachers to swear allegiance to Federal and State constitutions under penalty of dismissal. Gov. Leverett Saltonstall has promised to sign a repeal act.

Educators, labor leaders and Communist organizations attacked the law while veterans organizations joined Thomas Dorgan, author of the law in 1935, in defending it.

HEARING ON BACK TAX INSTALLMENT PLAN

St. Louisans Appear in Support of Missouri Senate Bill.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—The Senate Committee on Ways and Means has under consideration a bill which would permit persons and firms to pay delinquent real and personal property taxes in 10 annual installments. The bill covers taxes owed to the State, counties, cities or school districts.

Laws providing for the payment of delinquent taxes under an installment plan have been enacted previously, but they generally provided for the payment in quarterly installments for a year. The longer period is proposed primarily for the benefit of owners of real estate whose taxes have been delinquent for several years and who now owe substantial amounts in taxes, penalties and interest.

It was pointed out at a hearing on the bill before the committee yesterday that persons who were unable to borrow enough to pay off the entire indebtedness would be able under the pending proposal to obtain sufficient loans, if necessary, to pay off the installments each year.

The proposed law is supported by real estate dealers, the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and the City of St. Louis, which is desirous of the passage of any workable bill which will encourage its residents and firms to pay their delinquent taxes, and thereby make available funds to aid in reducing the municipal deficit.

Under the measure, persons and firms owing taxes for the last five years could enter into a contract with the collector for the payment of the delinquent amounts, one-half of the accrued collector's commissions.

The unpaid taxes would continue to be a lien against the delinquent real property and a charge against the taxpayer owing personal property taxes until the final installment had been paid. The installment-plan contract would become void on the failure to meet one of the installments, or on the failure to pay subsequent taxes on the delinquent property. When the contract is canceled the entire amount of delinquent taxes becomes due, less the payments made under the plan. No contract could be made if the annual installments were for less than $5.

Those appearing in behalf of the bill were former State Representative Fred Joseph, lobbyist for St. Louis City; Eugene D. Ruth Jr., University City, president of the Missouri State Real Estate Board; Clarence C. Lang, secretary of the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange, and Thomas H. Rogers, representing the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

DENTIST ON BRUSHING TEETH

Cleaning Before Breakfast Unnecessary, He Says.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Dr. Isadore Hirschfeld, associate professor at Columbia University, told 7500 dentists attending the Chicago Dental Society's convention yesterday that brushing teeth before breakfast was absolutely unnecessary.

"Why should you?" he asked. "If you brush your teeth before retiring, they are still clean." Two brushings a day were essential—after breakfast and before going to bed, he said.

CONNORS, KARNS WIN IN PRIMARY AT EAST ST. LOUIS

Two to Oppose Each Other for Mayor in Election — Their Slates of Commissioners Chosen.

M'GLYNN FACTION POLLS MOST VOTES

Head of Ticket Runs About 4000 Ahead of Candidate Backed by John J. Hallihan's Group.

John T. Connors, East St. Louis Finance Commissioner, and John M. Karns, Public Administrator of St. Clair County, were chosen to oppose each other as candidates for Mayor of East St. Louis, in the non-partisan municipal primary elections held there yesterday. The general election will be held April 4, when a Mayor and four commissioners will be elected for four-year terms.

Connors, heading an administration slate supported by Dan McGlynn Jr., Republican leader, received 16,417 votes, and Karns, whose slate was backed by John J. Hallihan, Democratic leader, received 12,441, in complete but unofficial returns from the city's 86 precincts.

The four candidates for commissioner on each of the two contending slates were nominated. The 15 independent candidates, with one exception, ran far behind. Administration candidates received from 2000 to 3000 votes more than their opponents, running as follows: Commissioner of Streets John T. English, 12,954; Superintendent of Streets Leo J. Dougherty, 12,660; Police Commissioner Albert P. Lauman, 11,341; Commissioner of Public Property Joe W. Fenschelitz, 11,235.

Candidates on the Karns anti-administration ticket received the following vote: John Joe Foley, former Chief of Park Road Police, 9928; Alvin G. Fields, member of the East Side Levee Board and chairman of the City Central Democratic Committee, 9821; Edward Reimann, secretary of the East St. Louis Retail Merchants' Association, 9816; Eugene I. Hayes, member of the St. Clair County Board of Review, 8520.

The returns indicated an increase in voting strength of the McGlynn's Republican organization. In the race for Mayor in the 1935 primary elections, English, then a member of the East Side Levee Board, who was supported by McGlynn, lost to Mayor James T. Crow, Hallihan-supported candidate, who received 14,298 votes, a majority of 4754. Yesterday Connors, with Republican machine support, won by about the same majority.

Two candidates were nominated yesterday for Police Magistrate. They were: Leo J. Sullivan, who received 8797 votes, and H. A. Drummond, who received 5579. One will be elected April 4.

The vote for the two independent candidates for Mayor were: Walter E. Coonan, 609; Robert M. Davis, 262. Independent candidates for Commissioner polled the following vote: Dan Foley, 7782; George A. Halpin, 4688; James M. Ames, 4092; John T. R. Godlewski, 2603; Maurice V. Foley, 927; Walter W. Hinderberger, 757; Harry L. Becker, 777; Charles M. Burke, 640; Holbrook B. Hamilton, 546; Charles Blue, 420; Edward G. Behrens, 339; G. J. Elmore, 393; Charles George Davis, 326; John R. Keeney, 275; and Sterling Huxtable, 256.

Other Police Magistrate candidates received the following vote: William Silas Hockaday, 3322; William Williams, 3492; Barney Johnson, 1400; August W. Yucis, 1261; Elmer Kreiser, 1090; Harry W. Michael, 830; Frank Hogg, 662; Joseph M. Kaufman, 477; and Marvin M. Gramlich, 399.

10 MORE HANDBOOKS RAIDED AND 10 CLERKS ARRESTED

Ten clerks in as many handbook shops were arrested by city detectives yesterday on misdemeanor charges and for violation of a city ordinance against vagrancy. Each was released on $100 bond.

The clerks and the places where they were arrested were: Albert Brockman, 3 South Vandewater avenue; John Drikow, 2318 South Grand boulevard; Charles Morgan, 3808 South Grand; Eugene Woolsey, 5880 Delmar boulevard; John Coffey, 6211 Delmar; George Reale, 6223 Delmar; John Beltram, 580 De Bellevue avenue; James Hill, 620 Hamilton avenue; John Barry, 510 Chestnut street, and Daniel Curran, 925 Chestnut.

Memorial services for Judge Charles E. Faris of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, who died Dec. 15, will be held in the Kansas City division of the court, in the Federal Reserve Bank Building there, at 10 a. m. March 13. Clerk E. E. Koch announced yesterday. Another memorial program will be held in United States District Court here. The date has not been set.

ARGENTINA CUTS U. S. IMPORTS 40 PER CENT

Government Says Decrease Is Necessary to Correct Trade Balance.

By the Associated Press. BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 15.—The Ministry of Finance this morning announced a sweeping curtailment of imports from the United States. The announcement, a half-page advertisement in morning newspapers, said the decrease was necessary to remedy Argentina's unfavorable trade balance with the United States.

"It is necessary importations from the United States return to the level of three or four years ago if the equilibrium or balance of payments under present conditions be maintained," the announcement said.

This would mean a cut of at least 40 per cent from United States sales to Argentina in 1938, or at least $31,000,000.

Reduction Already in Effect, Trade Experts Say. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—American trade experts received without great surprise today the news from Buenos Aires that Argentina had decided to cut imports from the United States to a level of three or four years ago. Today's decree, was said here, formalized a system already in effect.

Among the reasons assigned for the action was Argentina's concern at not being able to penetrate the United States market and the failure of Congress to consent to ratification of the sanitary agreement which would have permitted the entrance of Argentine meat products into this country.

Two State Department officials, William Fowler and James Sappington, have just returned to Washington following an extensive survey in Argentina of trade agreement prospects. Attempts to reach such an agreement have been balked by Argentina's exchange control on the one hand and United States refusal to let in Argentine meat on the other.

The Commerce Department said Argentine restrictions on United States goods were intensified Dec. 1. It said that Argentine purchases in this country as a whole dropped from $94,183,000 in 1937 to $86,724,000 in 1938.

PACKERS TRYING TO FIND NEW MARKETS FOR LARD

Price Near 4-Year Low, Attributed in Part to Use of Substitutes.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Efforts to increase the use of common lard, were taking shape in the packing and provisions business today as a result of the low price of the commodity.

The unusually low price of lard in relation to that of hogs has aroused concern in processing circles and among farmers.

Lard is near the lowest price in four years. Last week loose lard here fell to 5 1/2 cents a pound where as the average live price of hogs was 7 1/2 to 8 cents. Provisions experts said many dealers believe lard should sell at a price about equal to that of the hog. A year ago the price was around 8 cents and in 1935 it was as high as 17 cents.

Provisions men said the low lard price was the result partly of increased use of substitute fats and oils. The high prices of three years ago, when hog and lard supplies were small, stimulated use of the substitutes.

SCHOOL BOARD TO TAKE UP EAGLETON'S PLAN

Proposal to Extend Superintendent's Power Gaining in Favor, He Reports.

The proposal of Mark D. Eagleton, member of the Board of Education, for a revision of State law to give the board's superintendent of instruction supervision of the building department will be discussed by the board at a caucus and an adjourned formal meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Eagleton's idea, first disclosed in the Post-Dispatch last Friday, was introduced at last night's regular meeting. He said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that sentiment in favor of it seemed to have been growing and he was hopeful it would be approved.

It was expected, he said, that Dr. George D. Strayer, director of the general survey of the school system, to be completed in April, would recommend a centralization of administrative authority. In submitting a set of amendments to the school law, Eagleton, a lawyer, told the board, quoting a report of President Roosevelt's Committee on Administrative Management, that the object was to establish "a responsible and effective chief executive as the center of energy, direction and administrative management."

The quotation was taken from a report written by Dr. Strayer, who set it out prominently. Dr. Strayer has declined to state what he will recommend for St. Louis. He and the executive officers of the board will participate in the conference with the board tomorrow. The conference was called by Superintendent Henry J. Gerling for an exchange of ideas concerning the board's organization.

It would be too late to introduce the amendments in the present session of the Legislature if the board awaited the survey report.

One amendment would change the title from Superintendent of Instruction to Superintendent of Schools, in section 9075 of the Revised Statutes, and would give this official, under control of the board, general supervision of construction, maintenance, repair and management of school buildings. Section 9076 would be changed to put the Building Commissioner under the Superintendent's supervision, but would leave the Commissioner as the official responsible for building operation and maintenance, as a board appointee with a four-year term.

Conforming changes would be made in Section 9077, which deals with the Building Commissioner's powers and duties. They would make the Superintendent responsible for the proper performance of duties by the commissioner's assistants and deputies and would make these employees subject to removal by the Superintendent. In addition, it would be made mandatory for the commissioner to appoint janitors and engineers from a list obtained through competitive examination. If the board should provide for such examination. The present law makes this discretionary with the commissioner, but the board has not provided for examination.

Eagleton explained that the statutory offices of auditor and secretary-treasurer should be left independent, under the board's direction, and that the instruction and building departments were the major units. The offices of Supply Commissioner and attorney were created by board rule, rather than statute, and could be placed under the superintendent by the board, if desired.

Contracts aggregating $285,473 for erection of a new Banneker (Negro) school, Ewing and Lucas avenue, were awarded by the board to the concerns which submitted low bids last week. An order for condemnation of 80 front feet of the site of the new Waring (Negro) school, on Compton avenue, north of Market street, was withdrawn, because the owners, the Witter Estate, decided to sell to the board for $13,850. The board voted to return to the city the site of Bingham avenue, between Virginia and Louisiana avenues, because a plan for an addition to Cleveland High School has been dropped.

The board appropriated $1600 to pay expenses of members, at not more than $200 each, to attend the convention of the American Association of School Administrators at Cleveland, opening Feb. 25.

PROFESSOR OPPOSES SENATE MARRIAGE HEALTH BILL

Tells Committee Requirements for Microscopic Test Will Result in Bootleg Certificates. JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 15.—Fear of bootlegging in marriage health certificates if the Kinney-McCormick marriage health bill becomes law was expressed by a consultant of the United States Public Health Service yesterday.

Dr. Roger Deakin, professor of genito-urinary surgery in the Washington University School of Medicine, told the Senate Public Health Committee he was against the bill because it provided for microscopic tests to determine the absence of gonorrhea before health certificates could be issued.

"Since we have no simple or certain tests for gonorrhea, bootlegging of health certificates will be the order of the day if this bill is enacted," he asserted.

Dr. Deakin and William L. Weiss, vice-president of the Young Men's Division of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, said there was "no question that Missouri should have a marriage health law."

STOCKS NEW AIRCRAFTS IN FLIGHT WITH DEFENCE

Word That France Had Placed Orders for 500 New War Planes and Trade Report of Evidence of "Gradual Improvement" in Steel Industry Influence Groups.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Aircraft and steel sprang to the head of a sluggish stock market today.

The aviation shares, popularized by the world-wide rearmament race, flashed back into speculative favor following the announcement of additional heavy French orders for warplanes in this country and some issues climbed a point or more.

A rise in scrap prices in Pittsburgh, together with the further increase in the industry's operating rate this week, seemed to turn attention to steel shares, partly out of hope the current developments portended more activity as spring approaches.

The market as a whole, however, was slow to take the bullish hint from steel and aircraft. Dealings remained around low ebb for the new year, totaling 488,180 shares.

Bonds and commodities also drifted along the recent course, varying little up or down.

Traders got a chill in the final hour as Callahan Zinc quickly lost about half its quoted value on a report the SEC had ordered a hearing to determine whether the issue should be suspended or withdrawn from the exchange.

Outstanding among the gainers were Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Sperry, Bethlehem Steel, United States Steel, J. C. Penney, Glenn Martin, North American Aviation and United Fruit. Lagging most of the time were Goodyear, Union Carbide and Dunhill International.

On the curb, Lockheed joined the move in aircraft, while most shares barely moved. Great Atlantic & Pacific was off more than 2 at one time.

Chicago wheat ended $\frac{1}{4}$ lower to $\frac{1}{2}$ of a cent a bushel higher. Corn was $\frac{1}{4}$ off to $\frac{1}{4}$ up. Cotton futures in late trading was 5 to 35 cents a bale lower.

At mid-afternoon, the British pound was 5-16 of a cent down at 46.84. The French franc was 2.64 cents, off .004 of a cent.

News of the Day.

The extent of European buying of aircraft in this country was emphasized by announcement France had increased its purchases by about 500 planes, bringing to more than 1200 the warcraft ordered in the last eight months by France and England. Washington reports estimated the contracts involved more than $100,000,000.

In addition, followers of the aircraft pointed out U. S. defense proposals called for addition of 3000 more planes to the present forces.

But speculation for the rise was tepid, even in the aircraft, in face of this news at the opening and trading dwindled to about the slow pace of the new year lull. Analysis suggested the inaction might repeat history in proving the prelude to a coming report of success. Most news bearing on individual stocks found the market unresponsive.

Chrysler, however, sagged at the start on what observers took to be partly disappointment over the $1 dividend declared after the market closed yesterday on the common stock, despite a sharp recovery in earnings power in the final quarter of 1938. Some forecasts had suggested $1.50 or $2 might be paid.

Among favorable trade reports was the disclosure Westinghouse's January business had increased to $16,752,000 compared with $15,773,000 in January, 1938, and $12,180,000 in December.

Overnight Developments.

Brokers who look to London for market leadership in the new year still seemed to be waiting for the business and political skies to clear.

At home, the "Iron Age" pointed to another rise in the steel operating rate this week and strengthening scrap prices at Pittsburgh and Chicago as evidence of "gradual improvement" in the industry. The slow rate of the gain, it added, was a disappointment to many who had expected brisk new year business.

Analysts still held out hope for acceleration of improvement as the approach of spring expands operations in motor and general construction industries.

Eastern railroads were reported to have felt a further increase in industrial traffic last week, partly offsetting the loss of freight movement in sections where winter weather had been severe.

'OLD GRUDGE' CAUSED KILLING AT REFINERY

Oil Worker to Be Questioned Further on Shooting of Boyhood Friend.

Prosecuting authorities in Madison County, Illinois, will question Albert Twente, a rigger at the Shell Petroleum Co. refinery at Roxana, again today in an effort to learn why he shot and killed Herman Smothers, a fellow workman and boyhood friend, at the plant shortly before noon yesterday.

Twente surrendered to plant officers after the shooting and was taken to the county jail at Edwardsville. State's Attorney R. W. Griffith quoted him as admitting killing Smothers because of an "old grudge," apparently based on stories which he believed Smothers had told about him to other workmen. He would not discuss the argument in detail, Griffith said. Both men formerly lived on farms near Thebes, Ill., and had been closely associated since boyhood. Smothers, 28, started to work at the refinery in 1937, and Twente lived with him for a time before also obtaining work at the same place.

plant last summer. He is 25 years old. Village Marshal Hugh Pettit of Hartford, adjoining Roxana, who also formerly lived at Thebes and was acquainted with both men, said to reporters that apparently other workmen had been teasing Twente by inventing stories of his life in Thebes and had attributed the stories to Smothers. Smothers had told friends and members of his family that he had taken no part in the yarn-spinning.

Twente is married and resides in Wood River. Smothers, also married and the father of two children, lived in Roxana.

REGAINS JOB AS UNION AGENT

Herbert Friss Installed by Waiters After Debate.

Herbert Friss was installed as secretary and business agent of Waiters' Local 20 at a meeting yesterday after an attempt by some members to question the validity of the bond he posted was voted down. Friss formerly was business agent of the union but was suspended from office in 1937 because of a discrepancy of $440 in his accounts, which he attributed to persons put in charge of collecting dues and fees by a faction opposed to him. He was exonerated after an investigation by the international union. At the time of the row in the union that year, Friss reported he was severely beaten by Sylvester (Babe) Baldwin, since ousted as business agent of the bartenders' union, and before also obtaining work at the same place.

A. F. L. COUNCIL URGES LIFTING OF JOB BARRIERS

In Declaration to Cabinet Members It Asserts Fear of Official Action Should Be Removed.

SAYS 10,380,000 ARE OUT OF WORK

President Green Condemns 'Surprising and Unexpected' Regulations of Federal Agencies.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15.—American Federation of Labor leaders placed before the Roosevelt administration today a new appeal for co-operation with business in solving the unemployment problem.

The Federation's executive council in a three-page declaration written especially for Secretary of Commerce Hopkins and Secretary of Labor Perkins, urged the Government to remove whatever barriers are in the path of business expansion and let private industry absorb the unemployed.

"Fear, a lack of confidence and distrust in governmental, social and economic procedure should be removed," the council said.

"A political and economic state of mind should be created which would enable all financiers and the owners and management of industry to face the future with confidence."

Wants Barriers Removed. "Whatever stands in the way—whatever barriers may have been created, either as a result of fear or as a result of affirmative action on the part of those who administer the affairs of government, ought to be broken down so that our industrial processes may function in a proper way and unemployment may be thus overcome."

The council referred to a record of 10 years of unemployment as "appalling" and said federation reports in December showed 10,380,000 unemployed.

The council's statement declared that Government relief was no permanent solution for unemployment.

Amplifying the council's statement at a press conference, President William Green said: "There has been strong complaint against the excess profits tax for one thing. We believe its repeal would help."

Criticizes Regulation. He assailed what he called "surprising and unexpected" regulations by administrative agencies.

"The rules of the game should be made clear and plain," he added, "so that when business starts an enterprise no new rules will be issued requiring adjustment and change."

"We have been trying for 10 years to find a remedy for unemployment. If these are the barriers that hold back industry, why not break them down and put it squarely up to industry to absorb the unemployed?"

The pronouncement on business conditions follow two and a half weeks of conferences that left the question of peace in the labor movement in the same deadlock it has occupied for more than three years. It appeared that nothing short of White House pressure will bring the CIO and the federation to the conference table.

OIL FOR ONLY 15 MORE YEARS IN SIGHT, ENGINEERS ARE TOLD

Proved Reserves Estimated at 30,000,000,000 Barrels; World Consumption Last Year, 2,000,000,000.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The world's known oil reserves were declared yesterday to be good for only 15 years more, at the present rate of consumption.

V. R. Garfield and R. V. Whetsel of Cities Service Co. told the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers that the world's proved reserves were estimated to contain 30,000,000,000 barrels of oil. World consumption in 1938 was about 2,000,000,000 barrels.

Nearly half the known reserves, 14,000,000,000 barrels, they said, are in the United States which, up to Jan. 1, 1939, had produced a total of 21,184,000,000 barrels of oil since petroleum first was commercialized. World production, up to Jan. 1, totaled 33,283,000,000 barrels.

Russia ranks second to the United States in reported oil reserves with 5,000,000,000 barrels.

U. S. OFFICIALS STUDY REPORT ON MISSOURI SHARECROPPERS

"Voluminous" Statement Concerning Demonstrations Submitted by FBI Agents.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A Department of Justice official said today a "voluminous" report from agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation had been received on the recent roadside demonstration of sharecroppers and farm laborers in Southeastern Missouri.

The report is being studied. The official said he did not know what disposition would be made of it. The Federal agents were sent to the cotton-growing area after representatives of both landowners and the demonstrators had asked for an inquiry. The agents concluded their investigation last Sunday.

MAN HELD UP AS HE PARKS AUTO IN FRONT OF HIS HOME

Thomas Foley Says Armed Pair Took Day's Filling Station Receipts, Exceeding $200.

Thomas Foley, proprietor of a filling station at 3015 Chouteau avenue, reported to police that he was robbed of between $200 and $225 the day's receipts, by two men who held him up when he parked his car in front of his home, 3313 Park avenue, last night.

Foley said the men approached him from behind as he locked his automobile door, thrusting pistols against his back. Warning him not to turn around, they took the money from a hip pocket and walked away, he said.

SALACIOUS LITERATURE DRIVE ANNOUNCED BY POLICE CHIEF

Early Action Indicated in Conjunction With Civic Union, Glasco Says.

Chief of Police John H. Glasco told all commanding officers today to instruct all members of the force that a drive against salacious literature would soon be made by the department in conjunction with the Civic Union and to report all places where such literature could be bought.

According to a plan worked out last week between members of the Civic Union and Prosecuting Attorney James P. Finnegan, members of the union are to aid by purchasing such literature and turning it over to the Police Department as evidence.

Glasco instructed all members of the department to warn sellers of such literature that energetic action would be taken against them if they were caught in the drive.

Nash-Kelvinator Strike Ends.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Feb. 15.—The Nash-Kelvinator Corporation announced last night after evacuation of its plant here by members of the Mechanics' Educational Society of America, an independent union, that operations would be resumed today. Union members had refused to leave the plant when the company suspended work subsequent to a dispute over the presence of a straw boss who, it was said, had failed to pay union dues. Conference with union representatives ended the dispute.

SLOWLY moving toward a finish light is a long-smoldering antagonism between directors and electricians over their duties on the sound stages. It takes 90 minutes to light the average movie set—but a director is expected to consume no more than 10 or 15 minutes to rehearse his cast and shoot the scene.

In recent years, with the stress on photographic detail, the once lowly electrician has blossomed into the artist classification. Even the head cameraman of today spends more time fussing with the lamps than he does with his camera.

LISTED HIGH among the year's first comebacks is Peggy Shannon, flame-haired Arkansas beauty who showed bright promise as a Paramount star several years ago, only to drop suddenly from the running. She's playing heroine to Lee Tracy in RKO's circus story, "What's a Fixer For?" And rushes tab her for watching from now on. . . . "Jesse James" continues in No. 1 spot at the movie box offices, and Twentieth Century-Fox has banked enough now to predict a total gross to exceed those of "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and "In Old Chicago."

Ann Sheridan was explaining that the brother of her great-grandfather was Gen. Phil Sheridan, hero of Sheridan's ride, with the Union army in the Civil War. "Yah, and what does that make you?" asked Jimmy Cagney. "That makes me ride a horse in my next picture," retorted Ann. . . . Aviation and national defense apparently having found a permanent niche on the first pages, Warners are reviving earlier plans to film the life of the Wright brothers. Gary Cooper has long wanted to play Orville Wright and is begging his boss, Sam Goldwyn, to loan him out for the part.

HOPING to leap Jane Withers over those dangerous gangling-age hurdles, Darryl Zanuck has told writers to make her a 15-year-old girl in "Police School." Jane won't be 13 till April, but she'll be expected to dress and act the older part—not only in the movie but in private life. Her mother has agreed to outfit Jane with a completely new and older wardrobe. Jane is still up among the first 10 money-making stars, but the studio is taking no chances on a sudden upset. . . . Bonita Granville, just 16, will celebrate by getting her first screen kiss in "Gantry the Great." A scene in "White Banners" calling for Jackie Cooper to kiss Bonita was written out when Bonita's mother refused to permit such liberty, even for art's sake.

Pat O'Malley, one-time silent star, is specializing in detective roles. Mrs. O'Malley and their daughter, Sheila, are also playing small parts. . . . A man named Victor Ventilation keeps the technicolor hot stage of "The Wizard of Oz" properly air-conditioned. Looks like a permanent job, too, for the picture has just passed its 106th shooting day.

FAIR ENOUGH

By Westbrook Pegler

THIS running debate with Harold Ickes on the freedom of the press is going to be good for the American people and for the country, as well as for the press itself. The faults of the press and the tricks and insincerities of statesmen and politicians, too, and the people, being apprised of wrongs on both sides, through these mutual recriminations, will bear down with the pressure of their will and compel more tidy behavior all around.

The criticism of the press should come from the press itself, but, although we are nicer now than ever before and the best press in the world, if that means anything, self-criticism, except in moderation, never is completely frank. You try hitting yourself on the chin with all your might and you will find that at the instant of the impact, as they say in golf, you will pull the punch. Not even Joe Louis, great hitter that he is, can hit himself hard enough to loosen a tooth or score a knockdown. Hitting someone else is another matter and the press can rip and tear with complete abandon and, also, with complete honesty, in attacking evils outside itself. In his own thoughts a man may express very frank opinions of himself but something in human nature prevents his saying publicly, "I am a bum." And I doubt that the House Dick of the New Deal, in his private thoughts, approves himself as heartily as he does in public. If he does, he is an ego-maniac.

HAROLD CAN'T see it that way, but he is in the same position as the press. It is just not possible for him to belt the New Deal for its faults, or himself for his, as heartily as he belts the press, even though they are apparent to him in his private reflections. Moreover, in the same practices that he condemns the press. For example, he is pleaded guilty to two "over statements" in his debate with Frank Gannett but did not bear down on the fact that he, like the press, has a duty to check his information, particularly when it is delivered in malice as these two "over state-

Get Your Share Of Sun's Rays, Doctor Advises

Declares Humans Need Its Benefits Ever More Than Do Plants.

By Logan Clendening, M.D.

THE winter solstice is behind us and the days of sunshine are returning.

The sun has always been regarded as the giver of life. For the Egyptians it was the supreme god. The Greek legend of Persephone tells of the annual return of that maiden from the lower world of darkness, welcoming back the sun, to charge into renewal the fruits, the flowers and the plants of the earth.

But we humans, just as much as the plants, need the sun and respond to its beneficent rays. Nay, more, according to Michele, the great French historian, who said "Of all flowers, it is the human flower, which has the greatest need of the sun."

Modern science has furnished a reasonable explanation of those ancient beliefs. They are not superstitious, but can be put into exact mathematical statements of facts. When you build a fire in the grate during the winter evenings, you have simply unbottled the solar energy which the coal or the wood, or the gas, or the oil, absorbed and stored many years ago. The movements that we make with our muscles are nothing else; simply the release of solar energy as it was stored up by plants and which we obtained in our food.

The story is told of the inventor, George Stevenson, who was watching one of the locomotives which his genius helped to perfect. "Answer me a question," he said, turning to his companion. "What sort of force is it that drives that train along?" "I should think it was the force of the engine," answered his friend. "No," said Stevenson, "sunlight."

"I assure you it is nothing else," he continued. "It is light that has lain stored in the earth for many thousands of years. The light absorbed by the plant during its growth is essential to the condensation of carbon and this light which has been buried in the coal for so many years, is now unearthed and being freed again, as in this locomotive, and serves great human ends."

This return of the light with all of its powers for renewing energy properly renews our enthusiasm for life. Go out and get as much of it as you can. It is good for your body, good for blood, bones, skin—all the vitalizing processes of life. And in the world outside your own body it is renewing the vital forces of plants and animals, making chemical changes which before long will be utilized by your body for growth and health and strength.

John Cromwell Is Only 24 but Has Had Important Roles in Several Plays

By Marguerite Martyn

THE exact opposite of the all too familiar Horatio Alger, rage to riches, success stories of the theater is that of John Cromwell, who plays Eugene Marchbanks, the young post-lover, to Cornelia Otis Skinner's Candida at the American Theater this week. It is one of the two male leads and a much longer part than that of Miss Skinner herself.

Only 24 years old, Cromwell's already rich theatrical experience might be the envy of a veteran actor, one of those whose highest aspiration is to play Shakespeare and George Bernard Shaw, too.

As recently as 1935 he stepped out of Harvard, a sophomore, into a role in that year's Pulitzer prize winner, Zoe Akins' "Old Maid."

"They were looking for a boy to play Lanny. I happened into Harry Moore's office asking for a job, and Guthrie McClintic picked me for it," explained the young man simply.

Probably he looked the part of callow youth, irresistibly, tall, slender, blond-haired, blue-eyed and a cameo-cut Grecian profile. He is wearing his straight yellow hair unusually long now for the part of the poet.

Something more than looks, however, must have landed him such parts as Rosenkrantz in John Gielgud's "Hamlet," in which also he understudied the star; as Brother Martin in Katharine Cornell's production of Shaw's "Saint Joan," as Paris in her "Romeo and Juliet," in which he understudied Maurice Evans, and the title role of "Bright Rebel," the play about Lord Byron.

In the latter play, though it had only a short run earlier this season, Manhattan critics, while condemning the play, did not fail to acclaim Cromwell's "dashing portrayal" of the poet "a great personal triumph," and for his work in "Saint Joan" he won a citation by Theater Arts Magazine for "one of the finest newcomer performances of the year."

So it must have been discovered quite early and undeniably that he could act. He is so young, as yet so unspoiled, that he hasn't learned to talk about himself. The first such actor in my somewhat extended experience as an interviewer. "He's the most camera-shy one I've ever met up with," amended the photographer as we came away from the appointment in the theater lounge.

"I WISH I could think of some unusual experiences or adventures to tell you about," said Cromwell, nervously lighting a cigarette, twisting in his chair, puckering his brow, really trying to muster some reminiscences. "I've just been going from one engagement to another with only one short vacation in four years. My only explanation of that is that you just get hired if people happen to like you. I thought this first long road tour might develop some adventures, but it's just been one theater after another and one hotel after another, all pretty much alike."

Knowing him to have been the son of the late Seymour Cromwell, president of the New York Stock Exchange, I asked, "Wasn't it at St. Mark's. In school dramatic something of a venture, something societies I found outlet for theatrical risk, giving up opportunities of a financial career for art's sake?" give up nowadays. Possibly you've I still do that. Last summer I was not so much to gain, but neither with the Barter Theater at Abingdon, Va. Played Macbeth opposite Margaret Wycherly there. All that I've had experience, but training, had to work so hard sitting around in an office or hustling for business, but I'm sure I shouldn't have got so much fun out of it as acting. I've always been crazy about the theater since I was a kid going to performances such as "Sunny," the first big success I saw. "Were there then even the usual parental objections of those in your social position to overcome?" "My father died before I had a chance to disappoint him," Cromwell answered. "My mother has two other sons who are brokers, so she seems quite happy to have me follow my own bent."

"Is it true you went straight into a Broadway lead without experience or training?" I asked incredulously. "Oh, I'd had experience as far back as when I was at prep school. The first time I was in a play, Stock Exchange, I asked, 'Wasn't it at St. Mark's. In school dramatic something of a venture, something societies I found outlet for theatrical risk, giving up opportunities of a financial career for art's sake?' ON BROADWAY

By Walter Winchell

The New York Scene
The First Nights: The watchmen turned in a sour alarm on "One for the Money." Most of the observers felt it smacked too much of El Morocco ad libbing to be worth the price. Mr. Lockridge of The Sun regretted it wasn't as urbanely witty as it wanted to be—which also goes for the banter on the zebra lounges. . . . "I Must Love Someone," which is a sort of political record of the Florida Gals, got wallowed across its crinolines ruffles. . . . Mrs. O'Brien Entertains, alias George Abbott's Irish Rose, came in peeped with the usual quota of razzle dazzle performers. The sentinels generally condemned it as comic-strip story telling. . . . "Stars in Your Eyes," a J. P. McEvoy essay embroidered with Arthur Schwartz's lilt, fetched Jimmie Durante and Ethel Merman back to the bazars, which was good deed enough. The show was liked heartily, one of the commentators suggesting that Producer Dwight Wiman "has married another angel."

The Magic Lanterns: "Boy Slaves" is an expose of the truth that being a kid is a stiff way to make a living. Some of it makes you pretty mad with the state of things, but too often the story overalls its horrors. . . . "Talisman" is the usual heart-in-your-mouth teaser about how if airplanes go up high enough they might fall. Alice Faye, Connie Bennett and Nancy Kelly are as pictorial as the flying shots. . . . Chevalier comes to us this time as a furrier, flashing his grin through a little job of charm called "With a Smile," a Frenchy. . . . Some of those nominations for the Academy statuette are so silly that it might be a better plan to award them according to the rules of Bingo. . . . "Ambush" supplies an answer on what to do with yourself some hour, with wit in the patter and La Swarthout for the eyes and the story to lull you to sleep.

The Wireless: Jack Benny is funniest when cross-firing with Rochester, his blackface stooge. . . . The "Fold Tight" would be yanked from the networks if the radio moguls knew the meaning of the lyrics—in Harlequin. . . . The way they introduce that No. 1 song on the hit parade program, you'd think they were about to unveil a monument to some hero! . . . Fanny Brice's consistently amusing Baby Snooks deserves a lollipop.

The Front Pages: Willard Espy took an awful fall out of Papa Mencken and the rest of the Baltimore Sun biggies in The Nation. As good as called them old fogies and their sheet a hasbeen. . . . The biggest fights these days, according to the papers, are between people who have different ideas on how to keep America at peace. . . . Winchell has Bernie and F.D.R. has Congress. . . . We wish the newspapers would quit referring to Jackie Coogan as "The Kid." . . . The guy's almost back to the New York must be a restless, homeless kind of city, ruminates Geoffrey Tebbutt, in The Times mag., "that keeps so many thousands jostling on Broadway." . . . On the contrary, Mr. Tebbutt, take E-way away from them and they'd really be homeless.

The Story Tellers: Gabby Hartnett, the Cubs' catching manager, was labeled "Baseball's Greatest Catcher." In Warren Brown's SEPiece. That's how Detroit hauled Mike Cochrane just before it took his job away from him. . . . Zorina, who has spark-plugged "Married an Angel" for 40 weeks; is captioned "A Sam'l Goldwyn star" in Stage, which should answer to the name of Screen. . . . Mags propagandizing for Sweden, the Philippines, Rebel Spain and other alien lands keep arriving at this desk, but to date none has landed boosting the country that permits others to their wares. . . . "It might be nice," guesses Helen Hayes in Your Life, "to experience that 'expensive feeling' which comes, I am told, from the casual writing of a check for $5000." . . . It's not expensive to write a $5000 check—and most night club owners can show you a drawer of bouncers to prove it. . . . Russell Birdwell, who was the wind for "Gone With the Wind," press agents his own newspaper reminiscences, "I Ring Doorbells," into Click for a bigger flash than he ever landed for Scarlett. . . . The buzzer, warns an anonymous contributor in Everybody's Digest, is dangerous to health, as it prevents executives from getting proper exercise. . . . When your job allows you to ring buzzers, chances are you've worked your way up to the right to rest.

Child Depends Upon Wisdom Of His Parents

Some Mothers Fail to Correct Youngsters for Fear Of Losing Their Love.

By Angelo Patri

CHILDREN love their parents, their mothers in particular, in spite of the trials and tribulations they may endure together. The togetherness is what is important, and it has to be spiritual as well as physical. Mere housing is not true togetherness. There must be something more, the inner relationship that exists naturally between the mother and the children. Where this exists it holds together all strains and stresses of daily living.

Some mothers are afraid to deal wisely with their children because they are afraid the children will not love them if they cross them in any way. Even when they know that the children are getting into lax ways, or habits that will in time handicap them, they hold back, letting, "He wants to," decide the matter.

This is not only a grave mistake of judgment, it is a sin against childhood. Children must depend upon the wisdom and good sense of their parents. They are not born with the knowledge and the understanding of life that enable people to live comfortably and successfully in society. That knowledge has to be gained by long years of service to a standard of behavior, and through the experiences that such service gives them. In their early years they do not know enough to feed themselves, take care of their health, or use their opportunities for learning. All this must be directed by the mothers and fathers.

Children are a bundle of wants. Their wanting is what drives them to learning. If their wants are selected wisely the learning is valuable. If it is undirected and wilful it is wasteful and injurious. Take the list of wants a 5-year-old child expresses in a day. He wants to play with his grannie's spoon, or he doesn't want all experiences that touch him.

He wants to pet a strange dog. He wants a handful of lollypops. He wants the cat's tail, the grocery boy's cart, the policeman's hat, a drink of milk, a pail and shovel, a ride in the car, mother to play with him, grannie's spoon. He does not want his hands washed for lunch. He does not want his egg. He wants to eat with his fingers. He wants to share grannie's coffee. . . . He wants to get up and run about the house and come back to the table for occasional mouthfuls. He wants a nap. He does not want to go to bed for it. Mother must hold him. He wants to see who runs the bell. He wants to know what is in the bundle and wants to open it all by himself although it is the family wash.

This goes on through his waking hours. Somebody must say No or Yes and direct him so that the experiences he has and the knowledge he gets from them tend to keep him growing in intelligent ways of co-operation with people.

Every now and then a child will put up a fight for what he wants if what he wants is good for him or even is harmless without any value, he should have it. One says Yes as often as possible. But if his wants are not good, he is not to have them, regardless of the wear and tear of battle on the family nerves. Mother must hold out.

Perhaps it will help to know that children are grateful in the end of the firmness that stands their waywardness that they love those who stood between them and their mistakes. I have heard children say with great pride and affection, "My mother—my father—would never let me do such a thing." There is no fear of losing a child's affection in this respect. It is the togetherness that counts.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I'm reading the advice you gave "M. E. K." I could not help but feel I could also add a little advice out of my own experience. I am just a young girl whose father started out just as her husband did. As a child I remember my father being continuously drunk, abusing, cursing and embarrassing his family.

And I was ashamed of this father beyond words; but he is old now and on that ground I forgive him. My mother is the sweetest, kindest mother in the world, but many times she would be forced to send me (and it wasn't a nice neighborhood) to call the police at night, and, scared and trembling, I would go to the station. My point is, can a child raised in such conditions respect such a father? I am afraid not.

He will die a drunkard's death; I hope not. I say to "M. E. K.": Your children will have the same past as mine to look back on with a sad heart, if you do not act for them and do something about it.

To fathers I say: Don't live so that your children are ashamed to meet you on the street; be a man! Be sure they can introduce you. "Folks, meet the grandest daddy in the world!" You fathers say, "I have troubles!" We all have, but don't take them to the saloon; take them to God.

A DISRESPECTFUL CHILD.

Dear Mrs. Carr: COULD YOU please tell me if there is a place to take driving lessons in St. Louis? I live in St. Louis. JOE LEWIS.

The Automobile Club of Missouri, 3917 Lindell, can give you information about this.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I'M A MOTHER of a boy and a girl just entering manhood and womanhood. I read an article in the Post-Dispatch under the heading "Our Failure to Keep Pace With Time" that made my blood boil. Too many mothers read this (if I may say so) "bosh," and try to live up to it. My daughter has her girl friends in a lot and I am with them at her home. These little girls, 14 years old, tell jokes to shock a married woman's modesty and my son's pals drop in through the day. It is nothing to hear them make coarse references. Children may be told about these things, but the reply is, invariably, "Mother, you are old-fashioned." I say too many of the mothers are what is called "modern" which, to them, means they must ignore the decency and good breeding. We need help to defend the decency and nice feelings and reserve, about which young people seem to be muddled and confused.

OLD-FASHIONED.

Dear Mrs. Carr: FOR TWO YEARS I have had a pair of pigeons which I took in as a cold day. I fed them and put them in a warm, vacant room and they have never seemed to want to go out. They are devoted to each other and have a large cage now and answer by name. No library book that I have been able to find contains any information about the pigeon, though it is one of the most common birds. My birds would like to nest, but I don't know what they need to build one or how to take care of their young one. I would appreciate any information you can give me.

PIGION.

You will certainly get any information you may need about pigeons at the bird sanctuary in Forest Park, or perhaps at a pet shop, which may be more accessible to you.

Dear Mrs. Carr: PLEASE INFORM me about the Old Age Pension. I am 67 years old, disabled in my right shoulder and am ruptured. Please let me know where I can apply for it.

You can get the information you want at the offices of the Old Age Assistance Board, 154 Municipal Courts Building, or the St. Louis Old Age Assistance Board, 1701 South Jefferson avenue.

Looking Back -- By Elsie Robinson

I'm always amazed at these people who say they "do it all over again" if they could relive their lives. What complacent egotism! Or are they simply incapable of feeling? In either case, they seem to me as a five-legged calf, or Nina, the Headless Wonder. Even so, they're far less harmful than the folk who spend their time looking back... perpetually regretting.

It's an easy habit for some folk to acquire. I know, for it's my own worst temptation. I cannot recall one hour of my personal existence which I'd "do over again" if I had the chance. My whole existence has been marred by my own selfishness and stupidity. And I have, on several occasions, made irreparable mistakes which I'll regret until I die.

Nor can I console myself with the popular alibi, "I did the best I knew how." I know doggone well I didn't! There was never a time when I couldn't have tried a little harder... been a little more patient, honest, brave and kind. Many people, having blundered, defend themselves by saying that they "didn't do one-tenth the things of which they stand accused." That's also true in my case. But there's little comfort in the thought when I realize that the score is more than balanced by cussedness they know not of!

In short, you and I are probably in the same boat, partner. We've both messed things up plenty. We know it and we've regretted it miserably. But no amount of remorse or well-wishing can offset the fact or put the pieces together again. There's the record and there it must remain. And there's only one thing we can do about it. And that's forget it! Stop looking back! Put it all behind us--and go on!

Gold-miners, knowing the fatal allure and tragic futility of following a worthless prospect through barren soil, have adopted the following slogan: "Don't throw good money after bad!" That phrase serves equally well for the miserable mortal who insists on grubbing in the ashes of his mispent past. Don't throw good emotions after bad! Don't add the waste of today to the wreckage of yesterday! What dumb clucks we humans are! We spend endless time and energy grieving over some ancient error, the fact or put the pieces together again. There's the record and there it must remain. And there's only one thing we can do about it. And that's forget it! Stop looking back! Put it all behind us--and go on!

Pretenders to Royal Crowns

Louis Ferdinand, Kaiser's Grandson, Would Probably Reign if Germany Restored Monarchy—Prince Don Juan "Heir" to Spanish Throne.

By Seymour Berkson

This is the fifteenth of a series of articles from the book, "Their Majesties," by Seymour Berkson.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN. IT IS increasingly difficult to reconcile the existence of kings and queens with the machine age. And yet the remaining monarchs of the world appear not only to be holding their own against the tide of isms, but their number seems likely in the not too distant future to be increased by several members.

Many of us may live to see the day when another king reigns over Germany. There are strongly entrenched monarchist sentiments in the bosom of the German nation capable of sweeping the country back into the fold of royalty once the Nazi cycle has run its course. The German army is honeycombed with staunch monarchists. So are the ranks of the conservative German middle-class.

Hitler is not likely to crown himself Emperor, although there was a mild flurry of speculation after the conquest of Austria when he had the regalia of the deposed Hapsburgs moved from a Vienna museum to a place conveniently close to the regalia left behind by the Hohenzollerns. There would be little Der Fuehrer could gain by adding royal trappings to the power already concentrated in his hands. He has no heirs to whom he could bequeath the Crown if he took it.

The German monarchists consider the Kaiser's favorite grandson, Prince Louis Ferdinand, as the legitimate heir to the throne. Louis Ferdinand is the second son of former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, who renounced all his rights of succession after the World War and now lives the life of a private citizen in Berlin. The former Crown Prince's eldest son, Prince Wilhelm, lost his rights by marrying a commoner. This is the rule of the Hohenzollern family rigidly enforced by the ex-Kaiser whose word is still law so far as the dynasty is concerned.

Prince Louis Ferdinand himself missed the penalty of his grandfather's abdication. He was the first visit to the United States in 1929. Louis Ferdinand was 21 then and eager for adventure. He got a job in the Los Angeles branch of the Ford Motor Co. His grandfather heartily approved. But he fell in love with Hollywood and one of its glamor girls, Lili Damita, of whom his grandfather just as heartily disapproved. During those days, the Prince called himself plain Dr. Louis Ferdinand (he had a university degree as Doctor of Philosophy), wife working by the Ford plant in greasy overalls, ate his lunch out of a paper sack like the other workmen, and became so proficient in American slang that when someone asked him how he liked his job he replied, "I just got my foot in the door. When his day's work was done, Louis Ferdinand found diversion in the Hollywood movie colony where he became a popular figure. He met Lili Damita. It was a case of love at first sight and the young Prince fell in love with her. "I'm simply crazy about her. I'm going to marry her."

Nor faraway Doorn, the reports of his grandson's Hollywood romance reached the former Emperor. Wilhelm was furious. He quickly put a stop to the rumors by reminding Louis Ferdinand that the Hohenzollern family statute, to which all members of the royal family subscribe, requires approval beforehand by the head of the dynasty for any contemplated engagement or marriage.

Louis Ferdinand was soon called back to Europe and his romance with Lili Damita faded out according to the best Hollywood tradition. The young Prince was called on the carpet at Doorn and given a sound lecture by his grandfather. The ex-Kaiser would not entrust this task of discipline to Louis Ferdinand's own father, because former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm was hardly one to set his son any shining example when it came to romance. The former Crown Prince, once the foremost philanderer in Berlin, still fancied himself a great ladies' man. During the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin, he became so fascinated by the photos he saw in the papers of the American swimming star, Eleanor Holm Jarrett, that he contrived to invite her to his apartment for lunch, showered her with flowers, and proclaimed her "the loveliest girl I have met."

One time when he was visiting Budapest, a coffee-house waitress asked him for an autographed photo which she gave her. She sold it to a collector for $10. The next day, she came up to the former Crown Prince as soon as he entered the coffee shop, told him a tale of having lost the photo, and asked him to autograph another. He complied so readily that the girl brooded and confessed she had really sold the original. "Good," he said, "wear his field marshal's uniform deep into the family coffers and and at the banquet were more than helped to finance the Franco cause. 50 members of European royalty. In the hope that his reward would be not far off. On their honeymoon, Louis Ferdinand brought his bride to New York. Just before his visit, the 16, 1918, the deposed Czar of Russia, Nicholas II, and his imperial family in the United States who is household were awakened in their friendly terms with Spain. Of House, wrote President Roosevelt in a letter in which he advised him at once to the cellar. There were of the prince's forthcoming visit 11 prisoners in all—the Czar, the Czar's personal physician, a footman, chambermaid and a chef. His guest at a week-end party in the President's country home near Hyde Park, New York.

Much more immediate than the political prospects of Louis Ferdinand are those of Don Juan, pretender to the throne of Spain. Of the surviving sons, Don Juan is the only healthy, robust one. Twenty-five years old, he is extremely popular in that part of Spain which has come under the sway of Generalissimo Francisco Franco. This is especially so since his unsuccessful attempt to enlist in Franco's armies as a soldier.

When a civil war broke out on July 17, 1936, the young pretender was at Cannes, France, with his wife, Princess Marie Mercedes of Bourbon, who was about to give birth to her first baby. Immediately after the child was born, on July 30, and he was assured that all was well with mother and daughter. Don Juan left for the front to join Franco's forces. With his cousin, Don Joseph of Bourbon, the pretender drove his roadster into Spain at breakneck speed. He got as far as Aranda on the Plains of Castille, when a patrol of troops of the officer in charge months. Many of the Grand Dukes saluted Don Juan respectfully but firmly. "Your Royal Highness, I have orders from Gen. Franco to ask you to return to France immediately." Franco himself had issued the order that the pretender of terror. Among these were the was not to be allowed to risk his first cousin, Grand Duke of Hesse-Darmstadt, and told Don Juan that his life was too important to the future of Spain to be jeopardized in action.

EVER since it became apparent that neither of his two older brothers, the Count of Covadonga and Don Jaime, would be physically capable of taking over the arduous duties of the Spanish throne, Alfonso XIII has concentrated most of his attention on training Don Juan for the job. Alfonso knows that his own popularity cannot be resurrected, that among other things his marriage to Queen Ena and the frequent rumors of an impending dissolution of their marriage have offended the Catholic sensibilities of his former subjects. But he is pinning his hopes on Don Juan.

The youthful Prince takes his position as pretender very seriously. When his father designated him as "heir to the throne," he left the lieutenantcy he had achieved in the British navy and went to the University of Florence to study law and political science. His marriage in Rome to his cousin, Princess Marie Mercedes, on Oct. 25, 1935, was attended by a large delegation of monarchists from Spain who treated the pretender as if he were already King. That was before the Spanish civil war broke out. When it did, Don Juan's father dug down deep into the family coffers and Psychic Bidding Has One Virtue Rarely Noticed It Often Encourages Opponents to Go Beyond Their Depth.

By Ely Culbertson

PSYCHIC bidding has one virtue which is rarely discussed or even perceived in most circles. It encourages the opponents to go beyond their depth. This, I realize, is a somewhat paradoxical statement, but it is nevertheless true. "When the opponents 'spot' a psychic bid, they often form the unalterable opinion that the player is trying to keep them out of a slam. Hence, with the perversity of human nature and of bridge players in particular, they may doggedly keep bidding simply because they 'will not be talked out of anything.'"

It probably is true that the psychic bidder has tried to scare them off, but his partner may turn up with just enough strength to defeat their overbid contract. Or sometimes the psychic bidder himself has one card for which the opponents will not give him credit, but which will be the deciding factor in the play. That was the case in the following hand, played in a team-of-four match between England and France. The result, although tragic to the losing team, had its amusing side.

East dealer. North-South vulnerable. ♠A873 ♣K2 ♢J ♣QJ1052 ♠None ♣9874 ♢1075432 ♣K64

The bidding: East Pass South 1 club West 1 spade North Double Pass Pass 2 diamonds 4 clubs 5 diamonds 5 spades Pass Pass 7 diamond 8 no trumps Double Pass Pass

The result of this remarkable bidding sequence was, of course, that South was down one due to the failure of the club finesse. At seven diamonds, East-West probably would have gone down 900 points. Since, at the other table, the South player was permitted to play the hand at six clubs, the swing was terrific.

As I have said, it is probable that West's psychic bidding (one spade followed by one no trump) accounted for the optimism of the North-South team. Apparently, South got the fixed idea that West did not believe that if there were a finesse in the hand it could be taken successfully through East. Hence he contemptuously rejected East's sacrifice offer of seven diamonds, to go out for a vulnerable grand slam of his own.

It is one thing to explain the probable cause of an event and another to justify it. I feel sure that South would not have gone to a grand slam if the opponents had stayed out of the auction. In that case the bidding probably would have proceeded as follows: East Pass South 1 club West 1 spade North Pass Pass 2 no trump Pass 1 spade Pass 4 clubs Pass 5 spades Pass 6 clubs Pass Pass

It is true that a contract of six spades might have been reached, and that it would have been defeated because of the horrible spade break; but this would have been a much better result than had bidding. It is all very well to be guided by the opponent's bidding—to be encouraged or discouraged according to the situation. It is very wrong, however, and very costly, to form fixed notions about anything at bridge, and the most dangerous thing of all is to assume that, because an opponent "psychs," he will not be able to take a trick.
